CONGRESS ACTS TO AVERT NATIONWIDE RAILROAD STRIKE

THE SENATE AND HOUSE has approved legislation that would bar a threatened nationwide railroad strike, allowing enough time to give both branches an opportunity to seek a solution to a prolonged contract dispute. Senate and House committees earlier Wednesday approved legislation that would bar the threatened strike for 37 days. Congress had been expected to wisk the measure through to passage well before the midnight EST deadline for a strike of four shocrift unions against 128 major railroads. The House leadership had set up procedures to avoid parliamentary delays and guarantee quick action on whatever solution its Commerce Committee recommended. Left in limbo, at least for the time being, was President Nixon's proposal to have Congress impose a contract settlement that rail management and unions had accepted Dec. 4, but which was later turned down by one of the four unions, the Sheet Metal Workers International Association. First the House Commerce Committee approved unanimously a 37-day freeze on union plans to strike the railroads. Then, the Senate Labor Committee rejected the Nixon proposal, 8 to 6, and concurred in the House proposal. Both measures would extend existing contract terms until April 11. The House made it a 37-day no-strike order after objections that a 30-day period originally proposed would end during Congress' Easter recess. The shocrift unions' chief negotiator, William P. Winpisinger, called the committees' action a "catastrophe." He said he was not sure the sheet metal workers would honor a strike delay of 37 days, not to mention his own machinists' union. He said none of the four unions would agree voluntarily to a delay in a nationwide strike.

S.C. OFFICIALS PLAN ARRESTS FOR MOB ATTACK ON BUSES

SOUTH CAROLINA authorities disclosed Wednesday that they have pictures of the white mob that attacked school buses bringing Negro students to formerly all-white Lamar High School, and said arrests would be made. "The South Carolina attorney general's office is in the process of preparing charges," said Wayne Seal, Gov. Robert E. McNair's news secretary. "The warrants will be . . . based on the evidence which they have on hand—which is ample," Seal said. State Law enforcement Division agents took pictures of the mob at the height of the violence, it was learned, and reportedly worked through the night identifying those involved.

AILING LYNDON JOHNSON ALSO SUFFERING FROM COLD

LYNDON B. JOHNSON, hospitalized with a painful heart ailment, Wednesday suffered from the effects of a common cold. His symptoms included a runny nose, stuffy head and an aching chest. The former President still suffered the pains near his heart that sent him to Brooke General Hospital in San Antonio, Texas, three days ago. But, Johnson's chief heart specialist said he had "every reason to be encouraged" about the condition of the 36th U.S. President. Johnson suffered a severe heart attack 15 years ago.

U.S. TO REQUIRE WARNING ON BIRTH CONTROL PACKAGES

THE FOOD AND DRUG Administration said Wednesday it will soon require drug manufacturers to place a government written warning of possible health hazards in every package on birth control pills. Sen. Gaylord Nelson, D-Wis., hailed the "courageous" and "historic" decision as vindication of his Senate small business subcommittee's controversial hearings on the pill. He said 8.5 million women who take the pill will be able to learn of the risks from the required pamphlet. He said two-thirds of the nation's doctors fail to mention these hazards when prescribing oral contraceptives. Dr. Charles C. Edwards, FDA commissioner, told a hearing before Nelson's subcommittee that the leaflet will be required, perhaps within two months.

VOLPE'S SCRAPPING OF HIGHWAY BRINGS ANGER IN N.H.

THE RECENT DECISION by Transportation Secretary John A. Volpe to scrap the planned interstate highway through Franconia Notch has touched off an angry clamor in New Hampshire that was heard Wednesday all the way to Washington. A resolution chastising Volpe and calling for the immediate rescinding of his action was adopted by Gov. Walter Peterson and the Executive Council. The resolution was forwarded to Volpe and all members of the New Hampshire Congressional delegation. Volpe announced Monday that his department had "indefinitely postponed" construction of a section of Interstate 93 running through the Franconia Notch.

COMMUNISTS ATTACKING IN NEW AREA OF SOUTHERN LAOS

NORTH VIETNAMESE units are filtering from the Ho Chi Minh trail and attacking government positions in southern Laos near the borders with Cambodia and Thailand, Laotian military sources reported Wednesday. The area of the latest communist activity is about 400 miles southeast of the Plain of Jars in northern Laos that North Vietnamese troops and Pathet Lao guerrillas seized last month. A high-ranking Laotian military source said the attacks which began three days ago were "of very great concern." They are being carried out by North Vietnamese units moving down the Ho Chi Minh infiltration trail through eastern Laos into South Vietnam, the sources said.

U.S. AIR TROOPS REPULSE COMMUNISTS NEAR CAMBODIA

U.S. AIR CAVALRY troops repulsed a dawn assault by Communist troops firing rocket-propelled grenades near the Cambodia border Wednesday and killed at least 18 attackers without suffering a casualty, a U.S. military spokesman reported in Saigon. Northeast of Saigon, Communist ground fire shot down an American helicopter, wounding four crewmen. It was the 64th U.S. helicopter lost so far this year, a figure 60 per cent greater than the 40 helicopters reported shot down during the first 63 days of 1969.

FRENCH SUBMARINE LOST IN MEDITERRANEAN SEA

THE FRENCH deep sea submarine, Eurydice, with 57 men aboard, sank in the Mediterranean Sea Wednesday after a mysterious explosion while it was making an 1,800-foot training dive. The French navy declared the ship and its crew lost, the second disappearance of a French submarine in the area in the past 26 months. Naval officials said seismographs in France had received an unexplained explosion shortly after the Eurydice began its dive about 66 miles southeast of the port city of Marseilles in about 5,000 feet of water. Search vessels reported sighting an oil slick and debris that included what appeared to be bedding from the submarine.

Reception For Associate Justice

Rites In N.Y. For Nun, 1st College Head

Sister Eleanor S. Kenny, a religious of the Sacred Heart, foundress and first president of Newton College of the Sacred Heart, died on February 28 after several months' illness at the Convent of the Sacred Heart in Albany, New York. She was 83.

At her funeral in Albany, Rev. Seavey Joyce, President of Boston College, said the Mass and preached.

Sister Kenny was born in Baltimore, made her final profession in the Society of the Sacred Heart in 1919, and served in the Eastern Province of the Society as teacher and headmistress and local Superior in several houses. She earned her Master's and doctoral degrees from Fordham University before being sent to govern the Sacred Heart Academy at Newton in the 1940's.

In swearing in the new Justice, Governor Sargent referred to Larkin's background as a distinguished legal educator and said that he would bring a great deal to the Newton Court post.

In his response, Judge

Larkin thanked the Governor for affording him the opportunity for judicial service

"in an era when judicial service has so much potential for good or evil."

1st Democrat In History

Cohen Elected By Aldermen As V.P.

By SHIRLEY GOLDWYN

With the support of a lone Republican, the Democratic member of the Newton Board of Aldermen on Monday night flexed their newly acquired political muscles and succeeded in electing Alderman Eliot K. Cohen as the first Democratic Vice-President in the Board's history by a narrow 12 to 10 vote.

He defeated Alderman Edward D. Uehlein for the post.

Cohen was elected on the third ballot to succeed Franklin N. Flaschner who resigned recently as an alderman to become Judge of the Newton District Court.

Cohen was nominated just prior to the third ballot by

HUD Hearing Sought Here On Eviction

The attorney for John E. Young, 2313 Washington St., Newton Lower Falls, has requested the federal government to conduct a hearing on his client's objections to eviction for urban renewal.

Atty. Richard D. Clarey, in a letter to S. William Green, regional administrator of the Department of Housing & Urban Development, claims there is no finding that "the objectives of the project could not be achieved through rehabilitation."

Atty. Clarey requests the hearing under the Administrative Procedures Act and

Chief Asks Public To Defer Opinions

Two suspended Newton police officers are awaiting their case was continued until April 24, at the Newton court last Saturday morning, and entering in the nighttime March 16, and they were freed with intent to commit larceny on over $100 bail.

Police Chief William F. Quinn who arrested the two officers, made a plea to the people of Newton that they not be pre-judged prior to their trial.

He said the two officers, both members of the Newton police force for 15 years, have been arrested, arraigned and charged but that they have not been found guilty.

They pleaded innocent to the charges in Newton district

Church Bells And Chimes To Herald World Day Of Prayer

Church Women United in Newton will join millions of people tomorrow, March 6, in a World Day of Prayer in 25,000 communities on six continents, with prayers offered in 75 languages and 1,000 dialects.

By proclamation, Mayor Monte G. Basbas of Newton, has called upon the people of Newton to observe this World Day of Prayer by attending services at 10:00 A.M. at the Lutheran Church, Newton Centre, and at 8:00 P.M. at Myrtle Baptist Church, West Newton.

And by pausing for a minute at high noon to listen to the voice of God, to look at the world in which we live, to listen to the voice of love, to the voice of faith, to the voice of hope and to find new paths.

Churches having bells or chimes are urged to sound them at 12:00 o'clock noon to call all people to join in a single, symbolic voice of prayer on an international, inter-denominational, and inter-racial basis.

The speaker at the morning service will be Mrs. Margaret Bailey Tims of

POLITICAL HIGHLIGHTS

By JAMES G. COLBERT

Experts Differ On Effect Of House Action On Sarge

A young Democratic law-maker voices the opinion that the election of Francis W. Sargent to a four-year term as Governor next November was virtually guaranteed when the State Legislature blocked the move to reduce the size of the House of Representatives.

That conviction was expressed by Representative John R. Buckley of Abington, whose father, the late State Auditor Dr. Buckley, was a well known figure in Massachusetts politics a generation ago.

He could be right, but there is a sharp difference of opinion among qualified students of politics as to whether Governor Sargent was helped or hurt politically when a joint session of the two legislative chambers killed a petition to place a proposed constitutional amendment for slashing the size of the House from 240 to 160 members on next November's election ballot.

Some seasoned political observers believe Mr. Sargent would have been virtually assured of election if the question had gone on the ballot, enabling

Basbas May Seek Seat In Congress

Mayor Monte G. Basbas is seriously considering the possibility of running for Congress this year, he disclosed at a press conference on Tuesday.

The Newton Mayor became interested in the coming congressional race, he said, after became apparent that the bruising battle shaping up between veteran Congressman Philip J. Philbin and Father Robert F. Drinan, S.J., former dean of the Boston College Law School, might set the stage for the election of a Republican to Congress.

even though he has had to cope with enormous financial problems, would be a favorite to win the Republican nomination if he decides to seek it.

Wohelo Medallion

Camp Fire Girl Is High Award Winner

A talented 17-year-old The medallion was presented to Susan MacDonald, daughter of Dr. and Mrs. George E. MacDonald of 196 Windsor Rd., Waban.

Susan, a senior at Newton High School, is the first recipient of the medallion in several years, according to the Council for Greater Boston Camp Fire Girls.

The presentation was made by Dr. Hester Turner, National Executive Director of Camp Fire Girls, Inc., at the council's annual meeting at the Science Museum on Thursday, Feb. 26.

The Wohelo Medallion is a special award that takes two full years to complete.

To achieve it a Horizon Club girl (the senior category in Camp Fire) must plan and carry out projects that lead to a deeper understanding of herself and others, growth in the skills of relating to other people, practice of leadership,

Ecumenical Mood At Institute

To Summer School

Deborah Stone of 391 Highland St., Newtonville, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Alvan Stone and Elizabeth Berns, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Robert Berns of 21 Overlook Park, Newton Centre, will be members of the student body of Sandhurst Summer School at Naples, Me., for the 1970 session.

Basbas Calls Meeting Of Mayors For Tax Problems

Newton Mayor Monte Basbas, who is President of the Massachusetts Mayors Association, has called a special meeting of the state's Mayors on tomorrow afternoon (Friday) to discuss what action city officials should take in seeking state tax relief.

The meeting will be held in Newton City Hall at 1:30 p.m. The situation is "deplorable" when cities find that instead of getting aid from the state they owe the state money, the Mayor declared.

Basbas was referring to the recent release of "cherry sheet" figures announcing how much money the local communities would receive from the state this year.

Though Newton will receive more than $2 million this year but about $1.4 million less than it received in 1969, the county assessments and other charges, such as those for the MDC and the MBTA mean that the city actually will owe the state $654,000.

Cambridge finds that it must pay about $1.5 million to the state, Basbas said.

The sad part is, Basbas explained, that when we view this situation and look at the school budget and note its impact on the tax rate, we automatically cut back on other city services.

For this reason, the Mayor said, he was glad to see that the Board of Aldermen on Monday night indicated the same point of view and appropriated $30,000 requested by Basbas for purchase of two new street sweepers.

Diabetes Club Meets Mar. 11:

The Newton Area Diabetes Club will meet Wednesday, March 11, at 7:30 p.m. in the DeVebre Auditorium of the Waltham Hospital.

The speaker at 8 p.m. will be Mrs. Margaret Moulton, R.N. Her subject will be "The Role of the Public Health Nurse in the Treatment and Follow-Up Care of Diabetes."

Mrs. Moulton is the Home Care Coordinator of the Waltham Visiting Nurse Association to the Waltham Hospital. She is a graduate of the Newton-Wellesley Hospital School of Nursing. She has also studied Public Health Nursing at Simmons College. The business session will be held at 7:30 p.m.

After the talk and question period there will be a social hour.

Orthodontists Open In Newton Highlands Spot

Dr. Harvey Peck and Dr. Sheldon Peck have recently opened an office for the practice of orthodontics at 1180 Beacon Street in Newton Highlands.

The Drs. Peck are both Phi Beta Kappa graduates of the University of North Carolina at Chapel Hill. They completed their orthodontic training at the Boston University School of Graduate Dentistry.

Dr. Harvey Peck was associated in private practice with Dr. Herbert I. Margolis until 1968. At that time he and his brother, Dr. Sheldon Peck, assumed Dr. Margolis' practice.

Both doctors hold faculty appointments at the Boston University School of Graduate Dentistry. They also are on the staffs of Beth Israel Hospital and University Hospital.

When a newsman commented on the vigilance of Chief Quinn and other members of the Newton police force in investigating a complaint concerning two fellow officers, Quinn remarked that he and every member of the force are sworn to do their duty.

"If we suspect a policeman of a crime, it is our serious obligation to the rest of our men and to the public to do our duty," he asserted.

"If we didn't, our image would be downgraded and the families of dedicated police officers would suffer."

The chief commented that "it is very, very difficult for a chief to arrest men he knows and who wear the badges of police officers."

Both officers turned in their badges and their guns when they were arrested.

They are accused of taking articles worth $3700 out of the pro shop.

Two On Dean's List

Two Newton students, Ricardo Barros, of 1318 Walnut street, and Jeffrey B. Gainsborg, of 278 Country Club road, have been named to the dean's list for academic excellence at Valley Forge Military Academy, Wayne, Pa.

Long Hair Ruling

It would be difficult to find a better expert on the law than Federal District Court Judge Charles E. Wyzanski, Jr. So it must be assumed that he was at least technically correct when he ruled that a 17-year-old boy had a right to wear long hair to Marlboro High School and that his principal could not force him to cut it.

However, there is little doubt that Judge Wyzanski's ruling, however correct it may have been in a strictly legal sense, has lessened the authority of school officials and injured discipline in schools across Massachusetts.

The Massachusetts Secondary School Principals' Association have appealed Judge Wyzanski's decision to the U.S. Court of Appeals. They say the ruling has encouraged students to defy authority.

Common sense in this instance should prevail if any means can be found of overturning Judge Wyzanski's decision. Principals should be allowed to run their schools not only to the extent of deciding how long a boy's hair may be but also what dress a pupil may wear to class.

The school principals need all the help they can be given by everyone, including the courts.

17-Year-Old Leaders?

Among the high schoolers in New York an organization has been formed with the avowed purpose of having a voice in the operation of the city's schools. While the organization indicates it is willing to share some of the responsibilities of the management of these public school with the principals and the Board of Education as well as with parents, it leaves no doubt it intends to bring strong pressure for a number of reforms.

In other words, the youngsters believe they should have a decisive voice in running the schools.

Head of the sprawling organization is a high schooler, who certainly proved a point by getting himself elected in the first place for his group claims it has a membership of around 250,000.

The youth is 17.

That used to be a pretty tender age for an activist entering one of the high professions, and certainly education today is one of the most important of all the professions. The youngster and those associated with him at the top speak vaguely of obtaining "meaningful rights and powers" for the students from matters of curriculum to those concerning dress.

Of course, none of them has yet earned a high school diploma.

As might well be expected, most professional educators reject the whole idea out of hand. They see in its adoption a "carte blanche" for political activities on the left to further visit disruption on the American system of education. The fact they even give it a second thought is indicative of their concern.

When Hitler imposed Naziism on Germany and Stalin and his cohorts took over the government of Russia, they established from the start far-reaching plans to seize the minds as well as the bodies of their youth. Both succeeded, Hitler to the extent that children spied upon and brought punishment to parents unwilling to go along with all that Hitler espoused.

It would be naive to believe that the New York group is something apart from the extreme leftist organizations who well realize that Hitler and Stalin recognized it was paramount to their ends that their nation's youth be made captive.

General Practitioners

It can be justifiably boasted by the medical world that the advances it has made in the cause of man's physical and mental well-being during the 20th Century have been many and extremely important.

Some have been truly dramatic, as for instance, the discovery by Jonas E. Salk, of an effective weapon against the scourge of polio. Medicine continues its research. Some day, no doubt, it will give to the world a cure for cancer and at least a preventative for heart diseases.

Yet, the great progress has not been without some sacrifice.

An older generation recalls with fondness and continuing gratitude to and for the old general practitioner — the family doctor, who seemed part and parcel of any well-ordered community. He was the man who was on call at all hours of day and night, in good weather and bad.

He and his little black bag represented the best in the communities he served. He delivered the babies. He took care of Johnny when Johnny fell and broke his arm. He was part philosopher who brought consolation when tragedy struck. He was friends and advisor when things went wrong.

In the last decades he has been disappearing. In his place came the specialist — the gifted surgeon, the brilliant diagnostician.

The medical schools generally contributed by raising their output of specialists and reducing either by design or circumstance the number of general practitioners.

That is why it is reassuring to hear of the examinations which were conducted last weekend by which the medical profession itself recognized the need for more general practitioners.

To qualify some 2000 of them, examinations were given in 36 centers in 23 states and in the District of Columbia and Puerto Rico.

Out of this initial step will come the diplomas of the American Board of Family Medicine.

ing him to campaign for its passage as well as his own election as Governor and placing him in conflict with the Legislature.

There is little doubt that the proposal for cutting the size of the House would have been approved if the question had been put to the voters and that Mr. Sargent would have been on the popular side of the issue.

Governor Sargent can and undoubtedly will blast the State Legislature for refusing to place the House cut issue on the ballot so the people could vote on it. A politician always is on safe and solid ground when he attacks an adversary for not letting the voters decide on an issue.

The Governor, of course, would be obliged to level his criticism at Republicans as well as Democrats since quite a few GOP law-makers stood with Speaker David Bartley on the issue of not cutting the House. Mr. Sargent probably would not hesitate to do so. He feels strongly on the matter.

He plans to campaign for a constitutional convention, which would be held next year. But the odds are that he cannot get one, and there is much less likelihood that a convention would cut the size of the House than there is that the voters would do so if given the opportunity.

A substantial number of legislators and other politically minded men and women probably would be delegates to a constitutional convention. The number of college presidents and eminent professors of government would be in the minority.

A widespread but mistaken impression exists that a big saving of money would result if the House of Representatives were cut from 240 to 160 members.

The fact is that the plan advanced by the League of Women Voters would have given the people less representation at a higher cost.

The League proposed under its plan that each House member be assigned a secretary and research assistant. The salary of those aides would amount to more than the pay of 80 Representatives.

Speaker Bartley was the leader in the fight to scuttle the suggested constitutional amendment aimed at reducing the House membership. He organized the opposition. He stood up to the pressure, and he offered the arguments against the House cut.

In the final analysis, however, the factor which mitigated most strongly against this move was the rule of political self-preservation. A good many law-makers voted against the constitutional change because their seats might have been wiped out by a reduction in the House membership.

A large number of thoughtful people, including priests and clergymen of various faiths, opposed the proposed amendment in the State Constitution because it would have reduced the representation for the people who need it most—the poor and the under-privileged.

Laws Sought on Beacon Hill To Punish Student Hoodlums

Dr. John W. Lederle, president of the University of Massachusetts in Amherst, was a little tardy in advancing his suggestion that feasible methods should be sought for maintaining order at public gatherings on the institution's campus.

It would seem that action should have been taken to prevent the disgraceful scenes which occurred when former Vice President Hubert H. Humphrey was jeered and heckled out of the University of Massachusetts auditorium and prevented from delivering a foreign policy speech.

An estimated 4500 students who wanted to hear Humphrey were prevented from doing so by a relatively small number of student punks and hoodlums who trampled all over the rights of the majority.

Ronald J. LaBrecque, student co-ordinator for Humphrey's visit to Amherst, declared that many of the hecklers were not students but went there from Boston and New York to disrupt the meeting.

Well, why weren't they removed from the auditorium and arrested? Is the University of Massachusetts so poorly organized that it cannot police its own auditorium where a public meeting is being held and the speaker is an invited guest of a college organization?

And why weren't those disruptive hecklers who were students ejected from the hall and expelled from college? If a student went berserk and started shooting people in the auditorium, would he be allowed to continue to do it in the interest of freedom of expression?

Of course, not! But the truth is that college authorities at UMass and practically everywhere else don't know quite what to do when rampant students disrupt a meeting or even the entire operation of an institution of higher learning.

The simple solution of throwing a disruptive student out of a building and out of college apparently doesn't occur immediately to most educators.

Those students who put on the disgraceful performance, which was climaxed when Hubert Humphrey walked out, did more than prevent the former Veep from making a speech to a big audience.

They probably assured the passage of a bill by the State Legislature which will increase the amount of tuition which must be paid by students at UMass and other state-supported universities.

That tuition charge now is $200 a year which is only a small fraction of the cost of educating a student for a year. The balance is paid in taxes which come out of the pockets of the people of Massachusetts.

Those people who pay the bills have a right to expect that their money will not be wasted because of the disruptive actions of a small number of ill-mannered student hoodlums.

At Harvard College, incidentally, the tuition is $2650 a year and will be increased to $2700 next year.

The mood among most law-makers on Beacon Hill is to tolerate little nonsense from students whose education at the college level is being subsidized by the Commonwealth.

Substantial support has been indicated for a bill which would crack down on students guilty of disorders and violence at state-supported universities.

The bill, filed jointly by Representatives Michael Paul Feeney of Hyde Park and William M. Bulger of South Boston, provides that a student must be suspended from college if he is found guilty in court of any action intended to interfere with the normal activities and procedures of an instructional institution of the rank of college or university receiving state aid.

Under the provisions of the measure, the suspension would be for not less than one year if the penalty imposed by the court was less than 10 days in jail, not less than three years if the penalty is between 10 and 30 days in jail and not less than five years if the student is sent to jail for more than 30 days.

FREEDOM OF SPEECH!

Cohen -

result the balloting was performed through an open, voice vote.

This issue, as all the others associated with the matter, were voted strictly on a partisan basis with the Republican members of the Board favoring a secret ballot and the Democrats a voice vote.

On the first two ballots Uehlein received the votes of the 11 Republican members present. The 12th Republican member of the Board, Ernest Dietz, was absent. McDonnell received five votes on the first ballot and Small six. On the second ballot these two reversed positions.

After the nomination of Cohen by Lipof just prior to the third ballot, McDonnell and Small withdrew their names from the contest. When the balloting was completed, giving Cohen the 12 to 10 victory over Uehlein as a result of Lipof's switch in position, the Board gave its unanimous approval to Cohen.

The new Vice-President is serving his second term on the Board of Aldermen.

With the current line-up of 12 Republican members and 11 Democrats, the replacement of Flaschner as a member of the Board becomes of increasing political significance.

Election of a Democrat would create equal representation of both parties. Obviously by the same token, election of a Republican would slightly widen the present narrow gap.

The method of Flaschner's replacement has yet to be determined. Aldermen McDonnell and Alan Barkin submitted a resolution on Monday night calling for an advisory election in Ward 5 to be conducted by a committee of the whole of the Board of Aldermen.

A charter objection to the matter, probably because of the lateness of the hour, postponed until the next meeting, two weeks from now, action on the resolution.

Since the city charter calls for replacements by election of the Board of Aldermen, a special popular election by the people in ward would serve as a guide to the aldermen in the election, it is assumed.

Councillor Thomas I. Atkins could not be counted out in a free-for-all scramble in which the votes were split several ways.

John McCormack now spends most of his time in Washington. The young people in his district know him only by reputation. But at the height of his career he was a great Congressman who provided outstanding service for his district and its people.

In his prime he was a power on Capitol Hill who sat at the side of Presidents and helped them steer the United States through a perilous crises. His nation and his district owe John McCormack a lot.

If he is preparing to retire from office, a truly great man is about to pass from the public scene.

Democrat Ted Pays Tribute To Republican Gov. Sargent

Democratic Senator Edward M. Kennedy paid an unusually warm tribute to Republican Governor Francis W. Sargent as the latter was about to testify before the Senate Commerce Committee in Washington last week.

Ted declared that Sargent has been "extremely forward looking on the problems of not only Massachusetts but all New England as well."

He went on to say that the Bay State Governor has been "extremely courageous" in his approach to the development of his programs in the field of transportation.

Ted Kennedy also asserted that Governor Sargent had shown "great understanding and sensitivity" toward the problem of transportation.

Governor Sargent obviously was surprised at the extent of Senator Kennedy's praise.

He thanked Ted for his remarks and added: "Some of the leaders of your party in Massachusetts have not been saying such kind things about me recently."

The guessing is that Ted's remarks about Francis Sargent will be quoted and reprinted in next fall's campaign. They constituted quite a tribute by the state's top Democratic leader to the state's top Republican leader.

Rep. Shea Explains Vote Against House Reduction

Representative H. James Shea, Jr., of West Newton issued a detailed statement to office indicate that I had to impossible for those less than 240 to 160 members. His statement said: "My somewhat unconventional and unorthodox approach to politics makes it important to me that I make clear to the public the basis of my vote to keep 240 members for the Massachusetts House of Representatives.

"My reading of the State

Constitution and understanding of my oath of office indicate that I had to impossible for those less than 240 to 160 members. The Graphic yesterday examined this issue on the affluent and minority group explaining in detail why last merits and not 'rubber' members to serve in elective office. Let me cite my own case. The cost of my 1968 campaign was $7600. I was fortunate to have $4500 contributed. In other words I personally spent $3100 to be elected. Our direction should be to facilitate, rather than discourage, any citizen regardless of economic status to run for elective public office.

"On the merits I favor a house with single member districts with one representative for each 22,000 rather than 33,000 citizens. Incidentally, this ratio is based upon the 1965 census, but would have taken effect in the years to follow 1974. A simple projection of population growth indicates that with a 160 member house the constituency ratio would soon approach 50,000.

"I believe that single member districts, which in the past I have supported by my vote, will much better serve visibility than will a 'sleight of hand' reduction to 160 members. Indeed, at times the 40 member state Senate seems less visible than the 240 member House.

"If I have stood for anything in public office, either on the Newton Board of Aldermen or in the legislature, I have stood for the oppressed and underprivileged - for greater participation by all in government. By conviction and by conscience, I cannot be party to making the lower branch of the legislature a government of the elite and more remote from the people.

"Last summer when I began to have misgivings about my position, I met with the leadership of the Newton League of Women Voters to explain my reservations.

"During my 14 months as a state representative I have been a full-time legislator (with no other source of income) and one of the few members never to have missed a roll call vote.

"While it is true that I took a position in favor of reduction during my campaign for office, I believe it also true that those who hold elective office must reassess their positions in view of new information and experience. For a long and continuous period I did reassess on the basis of additional information, experience and reflection.

"I stated on the floor of the Massachusetts House of Representatives.

"Now perhaps requiring a vote of 70 members of the legislature for approval of Initiative Proposals for constitutional amendments is unwise, but it is interesting to note that not a single proponent of this measure, not a single member of the media now watching or listening to us, has suggested abandoning it. As long as legislative approval is required, I can come to no other conclusion than that the standard on which an individual legislator or must base his vote, to uphold the Constitution, must be his individual conscience judging on the merits of the proposal. This is my standard. I yield to no man in my desire for a participatory, open-ended government. But that is precisely the reason I am voting to retain a 240 member House so that those who seek to represent others without a voice can come to sit in these seats and speak for them, so that a new generation with so many, so much, spirit and purpose, can come to sit in these seats in the next 10 to 15 years."

"In conclusion, I say for all to hear, I would rather serve her for two years with my conscience than for a lifetime without exercising it when I am called upon to do so. If I am, by chance, defeated because of this one issue, so be it."

"On all issues I have tried to exercise my best judgment without regard to political consequence. Instances of this approach include my sponsoring of legislation dealing with controversial divorce reform, House Bill 2396 - a bill calling into question the constitutionality of the Viet Nam War, school bus safety and anti-air pollution legislation. Other instances include my votes on frequent controversial issues such as favoring liberalized birth control and opposing repressive history in college.

Miss Jane Lillis Becomes Mrs. Douglas L. Anderson

The marriage of Miss Jane P. Lillis to Douglas L. Anderson took place recently at Our Lady Help of Christians Church.

The bride is the daughter of Mrs. James P. Lillis of Newton. Mr. and Mrs. LeRoy Anderson of Waltham are the groom's parents.

The Rev. LeRoy Owens was celebrant at the 11 o'clock double ring ceremony. A family reception followed at the Newton home of the bride's brother-in-law and sister, Mr. and Mrs. Julius Breslouf.

Jane is a direct descendant of the founder of Raymond, N.H., the late Isaac Tucker. Her father was a well known football player at Boston College.

Mr. Anderson is a graduate of Waltham High School and Northeastern University. A member of the Marine Reserve, he is in data processing.

Church Women Sponsor Lenten Lecture Today

The Women's Association of The Union Church in Waban have arranged for a Lenten lecture to be given on this Thursday morning, March 5th at 10 o'clock. The guest speaker will be Rev. H. Sidney Maxwell who will discuss "Healing Our Worst Hurt."

Mr. Maxwell is a graduate of Boston University and the Protestant chaplain at the Newton-Wellesley Hospital.

Also, the Men's Club will sponsor a dinner meeting on Thursday, March 12th, beginning with a social hour at 6 p.m. in the Reception Room.

The dinner will be served at 6:30 p.m. Rev. George A. Pera, Pastor of the First Presbyterian Church of Greenwich, Connecticut, will be the guest speaker.

His topic: "The Importance of Place" is based upon his studies under the famous Swiss physician and psychiatrist, Dr. Paul Tournier.

Mr. and Mrs. George Hyde of 833 Commonwealth Avenue, Newton Centre, announce the engagement and approaching marriage of their daughter to the son of Mr. and Mrs. Hyman Kertzman of 806 West Roxbury Parkway, Chestnut Hill.

MRS. ROBERT JAMES KIMBELL

Miss Linda Susan Prosser Bride Of Robert J. Kimbell

The Islington Community Church was the setting for the recent afternoon wedding of Miss Linda Susan Prosser, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Albert Prosser of 353 East street, Westwood, to Mr. Robert James Kimbell, son of Mr. and Mrs. George Kimbell of 47 Dean street, Westwood.

Rev. John Samuelson officiated at the double ring ceremony, which was followed by a reception in Veterans of Foreign Wars Hall, Dedham.

Given in marriage by her father, the bride wore a traditional style gown fashioned of Chantilly lace with a cathedral length train. The bodice was trimmed with seed pearls to match those on her sequin-trimmed crown, which held in place a three-tiered bouffant veil of illusion. She carried an old fashioned bouquet of Eucharis lilies.

Miss Anne Vagnani of Westwood was the maid of honor and bridesmaids were Miss Mary Makepeace of Tewksbury and Miss Terry Kilian of Wrentham.

Mrs. James Killion, sister of the bride, was in charge of the guest book.

Serving as best man was Mr. George McAuley of Roslindale, and sharing usher duties were Mr. Albert Prosser and Mrs. James Killion, sister of the bride.

Upon returning from a wedding trip through the Eastern states from Massachusetts to North Carolina, the couple will reside in Jacksonville, N.C.

The bride and groom were both graduated from Westwood High School. Miss Prosser was employed by Lincoln Laboratory, a division of Massachusetts Institute of Technology, prior to her marriage. Mr. Kimbell was serving with the United States Marine Corps at Camp LeJeune, N.C. (Photo by Sharon's).

Does a "nervous" condition affect the hair?

Yes. Tension, nervousness and anxiety robs the hair of natural beauty.

Do hair strands contain nerves?

No, but a network of nerves surround the openings from which the hair grows. When you are tense, these nerves contract and cut off the supply of blood nourishing the hair roots.

During some periods of tension, the glands which give your hair a glossy sheen become over-active.

Muscles near the hair roots contract involuntarily when you experience stress. All of the above spell disaster for your hair.

Remedies for "worried hair" consist of brushing, massaging and lots of sleep.

See our staff of professionals. We will give your hair the attention it deserves.

Schneier Leads South Varsity Point Scorers

By LEWIS FREEDMAN

Captain Ron Schneier divided his diversified talents among 4 events and accumulated a team-leading 27 1/4 points for the Newton South tracksters this season.

Schneier was the squad's leading 1000-yarder clocking a 2:33. He was a back-up high-jumper with a best leap of 5'7 and occasionally competed in the 600. In addition, the long-legged senior anchored the relay team.

Junior distance man Chuck Pottey was one of the Lion's most dependable performers, winning four of his seven races and taking two seconds and a third. Pottey established a new school indoor 2-mile mark of 10:41.8 and also ran the fastest mile for South this season in 4:52.8. Pottey totaled 27 points.

Another junior, John Seeler, was third in the point tabulation with 26 1/4. Seeler was briefly a 600-yarder with a fastest time of 1:21.3. He also ran the 300 with a best effort of 37.2 and sprinted a leg on the relay team.

Four other performers tallied over 20 points - Roger Cooper, 24, Dave Peters, 22 1/4, Elliot Weisman, 21 1/2, and Dick Dickinson, 21 1/4.

Three seniors who will be sorely missed scored in the teens. High jumper R. Kates, whose top effort of 5-10 1/2 earned him a fourth place medal in the Class B championships, collected 16 points.

Our Lady's And Sacred Heart Bow Out of Tourney

Our Lady's and Sacred playmaker Steve Farina Heart both terminated their recorded eight. For the seasons last Tuesday by winners Steve Conforth had bowing in the first round of the Tech Tourney, Our Lady's had 21, Tim Dorr scored 18 and the Tech Tourney, Our Lady's lost their second straight by a scant three points to Barnstable in Class C action.

Sacred Heart stall tactics backfired and they too were barely edged by Bellingham in Class D activity.

An outstanding effort by Our Lady's center Bob Connolly was not enough to overcome Barnstable which now sports a 20-3 record going into second round play.

Connolly netted 26 points and picked off 25 rebounds in what has to be one of the best performances of his career.

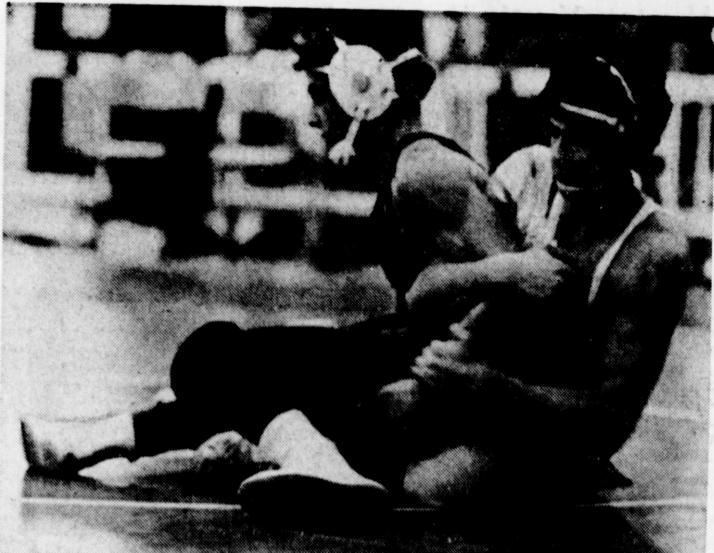

The game played at Plymouth Carver Regional High School was close all the way with neither team being able to open any substantial lead.

The Catholic Suburban League champs led 19 to 17 at the period and the teams were tied at 39 at the half.

Barnstable opened a five point bulge at the three quarter mark and attempted last minute dramatics by Connolly failed as the Lancers fell to their second consecutive loss.

Last Sunday they lost to St. Patrick's in overtime in the Catholic Tourney final.

Besides Connolly's contribution Tom Guisti scored thirteen markers, Tom Dorsey had fifteen and McDaniels both missed foul

Mat Record For South High Is 12 Wins Against 1 Loss

By LEWIS FREEDMAN

Newton South High's most successful winter sport wrestling, continued its winning tradition this year, compiling its best regular season mark ever of 12-1.

The Lions went on to grab second-place in the Eastern Sectionals and 11th place in the State in post-season action.

Tri-Captain Fred Virilio dominated the 148-pound class wracking up 19 straight victories before losing in the state finals, 8-2. At the time he had a 30-meet victory skein. Virilio easily captured his second straight sectional crown earlier.

Newton Gymnasts Head For Team Trophy Finale

The Newton High Gymnasts being Suburban League kings for the 100 mark for the second consecutive meet by whipping Maine State Champion South Portland by a 101.90 to 97.70 margin last week at Newton High.

Last Saturday three Newton Gymnasts made it to the finals of the State Individuals but were unable to place in the top five medalist positions.

Paul Gorfine on the long horse vault, Irwin Heckler on the side horse and Mike DiBenedetti on the parallel bars, all made it to the top ten.

Sal Scuderi of Springfield Technical won the All Around Award while Richard Sekulunas finished 25th in the 148-pound division.

Virilio was Newton South's highest finisher in second with Framingham North, Andover, Lexington, Springfield Tech and Wakefield will compete for the Team Trophy.

In the South Portland meet Bruce French was the top performer for Newton winning the rings and the horizontal bar. Mike DiBenedetti went through all six events and compiled 29.20 points.

Paul Gorfine and Bob Clancy added firsts on the long horse vault and the floor exercise. The win left Newton's final dual meet record at 8-3. In addition to shots and Sacred Heart was still very much in contention.

After fooling with the ball for 30 seconds Newton's Jack McCarthy put the ball up from the top of the key and missed. The ball bounced out and the alert McCarthy, following his shot got the ball and layed it up. It went around the rim and in, and out. For Sacred Heart it ended an otherwise successful season.

Bob McDaniels with 15 and Larry Minis with 13 led the winners while Mike Cummings topped all scorers with 16. Paul Sullivan and Jack McCarthy had 13 and 10 respectively for Sacred Heart.

Graphic Selects Suburban League High All Star Basketball Teams

By JEFF GROSSMAN

The Newton High Basketball Team finished the 1969-70 campaign with a 10-8 record overall and a 9-7 Suburban League slate which placed them fourth in the nine team league.

Cambridge Latin and Brookline made the Tech Tourney from the Suburban loop with 16-0 and 14-2 records respectively. Brockton barely missed a return visit to the Tourney at 12-4.

Waltham and Weymouth tied for fifth with 6-10 showings while Arlington at 5-11, Rindge with 4-12 and Newton South at the bottom with their 0-16 mark, round out the standings.

South athletic teams will drop from Class A to a D next year and their basketball teams as most of their other teams will compete in the Dual County League.

For Cambridge Latin, currently one of the favorites in the Tourney, it was an undefeated season, in and out of the league. Besides beating every Suburban League member soundly (Waltham the first time around and Newton twice gave Cambridge Latin something to think about but couldn't upset the Cantabs) they didn't lose outside the loop.

Two notable wins were notched versus Somerville, Greater Boston League C champion. Heading Somerville, considered a factor in the Tech, is Super star Billy Endicott who hit 31 points in Somerville's first round win over Haverhill last week.

Most prominent for Cambridge is center Gene Walcott and guard Kevin Clark. Walcott, a 6'6" center is quite capable of dominating a game and he might well be the key if Latin is to upset top seed Catholic Memorial. Against Newton Walcott scored 31 in their first meeting.

Memorial as most know have won 53 straight and don't seem to be ready to lose either. Soph star King Gaskins and All Scholastic Bill Raynor lead the CM attack.

Brookline, seeded eleventh, should be a power in the future. Four of their five starters will return next year with super star Mike Hankins, Hankins, only a sophomore, broke the Brookline single season scoring record averaging just over 23 points a game and he has two more years to work on that mark.

For Newton it was a gratifying season in some respects and disappointing in others. The 10-8 performance was great improvement over last year's 4-14 team and one of Newton's better showings in recent years.

Coach Jerry Phillips commented however that, "If a few tight ball games had gone the other way it could have been a completely different season."

The outstanding Newton performer this year was Len Gentile, who was put into a starting role by Coach Phillips with no varsity experience.

FORWARD: Mark Flynn, Waltham: The 6'3" senior started well but finished rather slowly in the last six games. Still, he averaged 21 points a game and was responsible for any excitement Hawk basketball fans enjoyed this year. Flynn flipped in 35 points in a fantastic performance against Cambridge Latin early in the season.

CENTER: Gene Walcott, Cambridge Latin: The hub of the team, Walcott cleaned the boards and averaged close to 20 points for the League Champs. He is certainly most responsible for Cambridge's unblemished record.

GUARD: Kevin Clark, Cambridge Latin: Clark averaged approximately 15 points a game but much more often he handled the ball and quartered the high scoring Latin attack. One coach called him "such a good dribbler that he does things easily most kids have to show off to do."

SECOND TEAM

FORWARD: Len Gentile, Newton: Gentile's strong ending was almost good enough to catch Flynn for first team forward but not quite. Gentile, Newton's MVP, averaged 17 points during the season and was a top rebounder for first year Coach Jerry Phillips.

FORWARD: Dennis Edwards, Rindge Tech: Playing for a poor Rindge Tech squad (4-12) Edwards was the lone consistent performer. He averaged 15.3 points per tilt and keyed all four Technician wins.

CENTER: Chris Lee, Brookline: "Lee is the epitome of the 'solid player.' He shoots alright, rebounds alright and plays okay defense and wins. Against taller opposition he did well this year." - Don Slaven.

FIRST TEAM

FORWARD: Mike Hankins, Brookline: Hankins, only a sophomore, broke the Brookline season scoring record this year with almost 450 points in regular season action. He is called by Coach Don Slaven "the most complete player we've ever had since I've been here-a fine athlete." He has already had scholarship offers from six schools notably Davidson and St. John's.

GUARD: Don Harrington, Weymouth: A big reason for Weymouth's fall from basketball prominence was offensive inconsistency. Harrington scored 14 a game, many from long range.

All-Star Team . . .

Newton Hockey Team Finishes In 3rd Place Tie In Suburban

By JEFF GROSSMAN

Newton South High battled to a scoreless tie with Acton-Boxboro, last week, to close out its Dual County hockey season in sixth place tie with Lincoln-Sudbury.

The Lions finished 3-8-3, the first time in four years they have not compiled a winning mark. The three wins came over Westwood, Weston and Lincoln-Sudbury.

Fay, senior co-captain along with Goalie Steve Condon and defenseman Steve Dunn, was named to the All Star Team.

Junior netminder Paul Modern capped off his superb year with his third shut-out in the season's finale against Acton.

Neither squad mounted an exceptionally potent offense, but on the rare occasions when a difficult save was necessary both goaltenders were able to cope with it.

The Lions played a good, tough-checking game, but couldn't put the puck in the net.

Modern was named to the Dual County League all-star team as second-year goalie. Assistant Captain junior Clem Virgilio received honorable mention from his defense post.

Fay commenced the scoring at 39 seconds of the first period with a backhand shot from the left side which goalie Ned Yetten was unable to cope with. Senior Paul Mahoney received an assist.

Yetten must have gotten the sympathy vote as he was named first string All Star goalie and allowed the third most goals in the nine team loop. Of course he had a team in front of him which averaged less than one goal per game and a defense which was equally demoralizing for him, which explains his selection.

One Suburban League player commented that it "took a lot of guts for Yetten to show up for the Arlington game knowing that he'd probably feel like London during the blitzkrieg."

Yetten handled over 40 shots in that contest.

Fay scored again with Mahoney getting the assist on a scramble in front of the Waltham cage. Mahoney started the sequence with a shot and Fay faced the puck by Yetten on the rebound at 8:09 of the initial period.

Exactly one minute later Baird Brightman, of West Newton, a member of the Haverford College varsity swimming team this year.

Baird, a freshman, is the son of Mr. and Mrs. Julian Brightman of 70 Oldham rd., and is a graduate of the Noble and Greenough School in Dedham.

Newton scored first in the second period before Waltham scored twice. Fay collected his third tally and was assisted by his brother Jim and Mahoney, who played his Newton.

Third Team: goal - William Lyons, Cambridge Latin, defense - Stephen Dunn, Brookline; forwards - Mike Reagan, Cambridge Latin; Jay Shaughnessy, Arlington; Cadigan, Hingham. Most Valuable Players - Jim McMahon, Brookline, Mark Noonan, Arlington.

Newtonite Is On Committee For Protestant Men's Event

Max Randall Brauninger of West Newton, has been elected to the Executive Committee of the 20th annual Greater Boston Protestant Men's Breakfast Committee.

Mr. Brauninger is a graduate of Missouri Junior College and the University of Kansas with a BSEE degree, class of 1932.

He is married to the former Wilma Groesbeck of Kansas City. The couple has four children, Gerald, Richard, Linda and Douglas.

His hobbies are music, the church choir and photography.

Services of Holy Communion will be held in six Copley square churches at 7 a.m., after which there will be a parade to the music of three bands to the hotel. The date has been set for Sunday, May 3.

Brauninger is a widely known Baptist layman, formerly President of the Boston Baptist Social Union, and a member of the First Baptist Church of Newton Centre for more than 25 years. He has served the church in many capacities as Clerk, Deacon and President of the Men's Fellowship.

He is also widely known in the field of electrical engineering and has been associated with the New England Power Service Company for more than a quarter of a century. He was earlier identified with the Southwestern Bell Telephone Company, and the Raytheon Manufacturing Company.

In Newton, he is currently a member of the Newtonville Republican City Committee.

Newton is currently a member of the Newtonville Entertainment Committee.

Group Dynamics Session To Be Held On March 11

Mrs. Robert Kraft, campaign chairman of the Young Women's Division of the Combined Jewish Philanthropies, announces that a Group Dynamics Session will be held on Wednesday, March 11, at 8 p.m. at the home of Mrs. Richard J. Rubin, 39 Dolphin Road, Newton Centre.

The meeting is in preparation for the group's annual fund raising campaign and telethon. Mrs. Renee Trussman, who is affiliated with the Human Relations Center of Boston University, will act as leader.

All persons interested in working on any aspect of the campaign are cordially invited to attend. For further information, please call Mrs. Robert Kraft of Newton 969-5365, or Mrs. Ronald Kaplan of Brookline, 731-0345.

All Men's Night At Carr School

Fathers, grandfathers, uncles, and Carr School children will attend 'Fun 'n' Food Night.' But mothers will not be allowed at the festivities Wednesday evening (March 11th) from 6:00 p.m.

This is the third annual P.T.A. Father's Night to take place at the Newtonville elementary school.

Mrs. Ann Keon R.N. is head of a special six-week course for Nursing Home personnel now being held at the Elliot Manor Nursing Home on Mechanic St., Newton Upper Falls. Four trainees are enrolled in this course.

The new training program for Nurses Aides and other Nursing Home personnel has been authorized by the U.S. Department of Labor to help alleviate the extreme shortage of personnel in Nursing Homes and Extended Care Facilities in the Bay State.

Rep. Ohanian Cites Record As Candidate for Congress

Representative Charles Ohanian, who recently announced his candidacy for the Democratic nomination for Congress in the Philbin district which includes Newton, issued a statement yesterday outlining his record and background.

Born in Watertown, he attended school there, graduating from Watertown High School, attended Newman Preparatory School and the University of Connecticut. An outstanding athlete during school years, he continued sports during his tenure with the U.S. Army where he attained a high security position in the Pentagon in Washington D.C.

A successful businessman, he became president of his own company at the age of 24 and sought other meaningful goals. He accepted a position with the Division of Youth Service as instructor and director of physical education and began his efforts to effect changes in the treatment of juvenile offenders.

He became, at the age of 27, one of the youngest men ever to have been elected to the Massachusetts Legislature where he has served the past six years.

Representative Ohanian's accomplishments as a legislator include an impressive record of innovative law making in the areas of Public Health, Constitutional Reform, Consumer Protection, Mental Health Reorganization, Youth Service Reorganization, Aid to the Aged and Education.

In announcing his candidacy for the Congressional seat, he spoke about some of the major issues that face the nation: Vietnam, taxation, environmental pollution, crime, inflation, welfare reform and fiscal responsibility.

He plans with the help of news media and the distribution of his literature to reach all of the people in the Third Congressional District's 31 cities and towns with a more complete statement on the issues during the campaign.

He did elaborate on two of the issues: Ohanian said that he is concerned with the burdensome tax rate. He does not believe that the American people are receiving a fair return on their tax dollars.

"There is no doubt," says Ohanian, "that we have the economic and organizational capacity to resolve our internal problems, but we must eliminate the existing lackluster public programs and replace them with programs that will reach the people."

The candidate says, "unless we apply our tax money positively with the people, we will increase the incidents for disruptive and violent dissent. We must create a flow of money throughout our society to offset the high taxes and high interest rates which are major factors in curbing our economic vitality."

Ohanian was even more definite in discussing the Vietnam war. He is deeply disturbed by the schism which it has created among the American people.

The shouting matches, demonstrations and counter-demonstrations, plus the episodes of violence that have resulted from this split among Americans is, he says, "shaking our nation to its foundations and threatening our ability to act as a coherent group in regard to facing the many crises which we must resolve together."

He feels it is meaningless to continue to debate the wisdom of past decisions: escalation, de-escalation, bombing or bombing halts are no longer the issues of moment. We must concern ourselves with the fact that we are in Holy Cross College and Georgetown University Law Center.

Father-Daughter Event

The senior girls at F. Mano Junior College in Auburndale have prepared a full schedule of activities this weekend for an anticipated 300 fathers who will attend the traditional Father-Daughter weekend.

CHARLES OHANIAN

Ohanian feels that an immediate total withdrawal from Vietnam is out of the question. The blood bath that took place in China when the Nationalist troops withdrew from the mainland might be repeated in Vietnam, a possibility that would be unconscionable to the American people.

American servicemen, through their sacrifice, have provided the Vietnamese the time to fashion their own destiny. Any further expenditure of American lives is unnecessary, according to Ohanian.

It is in regard to this point that Ohanian is not in agreement with Nixon's plan. Although he believes that the President is making every effort to end the war, Ohanian feels that the President has not been definite enough about the removal of U.S. troops from combat. Nixon's vagueness, according to Ohanian, is unfair to the American people regarding troop withdrawal in Vietnam.

The candidate was emphatic in stating that our involvement should be limited to the use of training experts and in no other capacity, since all of our fighting men should be out of Vietnam.

Net Under Ice For Safety Seen Formidable Problem

John B. Penney, Newton water Commissioner, characterized the idea as "believe that safety standards for ice skating in the community are already adequate. It may be that to comply with such a requirement would not be practicable and therefore these areas enjoyed by thousands of public skating for generations would be off publicly owned bodies of limits," he wrote in a communication to Mayor Monte G. Basbas.

Penney stated that current standards include frequent testing of the ice thickness and posting of signs. The department also has personnel on duty "at these areas to regulate skating when it is safe and to keep people off when it is unsafe."

In addition, he declared, that: "We have no knowledge of any tragedies ever occurring at these areas under our jurisdiction. Since the Metropolitan District Commission controls the land bordering Hammond Pond (Chestnut Hill), we do not maintain patrols on this body of water, nor do we attempt to patrol the miles of Charles River frontage."

Hammond Pond was the scene this winter of an ice skating death due to thin surface. It was this event that motivated Harrington, Ward 2 Alderman-at-large, to make his proposal before the Board of Aldermen.

In his communication to Mayor Basbas, Penney said that Harrington's suggestion that the department daily test the thickness of the ice on all ice skating areas may not be in the public interest since the testing requires chopping holes in the ice, which may weaken it.

"Ice thickness can vary," Penney claimed. "For instance, at this writing, we have a variation in the thickness of the ice at Crystal Lake from 11 inches down to half an inch."

A.C.T. Group Finds National Response

Action for Children's shows; and to stop selling by Television, (A.C.T.) based in Newton Centre, Mass., is working for quality TV for children.

"We began the organization because of our concern over the excessive violence on TV," said Mrs. Lillian Ambrosino, Executive Committee member, "but monitoring led us to realize that the violence was only a symptom of the deeper problem. Broadcasters considered children to be only a mass market, aged 2 to 15, and treated them as miniature consumers."

"But they are not consumers," added Mrs. Peggy Charren, founder member. "The parents buy the toys and cereals, and advertisers should not get at parents through the children, who are being exploited by the medium on their own programs."

A.C.T. now has nearly 1,000 members and supporters in 38 states across the country. In its present F.C.C. campaign, it has the support of executives of the National Association of Young Children, the National Committee for Children and Youth, the National Education Association, the National Citizens Committee for Broadcasting, plus many pediatricians, psychiatrists, nurses, teachers, educators, lawyers and parents.

Comments from the public and the broadcasters are welcomed up to the March 11 deadline, after which the F.C.C. will determine whether to proceed any further.

The Guidelines have three major aims: to encourage varied programming for children of different ages; to eliminate commercialism and sponsorship from children's

Net Under Ice For Safety Seen Formidable Problem

John B. Penney, Newton water Commissioner Penney believes that safety standards for ice skating in the community are already adequate.

Replies to a suggestion by Alderman Peter F. Harrington that a net be placed one foot beneath the surface of all publicly owned bodies of water, he wrote in a communication to Mayor Monte G. Basbas.

Penney stated that current standards include frequent testing of the ice thickness and posting of signs. The department also has personnel on duty "at these areas to regulate skating when it is safe and to keep people off when it is unsafe."

In addition, he declared, that: "We have no knowledge of any tragedies ever occurring at these areas under our jurisdiction. Since the Metropolitan District Commission controls the land bordering Hammond Pond (Chestnut Hill), we do not maintain patrols on this body of water, nor do we attempt to patrol the miles of Charles River frontage."

Hammond Pond was the scene this winter of an ice skating death due to thin surface. It was this event that motivated Harrington, Ward 2 Alderman-at-large, to make his proposal before the Board of Aldermen.

In his communication to Mayor Basbas, Penney said that Harrington's suggestion that the department daily test the thickness of the ice on all ice skating areas may not be in the public interest since the testing requires chopping holes in the ice, which may weaken it.

"Ice thickness can vary", Penney claimed. "For instance, at this writing, we have a variation in the thickness of the ice at Crystal Lake from 11 inches down to half an inch."

Art Students Subjects Of Library Photo Exhibition

An aggregate of artists, all week, appear in a series of students participating in the pictures taken by student Murray Road School second photographer Martha Swartz, semester art concentration on view from March 5-19 at the Newton Free Library, 414 Centre Street, Newton Corner.

Appointed Notary

Robert L. Henderson of 40 Singletree Road, Chestnut Hill, has been appointed a Notary Public by Governor Francis Sargent. The term of office is for seven years.

Photographer Martha Swartz, a Murray Road student who chose independent study in photography as her special concentration subject, caught the art class with a Minolta SRT 101, using Tri-X film and available light.

Concentration weeks have now concluded, and regular courses are in progress at the experimental high school, an annex of Newton High.

Areas explored during the intensive study were humanistic communication, astrology, computers, new towns, drama, spontaneous expression, photography, experimental schools, and art.

FIRST CHECK — Mrs. C. Charles Marran, Waban, right, luncheon chairman, presents first check to Mrs. Robert I. Diamond, of Boston, treasurer, for the Ladies State Committee Kiddie Kamp 31st Annual Fund-Raising Luncheon to be held Saturday, May 9th at the Statler Hilton Hotel. Luncheon proceeds will be used to send over 800 boys to camp for free two-weeks vacation, regardless of color, race or creed.

A.C.T. Group Finds National Response

Action for Children's Television, (A.C.T.) based in Newton Centre, Mass., is working for quality TV for children.

"We began the organization because of our concern over the excessive violence on TV," said Mrs. Lillian Ambrosino, Executive Committee member, "but monitoring led us to realize that the violence was only a symptom of the deeper problem. Broadcasters considered children to be only a mass market, aged 2 to 15, and treated them as miniature consumers."

Mothers on an Indian reservation in Arizona, in elegant mansions on Long Island, in the suburbs of Providence, R.I., and Dallas, Texas, from inner-city homes in Boston, Mass., and Detroit, Mich., are writing letters for this common cause.

Following a meeting with A.C.T.'s Executive Committee on February 5, the F.C.C. issued a Public Notice, RM 1569, based on the Guidelines that A.C.T. had drafted.

Comments from the public and the broadcasters are welcomed up to the March 11 deadline, after which the F.C.C. will determine whether to proceed any further.

The Guidelines have three major aims: to encourage varied programming for children of different ages; to eliminate commercialism and sponsorship from children's shows; and to stop selling by hosts on TV programs.

"But they are not consumers", added Mrs. Peggy Charren, founder member.

"The parents buy the toys and cereals, and advertisers should not get at parents through the children, who are being exploited by the medium on their own programs."

A.C.T. now has nearly 1,000 members and supporters in 18 states across the country. In its present F.C.C. campaign, it has the support of executives of the National Association for the Education of Young Children, the National Committee for Children and Youth, the National Education Association, the National Citizens Committee for Broadcasting, plus many pediatricians, psychiatrists, nurses, teachers, educators, lawyers and parents.

Jackson Home To Start History Classes Mar. 10

The 1970 Spring History Classes at the Jackson Homestead - Newton's city-owned museum - at 527 Washington St. are now being organized.

Classes on Colonial America, for children of the third and fourth grades, start Tuesday afternoon, March 10, and Thursday afternoon, March 12. They continue for six consecutive weeks.

The classes are given under the direction of Mrs. Benjamin F. Shattuck who is chairman of the Homestead's Board of Trustees.

Nearly one hundred children coming from thirteen of Newton's public and parochial schools annually take advantage of these unusual courses in which the students actively participate. They learn first hand, by doing, about life in the early Colonial days, making candles, churning butter and finding out about the Newton community of early days.

This season's classes carry forward the Homestead's educational program conducted with the cooperation of the community's schools.

Those interested in enrollment should call Mrs. William H. Cannard, Director-Curator of the Jackson Homestead at 332-3920.

There is no charge for these popular classes.

Registrations Open For YMCA Overnight Camp Day

The Newton YMCA announces that registrations are now being accepted for its overnight camp, Camp Frank A. Day, which is located in the town of Brookfield adjacent to historic Sturbridge, Massachusetts.

The camp's fifty acres of scenic woodland and rolling meadows are located on the shores of spring-fed Lake Quacumquassett. At this area, a complete aquatic program is carried out which includes swim instruction, waterskiing, canoeing, sailing, and fishing. Other programs include athletics, crafts, archery, sleepouts and many other enjoyable activities.

Sturdy wood frame cabins, and large tents erected over platforms provide the sleeping quarters for the campers. Camp meals, prepared by a qualified chef, are varied, nourishing, wholesome and abundant.

This season will make Camp Day's fifty-fifth season and

S. Mary's Episcopal Church, Newton Lower Falls. Mrs. Timis was formerly a director of religious education and was the first president of Church Women United in Wellesley. The program will be given by Mary Ann Boorn, soloist.

In the evening the speaker will be Mrs. Elizabeth H. Boardman of Acton, a long time member of the Executive Committee of the American Friends Service Committee and Chairman of the Peace Education Committee.

The music will be furnished by the Myrtle Baptist Church Gospel Singers, under the direction of Mr. Sam Turner.

The theme of both the speakers will be "Take Courage."

This theme was chosen and made relevant by the International Committee headed by Miss Gudrun Diestel of Germany. The program was developed as a housewife from Egypt, a social worker from Guyana, a church worker from the Philippines, and a woman from the U.S.A. discovered a common bond of worship and witness.

The challenge of the 70's across the continents is to bear witness to one's conviction when morals and decadence are at a premium. In India, Kenya, or the U.S.A., it takes courage to be open to the unknown in the 70's which are bringing so many changes to families the world over. It takes quiet courage to pray in these times. It takes open courage to commit one's life and resources.

World Day of Prayer will be reflecting courage for responsible action. It also provides an occasion for participation in a nationwide offering, committed to helping others "take courage."

This year's emphases are: new religious educational materials for Latin Americans and Spanish-speaking families in this country; support of a Secretary for Women's Work of the Near East Christian Council; the dispossessed Spanish migrant and Indian American communities.

These are part of an Intercontinental Mission, a fund through which Church Women United expresses its concern for others in concrete terms including grants for Christian literature on six continents and grants to Christian colleges in Asia and Africa.

The local programs have been planned by Mrs. Proctor W. Houghton of West Newton, president of Church Women United in Newton, who are co-chairmen for the World Day of Prayer.

Uncle Sam Has Jobs For Census Takers in Area

The U.S. Bureau of the Census needs local people to work on the 1970 Census of Population and Housing in this area, it was announced today by Director James W. Turbitt of the Census Regional Office in Boston.

The jobs to be filled will be census takers who will call upon households that have not mailed back their census forms or who have mailed back incomplete ones. Generally, they will work near their own neighborhoods.

Jobs will last from three to five weeks. Some work will be done evenings and on Saturday as some people are at home only during those times.

Applicants must be American citizens, 18 or older, and must pass a written test to show ability to follow printed instructions and do simple arithmetic. They must be in good physical condition for walking, standing, and climbing stairs. Most should have a home telephone, and for a few, a car will be necessary. Mileage will be paid for use of a car on official census business.

Pay will be on a piece rate basis, designed to average about $2.00 per hour nationally. In addition, a fee will be paid for training if a work assignment is accepted.

The Regional Director is urging housewives, especially, to apply. He says past experience has shown the Census Bureau that they are careful, conscientious workers, and unlike most men, who have regular employment, they can take on short-term jobs. And he adds that most housewives welcome the chance to earn some extra money.

The Census Bureau is an equal opportunity employer. Interested persons should come ready to take the written test at one of the following places: 158-164 Brookline Avenue, Boston, Mass. 02215; 221 Columbus Avenue, Boston, Mass. 02116, 4th floor; 9-11 Essex Street, Andover, Mass. 01810; 485 Massachusetts Avenue, Cambridge, Mass. 02139; 2nd floor; 395 Washington Street, Dedham, Mass. 02026. Newtonville, vice-president, and Mrs. Lester Weiner of World Day of Prayer.

Sculptured Paintings On Exhibit at Local Library

Hurrah for the red, white and blue! And for the green, yellow and brown, too, in Sorina Vigoda's outstanding sculptured paintings, now on view in "The Text Is Texture" at the Newton Free Library, 414 Centre street, Newton Corner.

The paintings in the one-man show for March are in fact outstanding because of Mrs. Vigoda's individual technique which combines built-up, stand-out plaster-of-paris figures with the more customary flat oil or acrylic themes.

The results of the technique are as exotic as the painter's name. Sorina Vigoda long ago reversed her childhood dislike for her own odd first name, and how, as wife of electrical contractor David Vigoda she considers her name an asset. "Who," she asks, "could forget a painter named Sorina Vigoda?"

A scheduled and disciplined painter who works on 2 or 3 paintings at the same time, Sorina says she gets more work done in winter when the family sailboat is ashore than she can manage in sailing season.

Inspiration? She finds it everywhere — out on the sea, on trips abroad, anywhere outdoors. Her landscapes and her people pictures, such as "Reflections of a City" and "American Scene", two in the current show, are equally captivating. When she and her husband entertain friends in

The meeting will feature a special showing of a first-run color film, "With These Children", celebrating the 35th anniversary of the Young Aliyah Program.

Members will gather at 12:15 p.m. for a coffee hour at which Mrs. Sol Finkelstein and Mrs. Albert Katseff will serve as hostesses. Minyan captains will be honored.

Paid-Up Member Dinner Meeting Due on Mar. 23

Young Women's Auxiliary of Jewish Memorial Hospital will hold its annual membership dinner meeting for paid-up members on Monday evening, March 23, at 6:30 p.m. in Chateau Garod, Beacon St., Brookline.

The dinner honors new annual and life members of the auxiliary. This year's membership drive is dedicated in honor of Samuel Poorvu, well-known builder and philanthropist.

Committee includes Mrs. Norman Segal, Brighton, annual membership chairman; Miss Rose Wise, Chestnut Hill, life membership chairman; Mrs. Esther Posner, Newton, financial secretary; and Miss Gertrude Rosenblum, Brookline, asst. financial secretary. Mrs. Joseph Natelson, Newton, is president of the auxiliary.

Bowen School Registrations Now Underway

The Bowen Nursery School has announced that registration is now open for the 1970-1971 school year.

The Bowen Nursery School is a non-profit, co-operative nursery school which is housed in the Bowen Public School on Cypress street in Newton Centre. This well-established school accepts 20 children and enjoys the capable instruction of Mrs. Ernestine Smith and Mr. Lloyd Wilson. The school's hours coincide with those of the public kindergarten.

She has studied with Jason Berger of Brookline and Henry Schwartz, of Boston. George Dergalis of Wayland, a recent teacher, introduced her to texture, which led her to the two-dimensional painting which has really become her field and her trademark.

"The Text Is Texture" will remain on view at the Main Library through March 25. For further information call 969-2571.

5 Collie Pups, Mother, Saved By Police Aid

There soon will be five cute pups up for adoption, who otherwise may have frozen to death, thanks to the Newton Police Department.

Newton Patrolman Roy D. McLaughlin rescued the pups and their pure-bred Collie mother from under a shed in the backyard of Mrs. Michael Burns in Auburndale. Four other newborn pups in the litter of nine died from exposure.

That's how the story unfolded on a freezing day last week when Mrs. Burns spotted the stray Collie under the shed.

Following the rescue by McLaughlin, an effort that took two hours, the pups were taken over by Mrs. Arthur Adams of Wellesley Hills, chairman and a director of the Buddy Dog Humane Society in Sudbury.

Because the shelter was filled, Mrs. Adams provided quarters for the tricolor Collie and pups at her own home.

Mrs. Adams said the Collie is slowly improving. She takes care of her puppies.

The pups must stay with their mother another five weeks, Mrs. Adams said, and after that they will be put up for adoption.

Anyone wishing to adopt a dog may call Mrs. Adams or contact the society's shelter, the Buddy Dog Humane Society, 56 Dakin Rd., Sudbury.

Israel Series Due At Center On March 11th

The second session in a unique lecture discussion series entitled "Getting to Know Israel" will be held at the Brookline-Brighton-Newton Jewish Community Center Thursday evening, March 12th at 8:15 p.m.

The program will focus on "The Threat of El Fatah" and the speaker will be Dr. Dan Michaeli, Lt. Col., Israeli Defense Army.

The five session series on Israel is being sponsored by the Brookline-Brighton-Newton Jewish Community Center in cooperation with the Greater Boston Chapter of the American Jewish Committee.

The El Fatah Arab Terrorist Organization has become one of the most crucial and contemporary threats to the security of Israel. It has become the instrument endorsed by the Arab World to wage the war of attrition.

Dr. Michaeli will discuss the Israeli response to El Fatah, its military reactions and its analysis of the ultimate threat of El Fatah activities. This is the first discussion of its kind to be held in Boston.

Dr. Michaeli is a Lt. Col. in the Israeli Defense Army and is also presently associated with Tufts Medical School, Department of Public Health. The program is also being planned in cooperation with the American Zionist Youth Foundation, Yechiel Hanan, Coordinator. The Brookline-Brighton-Newton Jewish Community Center is a constituent of the Associated Jewish Community Centers-Greater Boston.

Adult Forum To Be Held Mar. 15

"A Black Jew's View of the Jewish Community" is the title of the third session in the adult forum series to be presented at the Jewish Community Center of Brookline Sunday (March 15) at 8:30 p.m.

The 4 C's Couple Club at the center is sponsoring the series. The club will present Mrs. Jehu Eaves, a member of a small Jewish Community in Roxbury who claims to be direct descendants of the 10 lost tribes of Israel.

Mrs. Eaves participation in this religious community plus her active interest in both civic affairs and the local community are expected to provide an unusual perspective and stimulate enlightening dialogue.

The program chairmen are Mr. and Mrs. Carl Berkowitz and Mr. and Mrs. Nathan Chansky.

Whiting Chapter Meets March 9th

Conservation will be the subject discussed at the regular meeting of Lydia Partridge Whiting Chapter, DAR on Monday, March 9, at the Workshop, 72 Columbus Street, Newton Highlands. Mrs. Benjamin Lewis, State Chairman of Conservation, will speak after the one-thirty business meeting.

A dessert and social hour at one o'clock will begin the afternoon. Mrs. William A. Hurley and Mrs. Sterling G. Thomas are in charge of refreshments.

Newton Chorale In Lynn March 9

The Newton Chorale will provide the featured entertainment at the Donor Dinner of the Hebrew High School Scholarship Fund, Inc., in Lynn, Mass., next Monday evening (March 9).

The event will take place at the Anshai Stard Synagogue, North Common St., Lynn. "Musical Moments," appropriate for the occasion, will include Israeli and Yiddish folk songs, as well as contemporary music.

Chorale members feel it is very symbolic that they should take part in this Donor Dinner effort to provide scholarships for worthy students of Hebrew, since their group is dedicated to Musical Scholarships for talented young musicians.

Mrs. Hans J. Seligman, conductor, pianist and organist, was formerly choir director and organist at Beth Lynn and Temple Sinai, Brookline.

Mrs. Ralph Dephore is the accompanist, and soloists are: Mrs. Jack Cohen, Mrs. William Green, Mrs. Frank Greene, Mrs. Theodore Nissen, Mrs. Beatrice Paupert and Mrs. Joseph Kalem.

The program will focus on "The Threat of El Fatah" and the speaker will be Dr. Dan Michaeli, Lt. Col., Israeli Defense Army.

3 Hitch-hiking Teenagers Have Case Continued

Three teenage youths, arrested by a state trooper for hitchhiking on the Massachusetts Turnpike in Newton, pleaded guilty in Newton District Court last week.

However, Judge Franklin N. Flaschner ordered innocent pleas entered and continued their cases three months.

Judge Flaschner said that if the trio remained out of trouble during the three-month period he would dismiss the cases.

He said, "Obviously, if you are picked up for hitchhiking or anything else, and that includes drugs, a fine can be imposed (on the hitchhiking charge)."

State Trooper Charles M. McLaughlin arrested an 18-year-old Meriden, Conn., youth last Thursday night as he was thumbing at the Toll Road westbound entrance ramp in West Newton. The youth attends Northeastern University and was en route home to visit his parents.

Then while driving the defendant to court the next day, McLaughlin said, he spotted the other two teenagers hitchhiking on the west bound lane of the turnpike in West Newton. He arrested them and continued on to court.

Hitchhiking is prohibited by the Turnpike Authority, a state agency authorized by the Legislature.

Former Ambassador To Japan At Junior College

"The Japanese Renaissance" will be the title of the lecture program presented by Newton Junior College at 8:15 p.m., Wednesday, March 11, at College Hall, Washington Park, Newtonville. Edwin O. Reischauer will be the speaker.

Professor Reischauer holds many distinctions, but he is perhaps best known as former United States Ambassador to Japan from 1961 to 1966. Born in Tokyo, he holds an A.B. from Oberlin, and an M.A. and Ph.D. from Harvard University.

He also studied in France, China, and Japan. He is currently University Professor at Harvard.

Newton Junior College cordially invites the public to attend this lecture free of charge.

Boys' Club Has Semi-Finalist "Boy of Year"

The Newton Boys' Club, under the direction of Samuel Crocetti, will be represented in the nationwide "Boy of the Year" competition of the Boys' Clubs of America this year by Leonard Holt, 13, of Watertown who has been named a semi-finalist.

Young Holt, a member of the Newton Club since the fall of 1964, was chosen on the basis of service to home, school, church, community and Boys' Club. He is the son of Mr. and Mrs. Charles E. Holt of 12 Elliot St., Watertown, and is a junior high student there.

The competition will be narrowed to 20 finalists representing the 10 Boys' Club regions who will compete in the final rounds in New York City. The winner will represent more than 850,000 Boys' Club members as the nation's finest example of "Juvenile Decency."

The winner will receive a $4,000 scholarship, will be guest of honor at the annual convention of the Boys' Clubs of America in April in Boston and at the National American Legion Convention in the fall in Portland, Ore.

Nine regional winners each will receive grants of $300, while 10 sectional winners each get $200 scholarships.

Library Seeks Year Books Of 2 High Schools

We want you, if you're a graduate of Newton High or Newton South High.

To be specific, we at the Newton Free Library want you to give us your Newtonite or Regulus, to complete our collection of Newton yearbooks.

To help us in our search, Mandell's in Newtonville has arranged a special window display featuring Newtonites from World War I years, highlighting the old Gibson Girl hairdos and shirtwaists, stiff collars and high shoes worn by students in the 1910-1920 era.

Newton - Waltham Bank in Newtonville is also sporting old Newtonites in its windows, helping the Library to interest residents in giving their old Newton yearbooks to the reference collection.

High-school students today who think this is the first time round for the mid should peek at the Mandell window display to see how it looked in Grandma's day.

Books may be left for Mrs. Phyllis Cutler, Supervisor of Adult Services, at Mandell's or at any branch of the Newton Free Library, and should be clearly marked with the donor's name, address and telephone number.

Assoc. Names Bauckman To Committee

Wendell R. Bauckman, president of the Newton Board of Alderman, and the vice president of the Griess Pfleger Sales Co., Inc., Boston, has been appointed to the Social Service Committee of the Two/Ten Associates, the national foundation of the footwear, leather and allied industries.

With a total membership of more than 6,500 shoe and leather men from all parts of the United States, the Two/Ten Associates is entering its 31st year of assisting needy and aged shoemakers by providing financial help in such a way that the dignity of the individual is always preserved.

As a member of the Social Service Committee, Mr. Bauckman will be responsible for evaluating prospective relief cases and deciding how much and for how long a period of time financial assistance should be given.

Last year, the Social Service Committee of the Two/Ten Associates distributed more than $125,000 to needy shoemakers and their families.

In addition to helping the indigent, the Two/Ten Associates recently established a National Scholarship Program to assist youngsters who have worked in the footwear industry or who have a parent employed in the industry.

Eighteen freshmen in colleges throughout the country are currently being assisted by a Two/Ten Associates Scholarship with another group soon to receive educational grants totaling $50,000 over a four year period.

To Take Action On High School Parking Problem

The parking problem at Newton High School has suddenly taken on new dimensions.

Mayor Monte G. Basbas reported at a press conference on Tuesday that he has ordered the School Department to comply with the law and cease what seems to be a new practice — parking on the lawn of the school.

Basbas said the problem appears to be more with the teachers and other school personnel than with the students.

Basbas reported that he set yesterday (Wednesday) as the final date before tagging of cars would commence.

As a member of the Social Service Committee, Mr. Bauckman will be responsible for evaluating prospective relief cases and deciding how much and for how long a period of time financial assistance should be given.

OVER 20,000 CAMBODIANS STORM VIET CONG EMBASSY

MORE THAN 20,000 Cambodians stormed and sacked the embassies of North Vietnam and the Viet Cong in Phnom Penh Wednesday, demanding that both remove their troops from Cambodia and abandon efforts to "Vietnamize the country. The angry demonstrators, mostly students and workers, carried banners reading, "Go home, dirty Viet Cong, you want to Vietnamese Cambodia." In one of the biggest and most destructive demonstrations in years, the crowd first attacked the Viet Cong embassy and the adjacent residence for its diplomats, then moved against the North Vietnamese embassy. They were diverted from attacking the residence there by Hanoi diplomats, who threatened to throw hand grenades into the crowd. Police, who estimated the demonstrators numbered more than 20,000, said there were no injuries. Other official sources said, however, that three embassy employees were injured in scuffles. No arrests were reported.

2 SOUTH VIETNAMESE UNITS SUFFER HEAVY CASUALTIES

COMMUNIST FORCES fighting along the central coast of South Vietnam were reported Wednesday to have inflicted severe casualties on two units of South Vietnamese militiamen, the force U.S. commanders believe could make or break the Vietnamization program. Allied military sources said the two regional force militia companies lost 27 men killed, 28 wounded and three missing in two battles near Tuy Hoa, about 250 miles northeast of Saigon. Each of the militia companies numbered 120 to 150 men.

LAOTIAN PREMIER WELCOMES PATHET LAO PROPOSAL

PREMIER Prince Souvanna Phouma said Wednesday in Vientiane the Laotian government welcomed the Pathet Lao proposal for peace talks provided the Communist overture was not a "diversive maneuver" to cloak future military operations. A Pathet Lao emissary is expected to arrive in Vientiane on Friday with letters for Souvanna and King Savanna Vathana from Prince Souphanouvong, leader of the North Vietnamese-backed Laotian Communist faction.

ARAB TERRORISTS BATTLE FELLOW ARABS ON GAZA STRIP

ARAB TERRORISTS Wednesday struck with hand grenades against fellow Arabs as well as the Israelis in the occupied Gaza Strip on the Mediterranean coast between Egypt and Israel. At least 22 Arabs and two Israelis were wounded in separate attacks. An Arab was shot and killed by Israeli troops as he fled from the scene of one bombing. The attacks came as Syria launched a wide-ranging diplomatic offensive aimed at blocking reported plans by Israel to transfer 300,000 Arabs from the Gaza Strip to the occupied West Bank of Jordan.

LEGISLATIVE UNIT FAVORS CHALLENGE TO UNDECLARED WAR

A LEGISLATIVE COMMITTEE with no dissenters gave a favorable report Wednesday to unprecedented legislation challenging the President's authority to conduct undeclared wars. The House takes up the bill today. The Senate chairman of the Joint Judiciary Committee, Joseph D. Ward, D-Fitchburg, reported all but "five or six" members of the 21-man committee endorsed the bill. It would prohibit the federal government from sending Massachusetts citizens in the armed forces to war zones in the absence of a Congressional declaration of war. Ward said those in the committee who did not endorse the legislation, reserved their decision until the bill came to a vote. It is the avowed purpose of the bill proponents to force the U.S. Supreme Court to rule on the constitutionality of the Vietnam War.

STRIKE FORCES EXODUS FROM LAS VEGAS' 'STRIP'

A MASS EXODUS of gamblers and tourists from Las Vegas, Nev., began Wednesday as the famed "Strip" was hit by its first major strike. The Culinary and Bartenders Union began walking out of the hotels, starting with Howard Hughes' Desert Inn, shortly after 2 a.m. and token picket lines were set up at the resorts. By mid-morning the airports were jammed, traffic on the arteries leading out of town was heavy and vacationers were carrying their own luggage out of the swank hotels, hotels. Gambling trickled nearly to a halt. Shows at all the affected hotels were canceled and most resorts were refusing to take reservations. An estimated $1.5 million is paid out by the hotels each week for entertainment. The 14,000-member union voted Tuesday night to reject management's last offer of a 25 per cent wage and fringe benefit package. Some 6,000 other "Strip" employees were expected to refuse to cross picket lines, including showgirls, musicians and security guards who watch the money. Al Bramlet, president of the executive board of the union, predicted the strike would "be a long one." The unions asked for a 35 per cent wage increase over a three-year period. Their old contract paid waiters and waitresses $11.60 a shift, cooks $33.95 minimum and bartenders $28 to $31 per shift.

WHITE WOMAN SOUGHT IN BOMBING OF COURTHOUSE

AUTHORITIES sought an unidentified white woman Wednesday as the chief suspect in an early morning bombing that caused $100,000 damage to a courthouse in Cambridge, Md., where black militants H. Rap Brown originally was to have been tried, the governor's office announced. A spokesman for Gov. Marvin Mandel said three witnesses had given information about an alleged getaway car and its license plates which pointed to a woman suspect. State Police Lt. Col. Thomas Smith confirmed this and said the "white female was seen in the courthouse at a late hour in the afternoon yesterday just before closing." Earlier, a spokesman for Mandel and local officials said a white woman had been taken into custody, but this was later denied. Rumors and confusion swept Dorchester County after the blast rocked the circuit court building only 24 hours after two Negro men, one of them an associate of Brown, were killed in an explosion in a car near Bel Air, Md., 85 miles away. Brown's riot trial was moved from Cambridge to Bel Air because of racial tensions there.

UMASS TRUSTEES APPROVE NEW $355 MILLION HUB CAMPUS

THE BOARD OF TRUSTEES of the University of Massachusetts gave its approval Wednesday to a 10-year plan to construct a $355 million campus for 15,000 students on the site of a 90 acre dump on the Columbia Point peninsula in Boston. The chancellor of the university at Boston, Francis L. Broderick, which now enrolls 3,500 students at a makeshift in-town campus, said Phase One of the project will cost $150 million and will be ready for 2,500 students by 1972. Gov. Francis W. Sargent said "This project promises to be innovative in a number of ways."

Dr. Klein Is
Co-Chairman

The appointment of a prominent physician from Newton, Dr. Thomas Klein, as a co-chairman of the newly-formed Medical Committee for Israel Bonds was announced this week by Bernard Garber, general chairman.

Dr. Klein, an associate surgeon at the Massachusetts Eye and Ear Infirmary, is also clinical instructor for Tufts-Harvard Medical School.

He is a member of the American Medical Association, the New England Otolaryngology Society, the Greater Boston Medical Society and is a Diplomat of the Board of American Otolaryngology.

Dr. Klein received his medical degree in 1958 from the University of Western Ontario.

Building Of New Homes Is Lagging Here

Of 17 building permits issued in Newton during February, only one was for construction of a single dwelling. Francesco DeLuca, of 63 Dalby St., filed a permit for construction of a house at 157 Chapel St., Newton.

Three February permits were for erection of signs, seven for alterations to residence buildings and six for alterations of non-residence buildings.

During the first two months of this year, 40 permits, totaling $1.2 million, were issued, while the same period last year shows 49 permits totaling $4.2 million.

Notices have been issued by Newton's Building Department that there will be six public hearings on March 24, beginning at 7:45 p.m. at City Hall.

Volunteers Resume Newton Head Start

Newton Head Start pupils resumed their classes Monday (March 9) thanks to the volunteered services of teachers, aides, and parents and residents who formed car pools to provide transportation.

The 36 Newton youngsters took up their studies in the First Unitarian Society meeting house at 1326 Washington St., for the first time in three weeks.

The program was suspended Feb. 13 after funds had run out for the Western Metropolitan Regional Action Council (WEMBROC) the administrator of the program.

Mrs. Sylvia Evans, temporary chairman of the Newton Head Start mothers group, said it was decided last week to reopen "on a volunteer basis."

"Too Much Unfinished Business As Mayor"

Basbas Not Candidate

Newton Mayor Monte G. Basbas announced officially yesterday that he will NOT be a candidate for Congress.

Political observers and Democratic and Republican politicians had expected Mr. Basbas would move into the congressional race in the third district as a result of statements he made last week and in a press conference on Tuesday of this week at City Hall.

Basbas indicated last week that the entrance of Father Robert F. Drinan, S.J., former Law School, into the contest for the Democratic nomination in the Philbin district, which includes Newton, might cause him (Basbas) to seek the Republican nomination in that district.

Representative John A. McGlennon of Concord is an announced candidate for the Republican nomination for Congress in that district.

which sprawls from Newton to Winchendon.

Reporters, after listening to Basbas at his last two press conferences, went to yesterday's Mayors' Association luncheon at the Marriott Motor Hotel in Newton yesterday that he does not plan to run for Congress this year. Basbas is president of the Mayors' Association, and about 20 fellow Mayors heard his pronouncement.

Grant For An Unique Concept

$25,000 Boost For Program

The Permanent Charity Fund of Greater Boston has reserved for the Newton Community Development Foundation (NCDF) an incentive grant of $25,000 to be made available to NCDF when it has raised $75,000 in the Newton community towards its goal of $100,000.

In making the grant to NCDF, Fred L. Gimp, Director of the Permanent Charity Fund, indicated that the Committee was doing so because of the uniqueness of the concept of scattered site housing in a suburb, and particularly, because of the significant impact the success of NCDF's program could have on the other suburbs in the area — if not the country.

New Tax Ordinance Filed By Alderman

Peter F. Harrington, Newton Alderman-at-Large, today (March 12) filed proposed ordinance that would permit tenants as well as landlords to deduct real estate taxes on federal income tax returns.

Under the ordinance, any tenant in Newton would be able to pay the tax on real estate of which he is an occupant provided he notifies the assessors and the owner of the property in writing that he is willing to accept the obligation.

After filing this Ordinance, Harrington, an attorney, said: "This is the first time this type of legislation has been filed in the United States, and I am surprised. The basic idea behind my proposal is simply to provide a vehicle whereby tenants may have the opportunity to take advantage of their rights under federal and state statutes.

"The average American of 1970 is overburdened by a monolithic political empire which greedily absorbs an ever-increasing portion of his weekly pay check.

"Throughout our entire nation groups of tenants are rising up to ask for government help, and they

Sargent, White and Donahue All Are Silent On Running

Three months from now, the delegates to the Democratic State Convention will be converging on Amherst and the University of Massachusetts for what looks as a highly interesting conclave.

The weeks stretching ahead will be busy ones politically as the delegates are designated by ward and town committees and the candidates confess publicly what everyone already knows, that they are, indeed, running for Governor or other state offices.

So far there is only one announced candidate for the Governorship — Kenneth P. O'Donnell. Not even Governor Francis W. Sargent has yet conceded for publication that he will seek to remain at the head of the state government.

Boston Mayor Kevin H. White talks about the great municipal problems which demand his attention from day to day when he is questioned about his intention to seek promotion to the Governor-

Past Commanders Honored At Newton D.A.V. Dinner

Two hundred and fifty comrades and friends honored the Wm. J. Farrell Chapter No. 23 Disabled American Veterans at a dinner-dance held recently at the Newton Elks Club.

Key-note speakers were Secretary of State, John F. X. Davoren and Newton Mayor, Monte Basbas, while the master of ceremonies was Charles E. Feeley, Safety and Community Service officer of the Newton Police Department.

State Commander, Robert S. Redding, delivered a stirring appeal to all citizens to urge their Senators and Congressmen, by letter or phone, "to return our fighting men with honor and dignity, and to support their efforts to the hilt until they do come home." Redding is the third Newton resident to be named State Commander.

Clara Bowers, Dept. Auxiliary Senior Vice Commander, brought the greetings of Commander Mary Bloom and the 5000 Auxiliary members in the State. She was accompanied by Past State Commander, Boyd H. Bowers. Another honored guest at the head table was "Bill" Desmond, Exalted Ruler of Newton Elks No. 1327.

The following are Past Commanders of Newton's D.A.V. Chapter No. 23: Albert H. Webber (1933), Charles H. Pollock (1934), Harold H. Haffey (1935), James Buckley (1936), Nicholas Bibbo (1937), J. Edward Theriault (1938), Roy S. Edwards (1939), Harold Trefry (1940), Fred Farrington (1941), George Kempson (1942), and James Davis (1943).

The Newton Traffic Commission will recommend that Newton High School personnel avail themselves of parking spaces at Newton Junior College, the Newtonville Branch library and the Claffin School to help solve their parking problem, according to Mayor Monte G. Basbas.

Last week teachers at the school and other violators were warned to cease parking on the school lawns. The Police Department has been taking registration numbers and violators will start getting complaints, Mayor Basbas reported at a press conference on Tuesday.

Mayor Basbas has asked for a delay in the enforcement of the city ordinance prohibiting this kind of parking but said on Tuesday that he does not have the power to suspend ordinances.

units to occupy the sites; site plans; legal fees; negotiating costs; and paid staff and office costs.

The final plan will call for the construction of low-density housing — 15 to 20 units per acre, a density which is consistent with Newton's low-density pattern. The Foundation is currently negotiating on 14 different parcels in the hope of acquiring 5 of these. NCDF will then ask the city to donate 5 parcels of surplus city land to complete the scatterization and bring the land costs within the federal limits.

The completed plan for the 10 sites will be brought before the Board of Aldermen in May for city-wide consideration and city-wide approval of a comprehensive plan for low and moderate income housing scattered on small sites throughout the city.

The Award of the Year will be presented to Joseph Lechiaro for outstanding work in behalf of Chapter No. 23 at the Installation of Officers on Saturday, April 11, 1970.

A Key to the City was presented to Commander John J. Sturniolo by P.C. William D'Uffo for Mayor Basbas, and a bouquet of roses was presented to Commander Viola Sturniolo by Secretary of State, John Davoren.

Chairman of the affair was Joseph Lechiaro, assisted by S.V.C. Ralph Maffeo, Treasurer Joseph D'Uffo, and Commanders John and Vi Sturniolo.

Student Council Of Bacon House Planning Dance

The Bacon House Council of Newton High School will sponsor a dance to be held in the school gym on April 4th from 8 to 11:30. Three bands will be featured at the dance.

The Student Council has been organized into special committees to aid in planning the dance.

President Miss Terry Arsenault reports that all committee members are very active in working towards the success of the affair.

John Fernandes, advisor to the Council, Norman Walker, and Peter Capidilupe are assisting the council members in pre-dance planning.

It was announced that the dance will help establish a scholarship fund for a needy Bacon House senior.

often too much time is being spent in clerical work. Despite this Mark stated that most of the students enjoy the program and are gaining valuable understanding of how a city is run.

Mark further noted that "an attempt is being made to revamp the program so students are able to become more involved and work closer with the department heads." The interns have found the most interesting departments to be code enforcement, city planning, and the police department. In code enforcement the students had a chance to visit some of the houses being inspected.

In discussing the Student Intern Program Mark stated that the students involved are "conscientious about government and might be involved in it later." He hopes that the program will be able to broaden to include a greater diversity of students.

Despite many doubts about the program Mark explained that it is "beneficial in that these kids will know and understand how government is working. The mayor and department heads are very generous in involving Newton students in government."

Hopefully, the program will be able to solve its problems and continue successfully. Included in the Student Intern Program are Joel Kazis, Mark Ziering, Mark Farber, George Berman, Danny Barkin, Larry Levine, Paul Schaye, Harvey Flaschen, and Richard Krinsky.

The Denbola editors for 1970-71 have recently been chosen. A board of this year's editors and Mrs. Breech, the faculty advisor, chose David Freeman as the new Editor-in-Chief. David has been very active on Denbola and is well deserving of the important and difficult job. David helped select the other editors. They are: Mike Neiderman, News Editor; Janice Kaplan, Assistant News Editor; David Stein, Feature Editor; Judy Andler, Assistant Feature Editor; Jessica Shohet, Editorial Editor; Ilene Gordon, Business Manager; Marcy Richmond, Fine Arts Editor; Lynne Greene, Kathy Falk, Assistant Fine Arts Editor; Andrea Bearly, Copy Editor; Sue Goorvitch, Assistant Copy Editor; Rich Sobol, Photography Editor; Randy Lempert, Sports Editor; Larry Cammer, Advertising Editor; Judy Stone, Exchange Editor; Janet Schrieber, Circulation Editor; Marcia Pearlstein, Typing Editor; Dale Sillen, Girls Sport Editor; David Edelstein, Club News; and Ellen White, Poll Editor.

This year Denbola was printed every other week — far more than most other high school papers. The newspaper has an extremely large circulation and has excelled in news coverage as well as controversial editorials. The new staff takes over in the April issues of Denbola.

The Sophomore Class Committee is currently planning the class activities for the remainder of the year. Newton South tee-shirts are being ordered and will be on sale shortly. David Schlakman, president of the sophomore class, explained that selling the tee-shirts will serve to earn money for the class as well as being an activity in which many students can participate. The class committee is also organizing the touring of ninth graders and formulating a program of sophomore orientation. New ideas for class activities are needed.

The Student Faculty Forum recently passed a plan for a curriculum review board. Each department will have a curriculum review board and will have representatives at an Overall Board.

Department boards will include two year terms for two to four teachers, the department head, and ten students. They will discuss and recommend censures of U.S. role in Vietnam changes in existing and the Russian invasion courses as well as suggesting of Czechoslovakia. The Harvard Model UN was very successful.

SPECIAL DUO — Newton students, Cathy Segal, 117 Osborne Path, and Paul Trombly, 491 Commonwealth Ave., were featured in a duet "Both Sides Now" on the Greater Bostonians special televised over WHDH-TV last night, Wednesday, March 11th. Appearing in the chorus was Kenneth Belt, 15 Kappius Path; Lewis Blair, 24 Shumaker Path, was a violinist in the orchestra.

Mr. Santoro, Director of Art at the Cambridge School, is a resident of Watertown, but does a great deal of his painting at his studio-gallery in Rockport.

He holds membership in the American Watercolor Society, the Salmagundi Club, the Boston Society of Watercolor Painters, the Copley Society and the Rockport Art Association.

Mr. Santoro has received over 26 prizes for his art and has twice been awarded the Gold Medal of the American Artists Professional League. He holds two awards from Salmagundi his most recent for his painting of Saudi Arabia, for which the Boston Watercolor Society also honored him.

The Newton Art Association invites its members and their friends to this noteworthy meeting where Mr. Santoro will demonstrate a watercolor.

Uncle Sam's Long Arm

Alphonse Capone went to jail after a career in which he sneered at about every law in the books. From the mid-20s to the early-30s, he, indeed, appeared to be beyond reach of the law.

The end of his dynasty did not come through law agencies which had concentrated on the murders, the violence and the corruption for which he and his cohorts had been responsible.

Because he tried to outwit Uncle Sam on his taxes, Capone spent the latter years of his life in Leavenworth and Alcatraz which provided none of the luxuries or personal life-and-death power he came to know in his "glory days."

Some obscure auditors and accountants were put on his trail by the Internal Revenue Service. Some equally obscure field agents completed the work.

Where other law enforcers on federal, state and municipal levels failed, the IRS came up with the effective fire power which blasted the throne from under Capone. Their methods were something less than spectacular. There were no exciting raids. No machine gun confrontations.

Vivian Kellams never had anything in common with the likes of Capone. She was a well-established, successful, eminently respectable businesswoman, a few years back when she got herself some national publicity.

She announced she wasn't going to pay some tax levies she owed the federal government. The IRS was silent. Mrs. Kellams and her protests after a time fell off the front pages.

Months passed. Uncle Sam got his money.

Mrs. Kellams didn't succeed in winning over any appreciable number of Americans willing to go along with her example of holding out tax payments. The IRS refused to allow itself to be prodded into any public exchange of comment which would have added to the publicity sought by the seeming defiers of the tax laws.

It merely concentrated on the bank accounts and the other assets of the self-described rebels.

If the law really has a long arm it belongs to the IRS. Eventually it gets its man — or woman.

Focus on Mid-East

Congresswoman Margaret M. Heckler shunned the tendency of too many public figures given to worn cliches, rhetorical over-statement and impossible solutions, in her analysis of the Middle East situations on the floor of Congress recently.

Mrs. Heckler emphasized the paramount need for averting a dangerous imbalance of power which would weigh the international scales against Israel such as French and British policy-makers espouse. Such an imbalance, she pointed out, would not only be catastrophic to Israel, it would imperil the peace of the world.

A critically weakened Israel, Mrs. Heckler told her House colleagues, could not expect to be a factor in establishing a real basis for a peaceable settlement in this most potent powder keg in the world.

Approximately 1,000 Soviet-made planes in Egypt, Syria and Iraq vs. 200 French and U.S.-built planes in Israel," she argued, does not make for balance.

"I think," said Mrs. Heckler, "the unfortunate fact remains that the Soviet can only be deterred by strength."

"Little Israel," she added, "through its military and moral strength as a strong and viable democracy, has deterred both Soviet and Arab expansionism and tipped the scale of the balance-of-power contest to the advantage of the United States. Accordingly, it is vital that Israel remain strong and capable of maintaining its security."

Without resort to the bombastic Mrs. Heckler brought into focus the pivotal issues involved for the United States in the Middle East.

June Graduate Jobs

The College Placement Council, a non-profit national service organization for the college placement and recruitment field, has news that won't be considered good by many June, 1970, graduates.

The Council recently completed a survey of 141 U.S. colleges on active recruitment by employers on campus at mid-point in the 1969-70 academic year. It found that the volume of post-graduate jobs proffered at the bachelor's degree level is down 16 per cent, for master's degree, 26 per cent and for Ph.D.s, 14 per cent.

Undoubtedly, the shrinking of job openings among major potential employers, is in no small measure due to President Nixon's anti-inflation policies.

That fact will bring small measure of consolation to those collegians who have worked hard to fit themselves for life-time careers. Most of them have known difficulties in forging their way to the degrees they will receive in June.

They will be members of a collegiate generation which has been sorely buffeted by a minority of so-called activists and radicals, whose interest in a college education has been secondary to their efforts to impose their will and ideas on the majority.

It is ironic that those who went to college principally for an education will be hurt by economic belt-tightening. One of the memories of those who will be obliged to crash the job market the hard way will concern the hat-in-hand would-be employers who came to the campuses with brief cases filled with job application blanks for seniors during their own sophomore and junior years.

Some of those employers weren't even given a chance to open those brief cases. Some of them didn't bother to come back. They would be more welcome now.

What Should They Do?

What should a U.S. military adviser in Laos do if the place where he is stationed comes under attack by North Vietnamese soldiers?

That question becomes a pertinent one in view of the statements by President Nixon and the demands by Senate Majority Leader Mike Mansfield and others that we take no part in the fighting in Laos.

An army major complained that 12 Air Force advisers, all armed, made no attempt to defend a Lao compound at Muong Souri against a midnight commando raid by 30 to 40 North Vietnamese soldiers.

An army captain, who was serving as a military adviser to the Royal Army of Laos, was killed when he ran out of a hut, firing his rifle, during the attack. He reportedly killed one Communist before he was killed. His immediate superior complained about 12 armed U.S. Air Force radar technicians who made no effort to defend the compound.

The Air Force men remained in a tent and escaped.

ship, and he says he will handle this latter matter in proper time.

White, incidentally, in response to inquiries, expresses the conviction that the question of cutting the size of the House of Representatives should have been placed on the ballot for a vote and decision by the people of Massachusetts.

That could cost him the support of some Democratic legislators at the June convention or in the September primary. But he takes a forthright stand on a highly controversial issue.

State Senate President Maurice A. Donahue carefully avoided saying anything which could be construed as a declaration of his candidacy at a recent dinner held to promote that candidacy.

Former Presidential Aide O'Donnell declared sometime ago that he would run for Governor in 1970, but it was so long ago O'Donnell was able to announce his candidacy a second time and harvest whatever publicity benefits there were in doing so.

O'Donnell's friends, incidentally, predict that he will pass the State Convention and carry his fight directly to the Democratic voters in the September primary.

The fourth Democratic candidate for Governor is former Lieutenant Governor Francis X. Bellotti, the real darkhorse in the gubernatorial picture.

It would seem that Bellotti would have no chance of getting the nod of the Democratic State Convention and that he would run no better than third behind White and Donahue.

But it's dangerous to count Bellotti out of either a convention or primary fight. He has conducted more campaigns across the state than any other candidate except White. He ran for Lieutenant Governor in 1962, for Governor in 1964 and for Attorney General in 1966. (White was a candidate four times for Secretary of State.)

It isn't that Sargent, White and Donahue are coy or bashful in withholding official pronouncements of their candidacies for Governor. When they do so, they will deprive themselves of some opportunities to get free television time although all three will still receive a substantial amount of publicity because of the offices they hold.

It will be interesting to see how close they can go to their respective party conventions in June before conceding that they are candidates for Governor after all.

White and Donahue are busily lining up Democrats they anticipate will be delegates to the June assembly in Amherst. They appear to be involved in a fairly close fight.

Dellinger Is Paid Big Fees For Speeches To Students

David Dellinger may qualify as an intellectual. He was educated at Yale and Oxford.

He probably also qualifies as a Communist.

His principal claim to fame is that he was and is a member—the oldest member—of the so-called Chicago Seven and is under sentence to go to jail.

This obviously is the reason he is being paid substantial fees to make speeches to the students at colleges and universities.

In his talks he says some of the things that other people say in jest. The difference is that he means them.

Members of his audience at Tufts University must have found food for stimulating thought when he told them a bank robber is no more anti-social than a bank president.

"The average bank robber is no more anti-social than the average bank president," he declared. "One robs from a bank; the other robs people through a bank."

attack when the North Vietnamese for some reason missed their tent. The likelihood is they would have been killed or wounded if they had endeavored to defend the compound as the army major felt they should have.

That poses the very serious question of what one of our military advisers should do under such circumstances. It would seem that he should follow the course most likely to save his own life. But military officials might have a different idea.

That might cause other Democrats to obtain signatures and enter the contest at least temporarily—just in case Mr. Philbin should decide to retire to private life.

Whispers in Washington

Of Possible Postal Strike

Washington officials disclose in whispers that there is a possibility the postal workers may go out on strike.

The postoffice employees have demanded a pay raise and are tired of waiting for it.

Congress has approved a bill providing for a boost in postal pay but has not yet worked out the details of it.

President Nixon is complicating the situation with his insistence that some of his ideas be adopted along with the hike in wages.

Mr. Nixon wants the postal system revised

Beautification Goals Set By Auburndale Garden Club

At a recent meeting of the strip on Commonwealth Avenue beautification committee of nine have been weeded and the Auburndale Garden Club litter removed. Through the held at the home of Mrs. E. efforts of the club, several Graham Bates, chairman, new litter barrels have been ideas were proposed for placed at strategic points in extending the club program for the improvement of the business area.

Now in the planning stage is a "mini-park" on the vacant land in back of the Auburn Street. The Auburndale Community Association is working with the Garden Club in this effort.

Among club members assisting in these projects are the club president, Mrs. John B. G. Palen, Mrs. A. G. Asaff, Mrs. George F. Brewer, Mrs. N. Grendell Cate, Jr., Mrs. Charles A. Higgins, Jr., Mrs. Homer L. Jermigan, Mrs. Richard L. Kenney, Mrs. Ralph E. Keyes, Mrs. Joseph B. McNamara, Mrs. Prescott Richardson, Mrs. Irwin F. Stuart. The litter barrels were secured through the efforts of Mrs. Howard N. Atwood, Jr. Many other members have provided flowers for the library.

At the William's School plant materials and advice have been provided as well as many arrangements and educational exhibits inside the school. For the past two years flower boxes along the front of the Auburndale Post Office have been filled with colorful flowers in summer and greens in winter.

With cooperation from local Boy and Girl Scout troops the plantings in the center would bring lunches this week.

Mrs. Evans said, "The members of the Unitarian Church have been very generous in helping Head Start in reopening. They are providing milk for the children and are planning to set up equipment so we can give them hot lunches."

Mrs. Evans said she is "hopeful" that federal funds will come through next week for the administration of Head Start by Communities United, a mother's group that is in the process of being incorporated to replace WEMBROC.

The office of Child Development, the funding agency for Head Start, has backed Communities United as the group to administer the program because it involved parent participation.

When Communities United is incorporated and the funds are available, the Head Start program will resume its regional identity. Besides Newton, the communities of Arlington, Waltham, and Brookline are included in the program.

To maintain and operate these facilities effectively, considerable time and financial support by counters and financial support by Scouts and Funds to meet the annual operational budgets of the Council are derived primarily from the United Funds and the Sustaining Membership Enrollment (SME). The 1970 operating budget is $87,677, of which it is anticipated that the United Fund will provide at least one-third.

This means the Council must raise the balance of approximately $56,000 by means of its Sustaining Membership Enrollment in order to meet its 1970 operating budget.

Plans are being made to contact all Scouts, friends of Scouting, and other interested parties in Newton, Wellesley, and Weston, to raise the $56,000 needed to support these vital Scouting programs and experiences for the boys of our communities. An intensive effort will be made to complete this SME during the first week in April.

Persons willing to give of their time to aid in this SME drive, and those who may not be able to give of their time but are willing to financially support Scouting in this area, are asked to contact Norumbega Council Headquarters, 2044 Beacon Street, Waban, Mass., telephone 322-2220.

Is there really such a thing as gray hair?

No! The hair that gives the hair increases, the color may be called "steel." Next stages: from silvery to pure white!

The color of your hair depends on the composition of hair strands. At some point in life a change begins. Pigment production starts to diminish, strand by strand. The result is an absence of color, substituted with white hair. As the white strands appear among the colored ones, the shades are mixed by your eyes and appear a "gray."

If you are a dark brunette, the first strands of hair appearing may be termed "salt and pepper." As the percent of white or unpigmented hair increases, the color may be called "steel." Next stages: from silvery to pure white!

Janice Marie McMorrow Is Wed To Richard A. Rourke

Janice Marie McMorrow, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. John J. McMorrow of 32 High street, Norwood, and Richard A. Rourke, son of Mr. and Mrs. Raymond A. Rourke of 38 Beechcroft road, Newton, were married on February 15 during a 3 o'clock nuptial Mass at St. Catherine's Church, Norwood. Reverend Joseph P. McDermott performed the double ring wedding ceremony.

Given in marriage by her father, the bride wore a floor length organza gown with empire waist and high illusion neckline trimmed with Venice lace. The cuffs of the sheer sleeves were made of matching lace and her sheer mantilla with cathedral train was caught in a lace headpiece. She carried an old fashioned bouquet.

Serving as matron of honor was Mrs. Glen Peavey, sister of the bride from Westwood who wore a lime green gown matching the bride's gown in style with shoes and hat dyed green. Bridesmaids Eileen Pattison and Pamela Ross, both of Norwood, wore identical gowns in a maize color with matching hats and shoes. They all carried old fashioned bouquets. Mary Ann Rourke attended to the Guest Book.

Paul Gillis of Newton was best man and ushers were Robert Murphy of Norwood and Paul Rogers of Dedham.

Following a reception at the Floral Steak House in Wrentham, the couple left for a honeymoon trip to Vermont. The bride attended Norwood High School and Cinderella School.

The groom is a graduate of Boston High School and attended Boston College. (Loring Studios)

Two Rings Exchanged At Donahue-Lorenzo Wedding

The marriage of Miss Jean Ellen Lorenzo to Thomas Paul Donahue took place recently at Our Lady Help of Christians Church.

Mr. and Mrs. Joseph P. Lorenzo, Sr. of 238 Adams street, Newton, and Mrs. Alice Donahue of 87A Pearl Street, Newton, and the late Mr. Patrick Donahue, Sr., are the couple's parents.

The Rev. David Bonfiglio celebrated the three o'clock nuptial mass at which two rings were exchanged. A reception followed at the Lexington Lodge of Elks.

The bride was given away by her father. She was attired in an A-line gown fashioned of lace. Her French illusion veil was fastened to a headpiece made of silk carnations. She carried one long stemmed white rose.

Miss Kathryn MacCormack of Newtonville was honor maid. The bridesmaids included Margaret Lorenzo of Waltham, sister-in-law of the bride, Rita Finn of Medford, sister of the bride, Mary Alice Donahue of Newton, sister of the groom, and Janet Chris Lorenzo of Newton, sister of the bride.

Timothy Morris of West Newton served as best man. The ushers were Joseph Capalbo of Newton and Edward Cameron of West Newton.

Following a honeymoon in Bermuda, the newlyweds will make their home in West Newton.

St. Louis — It is estimated that one of every 259 working persons in the U. S. is employed in some phase of the printing and publishing industries.

Clara Cannistraro Weds Mr. William C. Beal

The marriage of Miss Clara G. Cannistraro to William C. Beal took place recently at the Sacred Heart Church in Waltham.

The Rev. Leo Reilly officiated at the four o'clock double ring ceremony. A reception was held at the Colonial Ten Acres in Wayland.

The organist was the bride's brother - in - law, Vaughn Bean of West Peabody, while the soloist was Richard Caruso of Tewksbury.

Given away by her father, the bride wore a full length ivory crepe gown designed with two floating back panels of lace and long full sleeves.

Her cathedral length mantilla was edged with the same lace. She carried a bouquet of phalaenopsis orchids accented with ivy.

Miss Carolyn Beal of New York City, sister of the groom, was honor maid. Three nieces of the bride, Miss Melinda Bean and Miss Deirdre Bean, both of West Peabody, and Miss Mary Lee Marsh of Sudbury were bridesmaids. They were dressed alike in royal blue velvet dresses with Camelot caps. Their flowers were blue and white Fuji mums.

Mrs. Cannistraro, mother of the bride, wore a pink silk costume and her flowers were pink roses and violets.

The groom's mother, Mrs. Beal, wore an aqua costume. Her flowers were pink roses and violets.

The bride is a graduate of Waltham High School. Both she and her husband are associated with Sylvania in Needham.

Mr. Beal attended the Washington D.C. schools and was graduated from Boston University where he is working for his master's degree in Computer Science.

His grandmother, Mrs. William Beal of Hingham, attended the first wedding ceremony.

Charlotte Carder, Hart model, will be the guest speaker at the ceremonies to begin at 2:30 p.m. at the Academie on Commonwealth Ave.

Freeport -

"Everybody loves us in principle but not in locations," Scott said that these young people had been trying very hard to get any house, and the feeling was that if they did not get this house they couldn't get any other.

The reaction of prospective neighbors is divided, Scott declared, but "there is considerable support in that neighborhood."

A purchase and sales agreement has been signed by the foundation, and a down payment has been made on the house, although some neighbors have expressed opposition.

Miss Humphrey's plea was the second made to the PTA Council by Freeport in this school year. Last November, the Council had offered its backing "in principle."

Miss Humphrey's mother, Mrs. James Humphrey, 180 Hunnewell Ave., Newton, told about the reaction many people have had to the idea. "When you say 'youngsters,' people think of everything from sex to drugs. Freeport would be for youngsters with minor emotional family trouble.

"It would be a place for them to live for a matter of weeks to a couple of months until the family situation had eased. It has nothing to do with youngsters who have been in trouble or who have problems with drugs or anything serious. This is for moderately troubled young people, and this is very difficult to get across.

"This is on the psychological level, not the depth of the psychiatric level at all. The moderation of it is one of the most difficult things to explain, and Newton offers nothing in this field — nothing."

According to Miss Humphrey, the selection of a house parent will be made shortly. The choice will be made from a wide range of people who have applied — from graduate students in psychology and theology to a couple in their mid 50's who have been missionaries in Africa."

Miss Humphrey is a Newton High School junior. Last year she won the first Wendell R. Bauckman award for citizenship because of her participation in "Operation Awareness," a church-sponsored housing project in Boston.

Robert Casselman resigned his position as a member of the Newton Redevelopment Authority this week, according to Mayor Monte G. Bassas.

Casselman wants to devote all his efforts to the Newton Community Development Foundation, a church-based group working to construct 500 units of low and moderate income housing on 10 scattered sites in the city, the Mayor reported. Casselman is President of the Foundation.

Casselman has been a member of the Redevelopment Authority since its inception about five and a half years ago.

Democratic City Committee Meeting Set For March 18

The Newton City Democratic Committee will meet next on Wednesday, March 18, at Grace Episcopal Church at 8:15 P.M. to hear candidates for Congress speak on the #### Change -

rently vacant land, Charles Downe, planning consultant for the Authority said.

The second petition sought a zone change from Single Residence B to Limited Manufacturing on 293,010 square feet of land on Moulton St. In this area offices, research facilities and limited manufacturing would be constructed.

The Authority presented no plans for the development of the area along with the petitions. However, chairman Mario DiCarlo reported that 15 developers have requested plans of the area. "We have since heard from a number of them and are giving each serious consideration," he stated.

One of the reasons the matter was held by the Aldermanic Land Use Committee was a desire to view plans prior to the rezoning.

Martin Roach of 666 Washington St. who owned about 88 per cent of the redevelopment project land, opposed the first petition calling the proposal "a waste of valuable land and everyone's money."

"Backing houses up against office buildings doesn't make any sense at all," Roach said. He expressed the opinion that the land slated for house lots ought to be developed for business.

Downe responded by stating that the property at the upper end of Moulton St., where the house lots would be located, has an unusual shape and wouldn't lend itself to intensive development. He also pointed out that homes in this area would finish off that end of Moulton St. and would be in concert with the rest of the neighborhood which has a 8th.

Roach also maintained that it doesn't make sense to take the home of Stanley Colantuono on Moulton St. and then agree to let the family live there free for the rest of their lives.

Questions were also asked by Alderman Louis I. Egelson and Land Use Committee Chairman Alan Barkin regarding an agreement between the Colantuono and the Authority giving the family the right to remain in their home.

Egelson wanted to know from DiCarlo why, since the promise to the Colantuono was made in November, an agreement has not yet been drawn up.

DiCarlo claimed that every time the attorneys get together there is neighborhood interference which prevents finalizing the matter.

Hugh Arece of 602 Grove St., speaking for the Newton Lower Falls Renewal Study Committee, reported that his group favors the rezoning proposals with the understanding that the Authority resolve the Colantuono matter to the family's "complete satisfaction."

John Young of 2313 Washington St. declared that the committees of residents in the area voted that the Colantuono property be deeded back to them.

Roach, in referring to the petition for the office development, said that three of the developers who are now seeking the land from him prior to the urban renewal proposals, "This could have been done at no cost to the city," he argued.

Roach said he may take the matter to court. He claims he was offered $4 a foot for a plot of land. The Redevelopment Authority paid him 50 cents a foot at their gas station at Boylston and Ramsell Sts. in Newton Highlands.

Girl Scouts In Record Sale Of Cookies in Area

Overwhelming public response to the cookie campaign conducted by Bay Path Colonial Girl Scout Council has resulted in another record for sales in 29 suburban communities.

Mrs. George C. Langdon of Marlboro, Chairman of the Cookie Sale Committee, announces that home deliveries begin this week. The eighth annual door-to-door campaign will end on March 19.

A total of 282,216 boxes of Educator Biscuit Company's cookies was sold. Of this, troops sold 25,548 boxes of the five varieties in Newton.

With this income the Council fully intends to continue its long-range camp rebuilding program so that the needs of more than 2500 campers can be met.

Further, each troop receives five cents per box for its treasury which can mean many exciting extra-curricular trips and tours to historic shrines and educational sites.

Scott Ramsey, 10, of 34 Vandam Path (left) won first place in the Class D 25-yr. backstroke, and 4th place in the 100-yr. individual medley. Mike Feldstein, 8, of 35 Indian Ridge rd. (right), captured 3rd place in the 8-nd- under 25-yr. freestyle. Both swimmers will now compete in the coveted New England championships set for the Coast Guard Academy pool, New London, Conn. on Saturday, March 21. (Photo by Don Young)

Newton High Sports Teams Doing Well On All Fronts

By JEFF GROSSMAN

After two sports seasons, hockey team featured a fine defense which helped improve the team from a 1-9-4 showing to an 8-6-2 record.

The consistently good sports continued to do well. The gymnasts won the Suburban title and finished at 8-3 overall.

Last year, which was Newton's best in recent years, NHS clubs were only .549 at this stage having won 45, losing 37 and tying five. Of course the fantastic spring (the golf team was State Champion, the baseball team was EMass champs, the tennis and track team finished fourth in the State and the independent lacrosse squad won ten and lost five) helped the final year's total to .698.

Including in last spring's success besides a State Championship and an Eastern Mass. crown were four of four possible league crowns. The spring teams won 54 and lost 12 for an .812 record.

If Newton's spring teams finish nearly as strongly as last year, it should be quite a spring.

Included in this year's accomplishments so far are three league titles, two second place finishes and a third and fourth place ranking.

The cross country, soccer and football team put together a fine fall season. They won 26 while dropping only four. The soccer team stood out by winning the Suburban Title and advancing to the semi finals of the state Tourney before bowing to New Bedford 3 to 2.

The football team tied with Arlington for the league crown with an 8-1 overall record. The harriers finished second at 7-1 behind Class A champion Brockton in the Suburban League.

The winter season saw upgrading of every sport over last winter. The hockey and basketball teams improved noticeably with the basketball team jumping from a 4-14 slate to a 10-8 record. The Fawson will captain the team.

Newton North Mann Favored Little League House K.O. Of Banquet Wed. Insurance Bill.

Rep. Theodore D. Mann today stated that the House of Representatives showed good judgement in rejecting the latest proposal to come before it on the subject of motor vehicle insurance. Mann had previously contacted all of his colleagues in the legislature advising them of the bill's unfavorable features. The proposal sponsored by several members of the Insurance Commission was subsequently defeated by an overwhelming vote.

Rep. Mann stated that "While I am certain that this proposal was an attempt to do something about the problem of automobile insurance, it was my opinion that what it proposed would have brought about confusion, financial ruin for some, improper protection for others and finally it would not have given us the long term solution we need to check the spiraling insurance costs."

Mann pointed out that "We cannot reduce insurance costs without attacking basic costs of repairs, hospital and medical costs, highway safety, open competition and other aspects of a very difficult and complex problem."

"I am confident," Mann concluded that an adequate program will be worked out and I urge the Commission to continue its review and to develop a program that will produce long range relief for our motorists rather than temporary stop-gaps."

Newton Gymnasts

5th In State Tour

By JEFF GROSSMAN

The Newton High Gymnastics team concluded fifth in the State Team Meet held last Saturday night, always a dominant figure in State Meet coming Lexington easily, 106.20 to 100.00.

Springfield Technical, led by fell to sixth. Individual State All-Around Champion Sal Scuderi was a distant third with 91.15. Framingham North finished fourth with 84.60 points while Newton compiled 81.20 points. Wakefield rounded out the six team field with 79.80.

Six teams were chosen by the Massachusetts State Gymnasts Coaches Association to participate in this meet. Trophies were awarded to the top five teams. Last year the Newton gymnasts were fourth.

Coach George Jessup commented that, "we had a lot of 'ifs' going into this meet and they just didn't go in our direction. It's too bad we ended this way because it was an otherwise fine season, particularly considering we had very little experience returning. Still, the veteran mentor remarked, 'fifth best in the whole state isn't bad.'"

The judges were extremely difficult markers, as indicated by the scores. In a meet earlier in the year Lexington compiled over 112 points versus Newton.

The Tigers broke the 100 mark twice in the past two weeks before Saturday's action.

In four of the six events Newton finished fifth on total team scores while once managed a fourth and once

Fun Fair At Emerson Set For Mar. 14

Contests, games, prizes and refreshments are the special fare in store for all children attending the Emerson School Fun Fair on March 14. This will be the third annual Fair sponsored by the P.T.A. and the children have been looking forward to it again this year.

With ten booths, a cotton candy machine, a pop corn machine, and other exciting offerings, this promises to be the best yet. The Fair will run from 11 a.m. to 3 p.m. on Saturday, March 14, and is open to all.

On Monday evening, March 9, the P.T.A. sponsored a program of Student Demonstrations of Educational Equipment in Use at the Emerson School. Following the demonstrations a general meeting was held and refreshments served.

Samuel B. Feinberg of 24 Lockwood Rd., West Newton, attended the Father-Daughter weekend at Skidmore College with his daughter Jeri, last Friday through Sunday. The weekend program included open house events in residence halls and academic department as well as panel discussions and recreational events.

Ann L. DeWolfe, Realtor, Opens New Norwood Office

Mrs. Ann L. DeWolfe, of Milton, announced that she has taken over the Real Estate business of Mrs. Mary R. Bateman, popular Norwood Realtor, with offices at 12 Vernon Street, Norwood.

This office will serve the communities of Canton, Dedham, Norwood, Walpole, and Westwood. Mrs. Bateman will continue in the company and will divide her time between both the Milton and Norwood offices.

Mrs. DeWolfe, well known in the Boston and Milton area, is a past president of the Brokers' Institute of the Greater Boston Real Estate Board, past president of the local (I&M) council of Realtors, presently State Director and Vice President of GBREB, member of state, national and international association of Realtors. She is also a member of both the Greater Boston and the Quincy - South Shore Multiple Listing Services.

Associated with the Norwood Office, in addition to Mrs. Bateman, will be Mrs. Mary Blair of Canton, Mrs. Judith Hart of Walpole, and Mr. Frank Fahney, formerly of Dedham, and Mr. R. T. Eldridge of Milton. All have much experience in the local real estate profession.

Retirement For Newton

After a quarter century in the Newton public school system, two prominent educators will retire this year.

Letters of retirement by Dr. Edward Landy, assistant superintendent for pupil personnel services and staff education, and from James Remley, supervisor of music, were read at the March 9 meeting of the School Committee.

The committee voted unanimously to communicate to these men the gratitude of the School Department for great contributions they have made to education and the community.

Also accepted with regret was the resignation of Mrs. Elizabeth C. Peterson who will retire after nearly 18 years of service in Newton as a consulting teacher in the elementary schools.

Supt. Aaron Fink described Dr. Landy's long distinguished career in education and his national reputation in the fields of guidance, pupil personnel services and vocational guidance.

Dr. Landy started his work in Newton in 1947. During the ensuing 23 years, he has created the Division of Pupil Personnel Services and Special Education.

Remley became a music instructor at Newton High School in 1937. Later he taught at Indiana State Teachers College, returning to Newton as supervisor of music in 1941 and has thus served to the present date.

He has been a guest conductor at several educational and civic music festivals. Author of several articles in professional magazines, he has also been active in the Newton Men Teachers Association and served as its president.

Mrs. Peterson, prior to becoming a consulting teacher, had taught at Hyde and Spaulding kindergartens, testing and guidance, and home instruction. She is a member of local, state and national professional associations and a member of several kindergarten study committees, as well as a writer for "Kinder-garten Pre-Reading Guide."

GOP Study of Campaign Techniques to Be Monday

Massachusetts Republicans, will be led by key officers of as part of their plan to obtain more equitable two-party community involvement, representation from this led by Mrs. Morgan S. Campbell, will consider the following subjects: Housing, presented by Marc Slotnick of the Newton Community Development Foundation, Inc.; Drugs; and Environment. Other topics to be discussed are Women's Rights and Responsibilities, led by Mrs. James W. Blackham, Jr., a member of President Nixon's Task Force concerned with this subject; Publicity and Public Relations, Mrs. John W. Baldwin; and Membership.

On Monday (March 16) Republicans from the central part of the state, which includes Newton, will meet with key officials of the Massachusetts Federation of Republican Women and the England artists will be represented in this showing of paintings, etchings, graphics in oils, watercolors and other media as well as sculpture.

The meeting, which will take place at the Framingham Motor Inn on Route 9 in Framingham, will be hosted by the Framingham Women's Republican Club. It is divided into two sessions, starting at 3:30 p.m. The first, moderated by M.F.R.W. President Mrs. Robert R. Amesbury, considers the woman's role primarily, and Social Hour and dinner follow. During dinner there will be a short movie depicting the "Action Now" centers which the Republican Party is establishing throughout the state.

After dinner, there will be a seminar on political organization at the precinct level, starting at 7 p.m., beamed particularly at Republican City and Town Committees. This will be led by Lee Dary, Executive Director of the Republican State Committee, Mrs. Alan Qua, Campaign Activities Chairman of the Massachusetts Federation of Republican Women, and Mary Ann Brenton.

These meetings are open to all who wish to become active in promoting Republican victories in 1970. Those wishing to attend, please contact Mrs. Rene J. Marcou, President of the Newton Republican Club, before tomorrow. (March 13).

Cancels Open Redevelopment Sessions Here

The open meeting of the Newton Redevelopment Authority, which was scheduled for 8:30 a.m. on Monday (March 9), became a closed session when several of the Redvelopment Authority board members left.

Mario DiCarlo, Authority Chairman, said they had appointments elsewhere.

Members began their meeting at 7:30 a.m. in closed session to discuss which of four developers who have submitted plans, shall be chosen for the Lower Falls state-aided urban renewal program. Chairman DeCarlo stated that the reason why the members were unable to reach agreement was because of different problems, but he did not specify these except to say that tight money was a factor.

After the meeting, one member was quoted as saying that the board met on Saturday and Sunday, as well as Monday, in an attempt to select the developer.

According to Chairman DiCarlo, another session will be scheduled.

Youth Foundation Plans To Hold Meeting Mar. 17

The Newton Youth Foundation (NYF) will hold a meeting next Tuesday evening (March 17), at 8 p.m., at the First Unitarian Society, 1326 Washington Street, West Newton.

The group has also supported the Freeport Foundation, an independent project founded by a group of Newton High School students.

In December, a core group incorporated under the name, Newton Youth Foundation (NYF), in order to achieve greater flexibility in administering programs and in raising funds. Officers elected were: Richard Weisman, President; Mrs. Marion Kaufman, Vice President; the Rev. David Parachini, Treasurer; and Executive Director; and Miss Dorothea Dohrmann, Secretary.

From this beginning, the Hot Line was established, which is now being answered seven days a week. Another project is Suun Cuique, a West Newton store and workroom.

Recruiting efforts continue to be focused on the churches and temples in Newton, as well as to make the NYF truly non-denominational, non-political and city-wide.

Membership is open to any and all interested citizens, and all are urgently invited to attend the March 17th meeting. For information, call David Parachini (244-3221) or Axel Kaufmann (336-7750) (days), 244-3883 (evenings).

Lourdes Parish Ladies Sodality Meets March 16

The Ladies' Sodality of Mary Immaculate of Lourdes Parish, Newton Upper Falls, will hold their regular monthly meeting on Monday March 16th, at 7:30 o'clock.

Mass and Communion in the lower church will precede the meeting in St. Elizabeth's Center, followed by an informal whisky party. There will be no admission charge. Each person should bring a small gift. Refreshments will be served by Mrs. Ellen Sullivan and her committee.

Recruiting efforts continue to be focused on the churches and temples in Newton, as well as to make the NYF truly non-denominational, non-political and city-wide.

St. Patrick's Party Set For Night of 17th

St. Patrick's Day will be properly recognized and observed at Our Lady's Parish in Newton. Plans are well underway for an Irish Cabaret to be held in Our Lady's Auditorium on the evening of the 17th of March, starting at 8 p.m.

True to the Irish tradition of hospitality and geniality, an appetizing buffet will be served starting at about nine o'clock. Music throughout the evening will be provided by the popular and well-known Mike Belson and his orchestra, with entertainment galore provided by local and imported talent under the direction of Mrs. Winifred Donahue.

Tickets for Our Lady's Old-Fashioned Irish Night can be obtained by contacting Mrs. Charles O'Brien - 244-2272, Bob Cronin - 244-5295 and Tom Giusi - 244-2202, or by contacting Our Lady's Rectory.

A thousand welcomes to all and a cordial invitation to join in the fun.

Social Change To Be Speaker's Theme Mar. 18

On March 18 Professor Samuel Bowles, Harvard economist, will confront a broadly based Newton audience with provocative economic proposals for social change in America.

Prof. Bowles is a spokesman for the New Economics which has reached national focus through the work of the Union for Radical Political Economists. The URPE are economists who leave the sanctuary of the academy and challenge time honored economic suppositions as being basic aspects of America's current social ills.

Prof. Bowles defines the conflict: by remaining loyal to our traditional economic system, we face continuation of inequality, inadequate education, deterioration in the capacity of our environment to provide a worthwhile life.

Prof. Bowles' address is another in the current series of public meetings sponsored by the Newton Community Peace Center as an educational service to the public in the area of war/peace issues.

The March 18 meeting, scheduled for 8 p.m. at the Eliot Church of Newton, 474 Centre St., Newton Corner, is open to the public free of charge. Members of Newton civic, educational, peace and political organizations are expected to attend.

Prof. Bowles will attempt to outline the reasons why our economic systems are incapable of dealing with our social problems — and will propose new economic directions from his expertise in the economics of human resources.

Safety Award Is Given By Newton Construction Co.

Bernardo Di Paolo, 107 Pearl Street, Newton, a laborer foreman for Franchi Construction Company, has been awarded a prize in the company's newly instituted safety program for supervisory personnel.

Di Paolo supervises laborers working on the construction of the new Army hospital at Ft. Devens in Ayer. Di Paolo and six other foremen operated more than 7,600 hours without a lost time accident during the month.

The safety program established this year by Franchi Construction Company has a three fold aim: reduction of human suffering that results from an accident; reducing the financial burden which the family suffers when the wage-earner is off the job and promotion of greater job security for employees. Safety awards will be presented to supervisors on a monthly, semi-annual and annual basis.

A special monthly award is given to the company project which holds the best safety record. This month the award was won by the Franchi Construction company team working on the Northern Essex Community College in Haverhill.

Carol Talkov, daughter of Dr. and Mrs. Robert Talkov of 86 Clements Rd., Newton, will be among a group of Centenary College students to take a one-credit theater course during spring vacation in London. The group will accompany John Babington, chairman of theater arts and his wife, order librarian.

What is Christian Science?

It is a religion based on the words and works of Christ Jesus. It has helped many like you to prove in a measure the meaning of Christ Jesus' promise:

"He that believeth on me, the works that I do shall he do also." It shows the scientific basis of Christianity and how to avail yourself of the laws of God in everyday life.

If you would like to learn more about Christian Science, you are welcome to come to our Reading Room and to read this week's Bible Lesson.

Rep. Fishman Is Speaker At Newton PTA Council Meeting

At a recent meeting of the Newton PTA Council held at the Mason-Rice School, Rep. Irving Fishman discussed state aid to public, private and parochial schools.

Fishman, newly-appointed chairman of the Council's legislative committee, presented certain pending legislation pertaining to state assumption of school costs, one group of bills dealing with aid to public schools, the other concerning aid to private and parochial schools.

In the category of public schools are bills which would require the state to assume costs of the operation of parochial schools in Massachusetts, and bills requiring assumption of the public school construction cost only.

Fishman explained that such legislation would tend to make all education in the state uniform and eliminate the disparity and inequities which now occur between neighboring communities. Furthermore, monies to pay for this state aid would have to come from the cities and towns themselves, and that in Newton more money would be taken out in taxes than we could expect to get back in payment. Thus we in Newton must consider carefully where we stand in relation to such proposals.

The bills concerning aid to private and parochial schools fall into three groups: state to pay salaries of certain teachers in parochial schools (those teaching non-religious subjects); state to pay tuition of pupils attending private schools; and state to pay for purchase of private school buildings for public school purposes.

Fishman cited the latter group of bills, which are supported by the Mass. Association of School Committees, to be the least controversial, stating that the need for school buildings could be alleviated effectively and economically in this way. The problem of space will become more acute if more parochial schools are forced to close or to limit themselves. These buildings would then be available for purchase in order that the public school system could accommodate the former parochial school students.

Fishman stated that in the light of this problem, the question of state aid to parochial schools vs. the absorption of large numbers of students is one that should be carefully considered.

A lively discussion followed when Council President Peter

Peter Finsen In Coll. Art Event

Peter I. Finsen, son of Mr. and Mrs. Irving Finsen of 11 Sheffield Rd. Newtonville, a junior psychology and art history major at Lake Forest College, displayed two pieces of sculpture at the second annual student art exhibit at the Illinois school.

Finsen, a graduate of Newton High School, contributed a colored sheet plastic sculpture and black and white sculpture using ready-made objects such as spice bottles and stones. The multi-media exhibit was composed of 100 works ranging from metal and plastic sculpture, "light boxes" programmed to sound, wire sculptures and abstract oils to the more primitive paper and clay.

Police Course For O'Halloran

School Traffic Change Planned

A favorable report has been made by the district office of the State Public Works on establishing an official school zone at the Williams School on Grove street in Auburndale.

Mayor Monte G. Basbas, who requested the creation of the zone in February of this year. District Highway Engineer C. F. Mistretta has informed Mayor Basbas that the area apparently fulfills the requirements set by State law for school zones. Definitive action on the matter will be taken by the main office of the State Department of Public Works.

Women Voters' Discussion Units To Feature Housing

Further means to increase the supply of housing for people of low and moderate income will be the subject of discussion units to be presented by the Human Resources Committee of the League of Women Voters of Newton, March 18, 19, and 20.

At a set of units held March 4, 5, and 6, participants discussed the critical housing shortage in the country and in Newton for low and moderate income families.

At the coming set of units discussion will be focused on the structure of the Newton Housing Authority, the Concentrated Code Enforcement Program in Newton Upper Falls and proposed state legislation regarding housing.

During the second half of the unit meetings, the League subcommittee on employment will discuss ways the League of Women Voters of Newton is working to implement their position to promote equality of opportunity in employment in Newton.

The following members of the Human Resources Committee of the League of Women Voters of Newton will present material at unit meetings: Mrs. Charles Bates, Mrs. John Bliss, Mrs. Frederick Cardini, Mrs. William Curby, Mrs. Alan Edmond, Mrs. Irwin Herrnstadt, Mrs. Raymond Locke, Mrs. Gordon Martin, Mrs. Marvin Sparrow, Mrs. Robert Starbuck, Mrs. William U.S. Strong, Mrs. Irwin Wenger, and Mrs. Charles Willis.

The Gourmet Adventures of THE HIGHLANDS

Are you still searching for a delicious, light dessert that's also low in calories? Search no more! Here's a fresh fruit gelatin pie you'll adore. Begin with your favorite pie crust. Bake and let it cool. Make fruit flavored gelatin while the crust is baking. You're going to use or use mixed fruit flavor gelatin. Let it jell partially. Cover the cooled crust with well-drained fruit, pour on the gelatin and refrigerate until firm. Just before serving, cover with a low-cal whipped topping and voila! A gourmet's delight!

Search no further. For a restaurant that satisfies even the most discriminating of diners come to THE HIGHLANDS RESTAURANT, 1114 Beacon Street, Newton, 332-4400. Fine Foods . . . ## Sunday Services At 1st Church of Christ Scientist

The public is invited to attend the Sunday Services at the Workshop on Columbus street in the Highlands on Wed. March 18th. A book review will feature the program.

The dessert and social hour will be held at 1 o'clock; the business meeting at 1:45, to be followed by the afternoon's program.

Mrs. Natalie Sostilio is chairman of hostesses, assist. Scriptures as follows: read by Mrs. George S. Harlan, "Substance is that which is eternal and incapable of discord and decay," (p. 468).

The speaker will be Mrs. Thomas S. Rudkin who will present comments on the Lesson-Sermon from Matthew: "No man can serve two masters: for either he will hate the one, and love the other; or else he will hold to the one, and despise the other. Ye cannot serve God and mammon."

Readings from Science and Health include the following from the Christian Science textbook: "Absorbed in material selfhood we discern and reflect but faintly the substance of Life or Mind. The denial of material selfhood aids the discernment of man's spiritual and eternal individuality and destroys the erroneous knowledge gained from matter or through what are termed the material senses." (p. 91).

plans to complete are the construction of a new Newton High School and a new F. A. Day Junior High School.

The State Emergency Finance Board notified the Mayors yesterday that it had approved an expenditure of $5,220,000 for the construction of the new Day Junior High. This is $1 Million more than was originally estimated.

Bids for the construction of the new Newton High School will be opened on Thursday of next week.

On the basis of the bids, which were opened on Tuesday, it appears that the cost of building the new high school will be somewhere between $19 and $19.5 Million instead of the $16.5 Million estimated for the job.

So Mr. Babash will concentrate on his duties as Mayor and reject suggestions that he run for Congress.

Newton Library Friends Promote Essay Contest

That very appealing giraffe hanging around in Newton is the property of the Friends of the Newton Free Library, schools and libraries this month isn't eating books developing a new natural leaves yet. He's nibbling away for the Children's Museum to encourage Newton students to enter the essay contest.

Another great interest is "Twelve Books I would Like to Own and Why."

The giraffe belongs to Mrs. Paradise of West Newton, who was commissioned by Friends of the Newton Free Library to Project, Inc., and explained a flier explaining the experimental community art sponsoring. As she considered a design that would be attractive, Muffy remembered a drawing of a giraffe made by her son Peter one day when he and some other seven-year olds were sketching at the dining room table. Saved for three years, that giraffe became the focal point for the essay contest flier.

Norwich Cadet, Dean's Lister, Gets Sgt. Rank

Dale MacKinnon, son of Mr. and Mrs. Daniel MacKinnon, 15 Charles St., Newton Highlands, earned Dean's list grades at Norwich University during the first semester of the 1969-70 college year.

To qualify for the Dean's List at the Vermont military college, a student must attain an academic quality-point average of at least 3.0, the equivalent of a "B" grade in all subjects.

In addition to being named to the Dean's List, Cadet MacKinnon was promoted to the rank of staff sergeant in the Corps of Cadets.

To receive rank as a commissioned or non-commissioned officer in the Corps of Cadets at Norwich, a cadet must be proficient in academic and military subjects and must have demonstrated exemplary qualities of leadership.

Student To Produce Film About Murray Road School

What is the Murray Road School? What are classes at Murray Road like? What do the students think of Murray Road?

Larry Levy, a Murray Road Junior, hopes to answer these and other questions in a documentary film he is making about the experimental annex to Newton High School. In the film, Larry will show classes, general meetings, (meetings of the whole school), and other everyday activities of students and teachers. Larry's aim in this film, to be shot in color super-8 and loosely coupled with a sound track made up of, for example, students reading their own evaluation of their classes, and tapes of the classes themselves, is to give

$23,000 And Its Use Sets Off Barkin-Freedman Hass

Alderman Alan S. Barkin of Ward 8 sparked a controversy with Newton Charter Commission members last week by suggesting that the commission specify how it plans to use $23,000 it is seeking from the city.

Barkin's remarks on the matter triggered a reaction from Commissioner Haskell C. Freedman who said the recommendation was "ridiculous." Freedman said, "That's blackmail. Put that in the paper."

Barkin said the commission should inform the aldermen in "what general areas" the money will be spent.

He said, "You should be able to do this. It's not a gigantic job. He also wanted to know what changes in government the commission is contemplating.

Barkin said he did not think a consultant, who would receive a major portion of the funds requested, was needed for most of the commission's work. He said the commission needed "advice."

Freedman argued, "The citizens of Newton overwhelmingly voted for the Charter Commission. Alderman Barkin wants to know what we're going to do. The law does not require us to first tell the board as a condition precedent to getting money."

Several of the other commissioners agreed with Freedman.

Referring to the fact that the Board of Aldermen had overturned its Finance Committee's unanimous approval of the money and voted to hold the matter for two weeks, the commissioners charged the board was trying to influence the work of the commission.

Some of the nine commissioners had discussed the possibility of reducing the size of the board from 24 to 16 aldermen.

Barkin said, "We have a responsibility not to the Charter Commission primarily but to Newton. We are faced with a $15 tax rate increase. We have a responsibility to know where the commission is going to spend its money."

Following a shouting match between Barkin and Freedman, the alderman said he is only one member of the board and could have little influence on the entire board. Barkin also noted that he favors change, pointing out that he sponsored a resolution calling for a special election to fill a vacant seat on the board. Vacancies traditionally have been filled by appointments.

Barkin also urged the commission not to reduce the size of the board.

Commissioner Alvin Mandell said that hiring a consultant would not be an expensive outlay but a tremendous help."

Alderman Harry H. Crosby said a consultant should handle "the nitty-gritty" but that he envisioned the commission "saving the City of Newton $500,000 a year. We elected you for your judgment and directing ability."

The commissioners then discussed the possibility of increasing the powers of the Board of Aldermen, increasing the mayor's budget recommendations and appropriating sums to handle its own needs.

Joins Baptist Home Family In Chestnut Hill

Mrs. Lyla Spears of Norwood avenue, Newton Centre, a member of the First Baptist Church in Newton, for more than thirty years, has joined the family of the Baptist Home of Massachusetts, Commonwealth avenue, Chestnut Hill.

The Home, now in its 79th year, is one of the oldest and largest of its kind in the Bay State.

Born in Scotland, she has been a long-time resident of Newton. Her husband, T. Murray Spears, who died some years ago, was the wholesale manager for Carbone, Inc. of Boston.

She has been an active member of the Church Circle of the Woman's Union of the Church.

When she was a teenager, the family lived in Dorchester, and she is a graduate of the Dorchester High School.

Problem of Abused Child Theme of Friday Meeting

In the process of establishing an organization of Friends of the Parent's Center, Mrs. Bernard Cole, of Newton, will be hostess at her home to a group tomorrow, March 13th at 10 a.m. at the third in a series of medical and Social World lectures being given in the suburban areas.

Dr. Rudolf Toch of Milton will speak first on the "Medical Aspects of the Abused Child." Dr. Toch is an Instructor in Pediatrics at the Harvard Medical School, an Associate Physician on the Children's Service at the Mass. General Hospital. Formerly an Associate Physician at Children's Hospital Medical Center in Cancer Research, and in private practice in his home community in Milton, he is also a consultant to many neighboring Hospitals, plus Milton Academy.

Miss Shirley Bean will follow and tell of the work being done at the Parents Center. She is a social worker at the Parents and Children's Services of the Children's Hospital and the co-ordinator of the Parents Center.

The Parents Center, in workers.

The key to the center's program is early intervention into a problem situation before extensive physical or emotional harm comes to the child.

The following services are provided in this program. 1. Supervised day-time care for youngsters 6 mo. to 3 years. 2. Professional counselling for parents, designed to provide an opportunity to share common problems and discuss solutions. 3. Routine care by a pediatrician. 4. A Training research center for pediatrics, nurses, and child care workers.

Rotary Club Is Seeking Scholarship Candidates

The Rotary Club of Newton is seeking young people in this study grants have totaled $10,000.

This year, according to President Davis, the Foundation is providing $1,190,000 to 51 young men and women.

There are three types of educational awards offered by the Foundation: Graduate Fellowships, for students who have a Bachelor's Degree or equivalent; Undergraduate Scholarships, for students

MURDER CHARGE LODGED AGAINST AIRLINER GUNMAN

A MURDER CHARGE was lodged Wednesday against a gunman who killed the co-pilot and wounded the pilot in a cockpit struggle while trying to divert eastward to sea a jetliner carrying 68 passengers. The alleged gunman, John J. DiVivo, 27, also was wounded in the wild burst of gunfire that erupted after he said he didn't have the $21 to pay for his ticket on the Eastern Airlines shuttle flight Tuesday night from Newark, N.J., to Boston. The pilot, Capt. Robert W. Wilbur Jr., 35, of Fair Lawn, N.J., was wounded in both arms but held DiVivo at bay while wrestling the DC9 to a safe landing at Logan International Airport. Co-pilot Capt. James E. Hartley, 31, of Fort Lee, N.J., was dead at Wilbur's side in the bloody cockpit. Passengers were apprehensive, but calm. Eastern Airlines said DiVivo ordered the captain to turn the aircraft east and Wilbur asked Logan Tower for permission to leave its approach pattern. Capt. Wilbur said that when he banked the aircraft for the turn, DiVivo appeared surprised and began firing his weapon. Sgt. Ed Gillis of the state police said Capt. Wilbur could not recall whether he or Hartley was shot first, but he did remember Hartley grappling with DiVivo for the gun, taking the gun from DiVivo and shooting DiVivo twice. Eastern said Wilbur reported DiVivo "appeared to be talking rationally" when he entered the cabin, but state police said he was "incoherent and mumbling" when he was taken into custody. Jonathan Rinehart, vice president in charge of public relations for Eastern said the airline normally uses metal detection devices on passengers for flights other than shuttles. "We are looking drastically at extending our present precautions," he said.

REFUSE TO RECONSIDER CHALLENGE TO UNDECLARED WAR

THE MASSACHUSETTS HOUSE Wednesday refused to reconsider its decision to challenge the President's authority to conduct undeclared wars. On a 128-90 roll call vote, the House rejected efforts to reopen debate on already approved legislation that prohibits the federal government from sending Massachusetts servicemen to fight in wars conducted in the absence of a Congressional declaration of war. The action upheld Monday's 132-89 roll call vote that passed the bill. The legislation now goes to the Senate, which was expected to take up the bill Monday. Senate Pres. Maurice A. Donahue, D-Holyoke, has pledged support of the legislation which proponents hope will force the U.S. Supreme Court to rule on the constitutionality of the Vietnam War. Proponents believe the Vietnam was an overextension of the President's emergency powers as Commander in Chief, and cannot be legal without a formal declaration of war by Congress.

STUDENTS SEIZE B.C. BUILDING IN ENROLLMENT DEMAND

MORE THAN A DOZEN students—blacks and whites—seized the main administration building at Boston College Wednesday in a demand for increased black enrollment. The students, repeating demands first voiced last month by the BC Black Forum, locked all doors to Gasson Hall and hung signs from a couple of windows urging 10 per cent of the next freshman class be black. There are about 150 blacks among B.C.'s 10,000 students. At mid-morning, more than two hours after the takeover, 30 white students marched to Bopol House to protest the seizure to Very Rev. W. Seavey Joyce, S.F., college president. They threatened to "clean out" the dissidents. The college president, who was meeting with two blacks about the incident, said no violence would be condoned by either side.

FEDERAL JUDGE ORDERS N.Y. POSTAL WORKERS BACK

A FEDERAL COURT JUDGE ordered postal employees back to work Wednesday within hours after they began an unprecedented strike that paralyzed mails in New York city and some parts of New Jersey and Connecticut. Acting under federal statute that outlaws strikes by public employees, Judge Inzer B. Wyatt said he assumed his temporary injunction against the National Association of Letter Carriers would be obeyed since the walkout was illegal. Union President Gus Johnson said he wasn't sure whether the union membership would return to work under the restraining order which is effective for 10 days. "If it is necessary to go to jail, I will," he declared. The mailmen, who seek wage hikes and other benefits, face discharge and criminal prosecution with a maximum penalty of $1,000 fine and a year in jail if they continue the walkout.

The World

CAMBODIAN RIGHTWING FOES OUST PRINCE SIHANOUK

RIGHTWING OPPONENTS deposed Cambodia's neutralist chief of state, Prince Norodom Sihanouk, Wednesday while he was away in Moscow. Sihanouk said he would form a government-in-exile in Moscow or Peking if the Soviets or Chinese do not recognize the new regime. Official Phnom Penh radio in Cambodia announced the National Assembly had ousted Sihanouk, blaming him for the "political crisis" created by the presence of at least 40,000 North Vietnamese and Viet Cong in the nation. As tanks and troops reportedly guarded key buildings in the Cambodian capital, the assembly announced appointment of Cheng Heng, 50, a lawyer and National Assembly speaker to replace the 47-year-old Sihanouk provisionally. In Moscow, Sihanouk delivered a warning, which he said had been given to him by Soviet Premier Alexi Kosygin, that the takeover by rightists in Cambodia would result in a war between that country and North Vietnam.

INCREASED VIETNAM FIGHTING BOOSTS CASUALTIES

INCREASED FIGHTING in South Vietnam boosted casualties on both sides last week, particularly among South Vietnamese and Communist forces, U.S. military sources in Saigon said Wednesday. The official report on war casualties last week will be issued today by the U.S. military command, spokesman said. The sources said Wednesday it will show the highest South Vietnamese losses in nearly four months and the largest Communist toll in one month. They said the number of Americans killed last week was 100, also up slightly from the toll of 88 dead during the previous week, ended March 7.

Daniels Is Sworn In

Donald L. Daniels of Waban is sworn in by Mayor Basbas as a member of the Newton Redevelopment Authority. Daniels is a founder and past president of Temple Shalom, a former chairman of the Lower Falls Civic Committee, and past chairman of Newton Chapter, American Veterans Committee.

Fitzpatrick Resigns

Another NRA Post Now Vacated Here

The resignation of James Fitzpatrick as a member of the Newton Redevelopment Authority was announced at a press conference on Tuesday by Mayor Monte G. Basbas. This resignation is the second to come in a few weeks. Robert Casselman recently resigned from the Authority so that he could devote more effort to the Newton Community Development Foundation.

In addition, Donald Daniels was named recently to the Authority to fill the vacancy created by the death several

Prof. Huber To Replace Father Drinan At B.C.

Prof. Richard G. Huber of Waban, a member of the faculty since 1957, has been named Acting Dean of Boston College Law School.

Announcement of the appointment, which fills the vacancy left by Rev. Robert F. Drinan, S.J., who is on leave of absence, was made by Rev. W. Seavey Joyce, S.J., president of Boston College.

Will Villages Vote To Pick Aldermen?

The Newton Charter Commission is exploring the possibility of using village representation in electing the Board of Aldermen.

The village concept was broached last week by Alderman Louis I. Egelson who said there could be one alderman elected from each of the city's villages.

Egelson made the suggestion at a Charter Commission meeting and it was seconded by commission member Richard G. Mintz who said that village districts could be established.

Alan W. Licarie, executive secretary of the Election Commission, has said there are certain inherent problems about switching to the village concept. He said there are technical problems including a possible dispute over how many villages there are in Newton.

Egelson cited the city's 12 villages. Licarie said some say there are 14 and others say there are 16 villages. He said also that problems would be created where village lines would be crossed by representative district lines.

Egelson Said Technical Problems of Defining Villages or Districts "Should Not Be a Deterrent. The Mechanics Could Be Worked Out."

POLITICAL HIGHLIGHTS

By JAMES G. COLBERT

McCormack Denial Of Plan To Retire Is Unconvincing

Congressman John W. McCormack—Speaker of the National House—has denied a nationally syndicated news story that he will retire from public life at the end of this year.

But an increasingly large number of Congressmen and political writers were unconvinced that McCormack actually meant what he appeared to say.

Sarah McClendon of the Detroit News wrote the original article which was syndicated by the North American Newspaper Alliance. In it she quoted McCormack.

One item in her story caught the attention of sharp-eyed politicians who may run for McCormack's seat if he decides to relinquish it.

Ward 5 Vacancy Sets Problem For Aldermen

In a move to find a solution to the problem of how the Ward 5 vacancy on the Newton Board of Aldermen should be filled, the city fathers on Monday night sent to the Aldermanic Legislation and Rules Committee for study two resolutions and asked for a report on them in two weeks.

Spring Arrives Friday Night

The flowers that bloom in the spring, tra la, should be in colorful evidence soon. That long sought-for season arrives officially at 7:57 o'clock, Friday night the 20th—and everybody be praised.

Blustery March is on the way out. Spring will be here with Mother Nature shrugging into her mini to hail the happy arrival. But, be alerted to that last, possible sneak punch from frosty Winter. It has happened.

McGlenon In Hot 3rd Dist. Congress Test

The adermen had voted recently to hold the matter for 90 days so that both proposals for a recreation area at the location and a turnkey proposition for low income housing could be studied further.

The Board requested the same information at its meeting on Monday night.

The adermen had voted recently to hold the matter for 90 days so that both proposals for a recreation area at the location and a turnkey proposition for low income housing could be studied further.

However, the Mayor complained that the adermen had voted recently to hold the matter for 90 days so that both proposals for a recreation area at the location and a turnkey proposition for low income housing could be studied further.

The national spotlight is already focused on the third District, where the Rev. Robert F. Drinan, S.J., former dean of Boston College Law School, has been endorsed by Liberal Democratic doves to challenge the incumbent in the Democratic primary. A third Democrat in the race is Rep. Charles Shanahan, 32, of Watertown.

Despite the crowded field,

McGlenon is highly optimistic of his election chances in a district which now extends from Winchendon on the New Hampshire border, through Fitchburg, Leominster, Concord and Weston to Waltham and Newton.

The need for blood is ongoing. There is never enough. The quota of 1000 pints a day needed in Massachusetts has not changed; but its use in medical therapy increases constantly, Red Cross officials warn.

Especially needed at this time is negative type blood.

Donors with this type of blood usually hold themselves in reserve for emergencies should change their pattern of giving and put themselves on a regular basis for donating, the officials said.

People aged 18 thru 65 can donate and it does no harm to donate every two months.

Since this is an open bloodmobile the Red Cross hopes the merchants in Nonantum will come in and give. Also that members of fraternal organizations and other groups will join them.

One pint of blood donated assures a family's needs for an entire year. Blood cannot be manufactured, it can only be given.

Call the Newton Red Cross at 527-6000 to make an appointment to give on March 24th.

The Alderman-at-large vacancy was created when Franklin N. Flaschner resigned to accept the post of Judge of the Newton District Court.

One resolution submitted by Alderman Joseph M. McDonnell and Alan Barkin calls for an advisory election in Ward 5 to guide the aldermen in filling the open Aldermanic seat.

The second resolution submitted by Alderman William Wolf seeks a charter amendment by the Legislature to provide for special elections to fill vacancies in the Board.

Wolf has recommended that the filling of the vacancy as part of the law

"fine." But, "if we decide to do this, we should do it immediately so we can get the citizens approval as soon as possible and not wait for the regular election," he declared.

Resolutions On Drugs And Senatorial District O.K.d

The Newton Board of Aldermen on Monday night approved two resolutions, one dealing with drugs and the other with a senatorial district, and referred a third involving a playground to the City Planning Committee.

The aldermen by a 14 to 1 vote approved a resolution submitted by Alderman Peter F. Harrington, Joseph McDonnell and Eliot Cohen, calling for Newton to be contained within a single senatorial district.

A recent proposal by a legislative committee would split the city so that portions of it would be in three separate districts. At present Newton is divided so that part of the city is in the Norfolk and Suffolk District and part is in the Norfolk and Middlesex District. Portions of Newton are represented by State Senators Beryl Cohen of Brookline and David H. Locke of Wellesley.

Also approved with a 15 to 0 vote was a resolution filed jointly by Alderman William Carmen and Harry Walen asking that the Newton Board of Aldermen offer its services, through a Drug Committee, "to act as a catalyst to bring together all City of Newton to help face and resolve this potentially disastrous situation."

Board President Wendell R. Bauckman named Carmen chairman of the committee and Walen co-chairman. Aldermen Michael Lipof and Harry Crosby were also

Zip Code Maps In Yellow Pages

Officer-in-charge of the Boston Postal District, which includes Newton, reminded patrons this week that zip code directory maps are located in the yellow pages of the telephone book. He stressed that additional zip code numbers may be obtained by calling local post offices.

Walker disclosed that nationally about 75 per cent of first class mail carries the zip code and urged increased public usage of the code. "The Post Office can sort mail faster with zip code as it eliminates many handlings and is sent more directly to its destination," Walker maintained.

MUSIC FORUM—Cantor Alex Zimmer and Dr. Harold Berk, both of Newton, are co-chairmen for the New England Jewish Music Forum to be held April 1st at Temple Ohabei Shalom, Brookline.

Sponsor N.E. Music Forum

Dr. Harold Berk and Cantor Alex Zimmer, co-chairmen, head a large group of Newton residents sponsoring the concert of the New England Jewish Music Forum to be held Wednesday evening, April 1, at Temple Ohabei Shalom, Beacon street, Brookline.

At that time the Forum will pay tribute, on the occasion of his 65th birthday, to its Executive Advisor, Dr. Herbert Fromm, music director of Temple Israel, Boston, and internationally known composer.

The premiere performance of his secular cantata "The Banner of Love" will be presented, as well as his "The Lord is my Portion" - a sacred cantata - with text for both works by Yehuda Halevi, famous Hebrew poet.

A Symphony Orchestra Ensemble of 30 professional players will perform the Fromm compositions as well as other works, including Ernest Bloch's "Concerto Gross" for Strings and Piano with Lois Jungas at the piano. Other performers will be the 18 member Boston University Chamber Singers and 4 soloists. The entire program will be conducted by Spending a few thousand dollars for a special election should not be so important as to leave the ward under-represented any longer than necessary, McDonnell maintained.

"If we can't get legislation to hold a special election and get a charter amendment, then we should hold an advisory election," he added.

The question of methods for filling vacancies is one of the matters being considered by the Charter Commission.

It appears that they will recommend special elections as the best method. Currently, the city charter provides that vacancies on the Board of Aldermen be filled by election by the Board.

Cameo for Pidgeon
Oldtimer Walter Pidgeon will play a cameo role in an episode of 20th Century Fox's "Bracken's World."

Local Landlord Brings Case To Supreme Court

A Newton landlord has gone to the Supreme Judicial Court in an effort to have 75 applications for complaints of violations of the state sanitary codes heard in private.

Abraham Ginsburg, acting through his attorney Judge George W. Cashman, has filed a writ of certiorari asking the Supreme Judicial Court to review Newton District Court Associate Justice Francis Larkin's finding this week that the hearing be held in public.

Judge Larkin as the defendant and Ginsburg as the plaintiff appeared yesterday morning before Judge Ammi-Cutter of the Supreme Judicial Court.

On the direction of Mayor Monte G. Basbas, City Solicitor Melvin Dangel opposed the motion to conduct the proceeding with the press and public barred.

In addition, the City of Newton moved to become a third party in the case before Judge Cutler in the Supreme Judicial Court.

The 75 applications for complaints of the state sanitary codes in about 30 apartments in 12 structures in Newton Upper Falls and Newton Lower Falls were scheduled to be heard yesterday in Newton District Court.

Last week Judge Cashman, representing Ginsburg, moved to make the hearing private and Judge Larkin denied the motion.

The complaints against Ginsburg were brought by Newton Code Enforcement Inspectors Rudolf Luz and John Leonard.

Spring Sale At Church Friday

The Woman's Association of Central Church will hold a Spring Clearance Sale at the church tomorrow, Friday, March 20 from 10 a.m. to 2 p.m. There will be clothing for men, women and children, some household articles and a White Elephant Table. Coffee and doughnuts will be sold during the day. There will be a small admission charge.

Mrs. Donald P. Frail will be general chairman of the sale and her committee will be Mrs. Kenneth A. Bernard, Mrs. Chandler Butler, Mrs. Richard Keil, Mrs. Harold Lounsberry and Mrs. Donald T. Welch. Everyone welcome.

"I don't need God"

Maybe you don't... if you think of God as merely some distant person, or unknowable.

But, if you were to know God as Mind, the source of all ideas and intelligence, or as Life, the source of strength and health... wouldn't it make sense to know Him better?

You can... Practical ways of knowing God are discussed at the Christian Science Sunday School. Visit a class this Sunday at 10:45 A.M.

$22,920 To Charter Group Gets Aldermanic Approval

The Newton Charter Commission's request to the Board of Aldermen for $22,920, primarily for payment to consultants, was approved by a 16 to 5 vote of the board on Monday night.

The firm of consultants retained to do research and give legal advice and help will receive $18,500 and the balance of the appropriation will go to cover a variety of other expenses.

A proposed amendment to the appropriation request by Alderman David Jackson to reduce the amount to $13,920 was defeated.

The firm's Finance Committee Chairman, Edward C. Uehlein, explained that state law requires that the Charter Commission draft its report by Sept. 1, and that it is "impossible to do this without help."

The members can't do all the necessary research and writing themselves in the short period of time given to them, Uehlein said.

"If we're going to review the charter after 75 years, we'd better do it right," he added.

The firm of consultants retained by the Charter Commission will be available not only through the writing period but will also be available for public discussion of the proposed revisions until after the matter goes on the ballot in the next municipal election in 1971.

The people voted for a charter review, and we have to pay for it," Uehlein concluded.

Alderman Barkin agreed that the Charter Commission was in a bind because of the time limit.

Barkin noted that the remarks he made at a meeting

FIRST TICKETS FOR MAYOR — Mayor Monte G. Basbas purchases first tickets for memorial film to the late Dr. Martin Luther King, from committee members, left to right, Max Wexler, Temple Shalom, chairman; Mrs. Jane Merrill, Eliot Church; Mrs. John Burgess, wife of Bishop Burgess, Episcopal Dioceses of Mass., Mrs. Thomas Egan, St. Bernard's Church; Mrs. Gerald Davis, Temple Shalom; and Rev. ### Local Sculptors Exhibit At Show In So. Lancaster

Local sculptors are displaying their works at the New England Sculptors Association traveling exhibit which opened last Sunday at Atlantic Union College, South Lancaster, Mass.

The exhibit will remain open for three and a half weeks before being moved to Northern Essex College in Haverhill, where it will stay until May 2.

Represented from the area are: Ernest Morenon, 284 Franklin St., Newton; Frederic Buehner, 53 High St., Newton Upper Falls; Polly Egelson, 136 Pine Grove Ave., Newton Lower Falls; and Peter Abate, 22 Harkmouth Rd., Chestnut Hill.

N.E.S.A. is a non profit organization whose purpose is to promote interest in good contemporary sculpture by means of indoor and outdoor exhibitions in New England, under its own auspices and that of museums.

With lectures and demonstrations, it aims to encourage students who are reaching professional standards.

Dr. James Boudreau of Newtonville, Dr. Edgar Carty of Newton Centre, Dr. George Koller of Newton Upper Falls and Dr. Allan Okstein of Waban are among members of the faculty in the third in a series of special training courses for Bay State Nursing Home administrators and officials. The class will begin at Babson College on Monday (March 23) for a limited number.

The new class will meet on Mondays at 4 p.m. session followed by dinner at 6:15 o'clock and a second session from 7 to 9:30 p.m. Basic study courses will include therapeutic elements of long-term care, community health of patient care, principles of administration and economics of medical care among others.

Professional musicians will perform in a program geared to the interest of Senior adults.

Film Tribute To Dr. King To Be Shown Here Tuesday

Newton Mayor Monte G. Basbas gave his enthusiastic support this week to the social injustice.

The Organizations which are actively engaged in the sale of tickets include the National Council of Churches of Christ; Church Women United; Synagogue Council of America; United State Catholic Conference Offices of Memphis; the film was produced by Ely Landau and traces the work of Dr. King from 1955 until his death in 1968.

This memorial event, which is being celebrated nationally, is expected to raise nearly $5,000,000 to help support organizations dedicated to Dr. King's principles and ideals of non-violence in the war against poverty, illiteracy and the social injustice.

They Are Murderers!

The tragic deaths of 17 and 18-year-old schoolboys in Needham and Arlington within a few days of each other will not be completely in vain if the community-wide shock and anger they have aroused is now translated into effective action.

Truly, a terrible price has been paid with the sacrifice of those two young lives. Truly, too many have viewed the current drug scene as something to be deplored, something which would not touch their own lives or those of their families.

Only a short time before the death of the Needham boy, William M. Powers, superintendent of schools in that town, in a highly unusual letter to parents of school children, reported that no less than six high schoolers had been involved in the drug traffic.

No legal action was taken. If these youngsters had been thrown out of school or voluntarily withdrawn, many persons would have shrugged their shoulders and viewed it merely as just another inexplicable development in the whole inexplicable drug problem.

Two deaths have changed all that.

The professional peddlars who made it possible to place those drugs in the hands of the youngsters are murderers. They and all those on their level in this horrible traffic in drugs should be found and placed behind bars for a long time. They deserve no mercy.

Local police, it appears in the Needham case, could not prosecute cases against the six high schoolers because the only evidence they had was based entirely on the statements of the youngsters themselves.

Those to whom they sold death-dealing, enslaving hard drugs, would not "squeal" on them. In some strange code of this increasingly strange generation, they sealed their lips.

Perhaps, the average adult will not be able to understand the process of their reasoning. Perhaps, he will be further perplexed by the inability of the authorities to break that code. Some have advanced the theory that the six youngsters were "hooked" users themselves and needed the money to purchase the stuff.

Those two points—the silence of students and the steep cost of the drugs—are important. Both reflect the need of parental cooperation in a solution which must be found.

The fathers and mothers of schoolers who have knowledge of the traffic for their own protection and that of their offspring should do everything in their power to place that knowledge in the hands of proper authorities.

Where do high schoolers get the money to support their destructive habit? Any parent who does not know enough about the daily lives of a son or daughter who is able to acquire inordinate sums of money, does not deserve to be a parent.

Few legitimate jobs open to high-schoolers yield the amount of money needed. If the money is coming through nefarious activities over an extended period, the parent, whose suspicions are not aroused, is indeed blind.

The community-at-large and particularly the parents of school children have every right to expect the police and all law-enforcement agencies and school authorities to root out this dangerous threat to a whole generation.

The parents, too, have a serious obligation. They must cooperate.

Mob Provocateurs

The former Harvard Divinity School student who has been given credit by many for the Anti-Vietnam war march on Washington indicates that he believes mass rallies no longer serve the aims of his movement.

He would encourage, he said, a greater focus on neighborhood, community gatherings where almost everybody knows everyone else.

The potpourri of organizations which made their big scene in Washington last November ranged from honest pacifists to those who made little effort to hide their anarchistic purposes.

They weren't subject to any one man's discipline or that of any one organization.

Whatever else the United States can expect in the near-future, it will hardly anticipate any sudden end of mob action, which has been carried right into the courtroom in Chicago and New York. College campuses which escape it completely in the academic year are becoming rare, indeed.

In 1913 Theodore Roosevelt, in a letter to English statesman Viscount Edward Grey, wrote: "We stand equally against government by a plutocracy and government by a mob." That philosophy still holds true for most Americans today.

The November meeting in the Capital didn't accomplish much in influencing the course of our actions in Vietnam. Those participants dedicated to mob rule and violence won't change that dedication regardless of the damage they inflict on any cause they choose to espouse, good or bad.

Thieves and Stores

Boston Better Business Bureau reports a sharp increase in shoplifting in their membership stores.

On the national scale the FBI reports that the crime has increased 150 per cent since 1960. U.S. retailers estimate that they lose $2 billion a year to thieves. Some believe that without this "overhead expense" prices could be reduced 15 per cent across the board.

The Boston Bureau believes that much of the shoplifting is carried out by younger men and women. Many of the larger stores have built up ingenious protection systems involving the use of television and staffs of men and women who in appearance and dress appear to be everyday shoppers, laden with bundles.

No doubt, closer policing has helped to prevent an even larger loss. One corporation operating eight stores reports that last year it apprehended an astounding total of 18,000 shoplifters. Many were drug addicts. Some were women, victims of the disease psychiatrists call kleptomania.

Some were professionals seeking an expensive item for which the underworld already had a customer. Many were ordinary men and women who were found to have plenty of cash on their persons to have made payments for the goods they stole.

Is the phenomenal increase another indication of a general weakening of the American moral fibre?

Stealing a dress from a counter cannot be compared with the Mafia mess which has been revealed in New Jersey. Yet, some of that state's outstanding men and women have been getting an inordinate share of the limelight by announcing they knew about the corruption of New Jersey courts and municipal governments for years. They remained silent, while the Mafia operated high, wide and handsome.

How far can the pendulum swing in the wrong direction?

Political Highlights -

She quoted Speaker McCormack as saying he would announce his intention to retire from Congress at a planned congressional recess scheduled for late next August.

The significance of that statement—if it is correct—is that it would be too late for a candidate to file nomination papers and step into the primary contest for the Democratic nomination for the position held by McCormack which is tantamount to election.

Several Congressmen friendly to McCormack assert that if he were to announce now that he does not intend to stand for another term, he immediately would become a lame duck Speaker and would find it more difficult to control and run the national House which he heads.

Kenny O'Donnell Will Miss Help He Got From Bobby K.

If former White House Aide Kenneth P. O'Donnell were able to poll as many votes in next September's primary as he did in 1966, he probably would win the Democratic nomination for Governor. The odds are that he will be unable to do so.

O'Donnell, the first major candidate for Governor to announce his candidacy, made a very creditable showing against former Attorney General Edward J. McCormack in the 1966 Democratic primary.

McCormack was a strong and tested vote-getter, notwithstanding the fact that he was swept to defeat by the Republican tide which rolled across Massachusetts in '66, giving ex-Governor John A. Volpe a victory over McCormack by a wide margin.

But Kenny O'Donnell had a powerful political ally in 1966 whose absence will be missed this year. Robert F. Kennedy, slain by a murderer's bullet in a Los Angeles hotel on the June night he was savoring his victory in California's 1968 Presidential Primary, championed O'Donnell's cause in '66.

Bobby helped to provide the funds to finance O'Donnell's campaign, and his endorsement of O'Donnell meant votes in the ballot box at a time when the people of Massachusetts were still recovering from the shock of the assassination of the late President John F. Kennedy whom O'Donnell had served as appointments secretary.

O'Donnell will be more on his own this year than he was in 1966 when he engaged in a two-man, head-to-head fight with McCormack. Indications also are that he will be involved in a four-candidate contest which will be less to his advantage. But O'Donnell insists he is stronger today than he was in 1966. Only time will tell whether he's right.

Law May Be Enacted To Help State Convention Winners

A new law, making it more difficult for a candidate for Governor, defeated for the endorsement of his party's convention, to run in the primary, probably will be enacted within the next few weeks.

The bill, which seems certain to arouse new bitterness among the Democratic gubernatorial contenders, is likely to be approved by both branches of the State Legislature.

Governor Sargent could veto it when it reaches his desk, but it is unlikely the Republican Governor would use his veto power to prevent a furore within the Democratic party.

The confusing and complicated measure provides that the candidates endorsed for Governor and Lieutenant Governor by the Republican and Democratic State Conventions would run as teams in the September primary.

This apparently would force candidates for Governor, who were not successful at the convention and desired to carry their fight on into the primary, to team up with candidates for Lieutenant Governor and run as tandems in the primary.

If either of the two contenders who combine as ticket mates draws less than 20 per cent of the vote at the convention, they would be obliged to get 10,000 valid signatures of voters in their party in order to have their names placed on the primary ballot.

There is a question in the mind of this writer whether the proposed new law would be constitutional, and it is possible that doubt might not be resolved before the State Conventions in June.

The ramifications and complications created by such a law would be enormous.

A Democratic candidate for Governor, who failed to get the convention nod, presumably could team up with someone who didn't even place his name before the convention if he so desired.

There is no assurance there would be enough unsuccessful candidates for Lieutenant Governor at the Democratic Convention next June to go around among the losing candidates for Governor.

Another unusual aspect to this proposed new law is that a candidate for Lieutenant Governor, who was defeated at the convention, would be unable to run in the primary unless a candidate for Governor joined up with him in a twosome. That's one of the reasons the suggested statute might be unconstitutional.

Under a new provision in the State Constitution, the candidates for Governor and Lieutenant Governor will run as teams in the November election.

This is a so-called reform in election procedure to assure the election of a Governor and Lieutenant Governor of the same party. But it was accomplished by changing the State Constitution in the usual manner.

The constitutional amendment was approved by two different Legislatures and then was placed on the ballot by a vote of the people who okayed it.

Whether the Legislature can revise the method of nominating candidates for Governor and Lieutenant Governor by simply adopting a bill, is a question on which legal experts disagree.

They apparently are about to do it, however, and make it more difficult for a candidate to try to overturn a convention action in a primary.

WELCOME!

Newton Solons Seek Funds For Junior College

Rep. Theodore D. Mann is continuing his efforts to secure more state funds to help Newton's cost for the operation of its Junior College.

Joined in sponsorship of House Bill No. 702 by Representatives Fishman, Malloy, and Shea, Rep. Mann pointed out that in previous years his efforts resulted in the payment of nearly sixty thousand dollars to Newton to help reduce the burden on its taxpayers.

The new bill just filed would require the State to reimburse cities and towns for the net cost of maintaining their own Junior Colleges. Newton and Quincy operate their own Junior Colleges whose important educational services may have to be terminated or curtailed unless financial assistance from the state is given, Mann noted.

"Reimbursement to communities maintaining Junior Colleges of such excellent reputation as that of Newton Junior College is a matter of fairness and will go a long way in the direction of furthering excellence in our Educational Programs," Mann commented.

"I have seen very little for Negroes, for black people to applaud during the Nixon administration," Brooke asserted.

"It's unlikely that Brooke's blast disturbed Nixon, but it's also improbable that Nixon can count on much help from Brooke in the future."

Isolationism Fashionable Now; It Wasn't in 1941

When the Japanese attacked Pearl Harbor on Dec. 7, 1941, and plunged the United States into war, an immediate wave of criticism was leveled at the so-called isolationists and America Firsters who were considered at least partly responsible for the fact that we were unprepared for war and not in a position to strike back immediately.

The 1970 counterparts of the America Firsters of 1941 are the people who are demanding that we withdraw immediately from Vietnam at any cost, who feel that President Nixon's timetable is too slow.

It is generally agreed that President Nixon will be defeated for a second term if most of our forces are not out of Vietnam by the 1972 election.

In view of the strong anti-war sentiment in the United States today, does anyone seriously believe we would keep our commitments in Western Europe if the Russians suddenly were to overrun West Germany and pour into France, Belgium, Switzerland and Holland?

The feeling now is pretty strong in those countries that we would sit back and do nothing if they unexpectedly were invaded by the Russians.

In view of the willingness of so many Americans to leave Southeast Asia to the Communists, the general assumption is that we would pull back to our big island with our two natural defenses, the Atlantic Ocean on the East and the Pacific on the West.

That is what the America Firsters wanted us to do in 1941, and the isolationists of that day appear to be the pacifists of today.

The people who lead the anti-war demonstrations, who carry Viet Cong flags and chant songs about Ho Chi Minh are either Communists or Communist sympathizers although their sympathies may be directed more to Communist China than to Soviet Russia.

Would they change their tune if the Russians suddenly crashed into West Germany? It is highly improbable that they would or that a majority of our people would have any more stomach for a war in Western Europe than they do now for a war in Vietnam.

It's fashionable now to be an isolationist under whatever name. It wasn't in 1941. The intellectuals have changed their position, taking most of the editorial writers with them.

Travelogue On Program For Willard Auxiliary Meeting

The Newton Auxiliary of the Frances E. Willard Homes will entertain the members of the Arlington auxiliary at their annual guest meeting on Monday, March 23 at Eliot Church in Newton.

Luncheon at 1 o'clock will be served by Mrs. Kenneth C. Collinson and Mrs. Mortimer M. Prescott, both of Newton and their committee: Mrs. Donald W. Bruce, Mrs. Stanley W. Mack and Mrs. Howard W. Marshall all of West Newton; Mrs. William R. Martineau of Needham; Mrs. William S. Prescott of Llewesac Lodge and Mrs. Sidney L. Eaton of Needham.

Joel E. Goldthwaite of Medfield will present another of his travelogues and this time the colored slides will depict a recent Safari to South Africa with a running commentary.

The Frances Willard Homes operates two homes: Llewesac Lodge in Bedford which is a rest home and accommodates 44 women and Ross-Worthen Home in Waltham, nursing home accommodating 20 patients. Both the Arlington and Newton Auxiliaries work diligently to provide needed equipment and some of the "extras" so important to the residents.

Officer for the Newton Auxiliary are Mrs. Worthing L. West, Newton Centre, president; Mrs. Henry B. Shepard, West Newton, vice president; Miss Betsey Allen, Newton, responding secretary; Mrs. Davis N. Ripley, Newton, corresponding secretary; Mrs.

5 Murray Road Students Share Art Knowledge

Donald L. Gibbs, Newton treasurer, Mrs. Lloyd D. H. Anderson, West Newton, is luncheon chairman; Mrs. Kenneth C. Collinson, Newton, Memberships; Mrs. Charles F. Weeden, Weston, Nominating; Mrs. Sidney L. Eaton, Needham, programs.

Mrs. Roger B. Tyler, Chestnut Hill, Publicity; Mrs. Henry G. MacLure, Chestnut Hill, representative to Ross-Worthen Home; Mrs. Willis E. Williams, Dedham and Mrs. Chester T. Scott, West Newton, co-chairmen representatives to Llewesac Lodge and Mrs. Herbert G. Dunphy, Newton Highlands, representative to the Directors' Board of the Homes in Boston and chairman of the House Committee for Llewesac Lodge.

The project stimulated so much interest that Riva Spear, Bruce Rosenblum, Susan Hyatt, Denis Harper and Deborah Dyer of Newton have already been invited to Watertown for a second session. Murray Road hopes for other interschool action of this nature in the future.

An expert in the application of the law in ecological problems, he has drafted, and aided in drafting, various state legislative acts in eminent domain and zoning areas. He is a member of the Land Use Committee and chairman of the Subcommittee on Zoning and Subdivision Control of the Boston Bar Association.

A 1941 graduate of the U.S. Naval Academy, Prof. Huber received his J.D. degree from the University of Iowa in 1950 and his Master's degree in law from Harvard in 1951.

Before coming to Boston College Law School, Prof. Huber taught at law schools of the University of Iowa, University of South Carolina and Tulane.

Prof. Huber is a panelist and lecturer on land use and environmental law matters for the Massachusetts Bar Association's Continuing Legal Education Foundation and the New England Law Institute.

In addition to his duties as Professor of Law at Boston College Law School, he is Acting Director of the Environmental Law Center and Editor-in-Chief of the Environmental Law and Science Journal.

Gitlin Elected Vice President

Camp for Blind

Bernard Gitlin of Newton was recently elected first vice president of the Camp Allen Corporation of Bedford, N.H.

Camp Allen is owned and operated by the Boston Kiwanis Club and the New Hampshire Lions Club of Manchester. The camp provides a summer vacation to visually handicapped children.

The League hopes for quick approval by the Senate Judiciary Committee so that the constitutional amendment can be approved by Congress early this year and be sent to the states for ratification.

Electoral Reform should come to a vote in the Senate Judiciary Committee in the middle of April.

Senator Kennedy is a member of the committee and has said he supports the direct popular election. President Nixon supports the direct political needs.

Camp Allen's annual operating budget is about $25,000. There are no paid solicitors and funds are raised by the two service clubs.

No child, if physically fit for camp life, has been denied a summer at Camp Allen because of lack of funds.

This year a building campaign to enlarge the camp is well underway so that more children will be able to enjoy the summer program. Plans for more dormitory space, a new infirmary, enlarged kitchen, complete home economics and wood working actions during those six months will determine its realization before the eight week summer session begins.

John McGlennon

Today, State Representative John McGlennon officially announces his candidacy for Congress from the Third District.

John has been a full time legislator ever since he was first elected in 1966. He has not been afraid to take on the tough issues, to fight the system, and to act when he thinks he is right. He was the first legislator to recognize the significance of the drug problem which led to his appointment to the special legislative commission to study drug abuse. He was the first legislator to propose a conservation bill of rights. He has fought to strengthen our government, serving on the governor's advisory committee on executive re-organization and as a leader in the fight to reduce the size of the house of representatives.

John McGlennon is a Republican who offers leadership to those Republicans, Democrats, and Independents who put their highest priority on people, on the preservation of life, on the proper use of our environment.

He advocates effective defense but opposes wasteful and inefficient spending by the military. He wants to use our money to clean our air and purify our water. He will make sure that we restore the quality of life with decent housing and open spaces.

He stands for the reform of Congress and against the seniority system which rewards longevity over performance. John will be available to listen to our problems, consider our opinions and respond to our needs. We can do better than we have done so far.

The bride is the daughter of Mrs. Paul J. Reilly of West Newton and the late Mr. Reilly. Mrs. Vincent J. Cosgrove of Dorchester and the late Mr. Cosgrove are the groom's parents.

The Rt. Rev. John Quirk celebrated the 11 o'clock nuptial mass.

Mr. Terrence Reilly of Arlington, brother of the bride, gave her away. She wore a traditional white gown fashioned of peau de soie and lace. Her molded bodice had a round neckline and long sleeves. Her A-line skirt was designed with a train.

A matching Dior bow held in place her shoulder length illusion veil. She carried a bouquet of white flowers.

Miss Elizabeth Reilly of West Newton was her sister's maid of honor, while the groom's niece, Miss Mary Manoli of Dorchester, was junior bridesmaid. They were dressed alike in royal blue velvet gowns with matching floral headpieces.

The best man was Francis Cosgrove, brother of the groom. Ushering were Michael Cosgrove, Joseph Cosgrove, Richard Lord and Joseph Randall.

After a trip to Bermuda the Crosgroves plan to make their home in West Newton.

Murray Road School Sets Intensive Study Program

One Six-hour class? Intensive study is one field the students at the Murray Road Annex of Newton High School have been exploring.

After concentration week (a week at Murray Road when regular classes are put aside so students may engage in intensive study in one interest field), many students had a growing interest incorporating the advantages of intensive study in the second-semester program.

After long, painful discussions on the pros and cons of numerous proposals for intensive study, an amicable compromise was reached.

The decision? Monday, Wednesday and Friday would have four blocks of regular classes in the morning, with intensive study in the afternoon; Tuesday and Thursday would have intensive study blocks in the morning, classes in the afternoon.

What does this mean? In five weeks of intensive study, a student will have accumulated the same class time as he would have had he been in customary classes for a full semester.

So at the end of five weeks, the student receives a full semester's credit for having completed his intensive study project. Then, while continuing his regular (1-hour-block) classes, he may switch to a second and then a third intensive study project.

For example, Con-

Martin H. Alpert of 149 Dedham St., Newton, has been named Newton chairman for the forthcoming 1970 Appeal and Israel Emergency Fund campaign being conducted by the Combined Jewish Philanthropies of Greater Boston.

The appointment was announced by Leonard D. Bell, chairman of CJP's Metropolitan Division and Leon E. Brock of Belmont, West Area vice chairman who said, "The position is of critical importance this year if we are going to meet the tremendous challenges facing our community locally, nationally and overseas."

As Newton chairman, Mr. Alpert will direct and coordinate the activities of local volunteers who will participate in the 1970 CJP campaign. (Additional volunteers are still needed. Information can be obtained by contacting CJP's Metropolitan Division office at 11-2808, Ext. 21.)

This will be Mr. Alpert's second consecutive year as Newton chairman after a decade of earlier service as a volunteer worker on the team.

A member of Temple Mishkan Tefila, Mr. Alpert is presently vice president of the Temple Brotherhood. He is a former vice president of the Brookline, Brighton, Newton district of the Zionist Organization of America.

fires set at Stearns School on Jassett street in Newton on Sunday afternoon could well have razed the building if it had not been for a fire detection device in the basement.

The device, Fire Chief Frederick A. Perkins Jr. stated, set off Box 247 at 5:23 p.m., after a fire had been set in the school basement.

Two other fires, set around window casings behind metal grates, caused minor damages.

Dr. Kolack To Be Merrimack Coll. Speaker

How the Merrimack Valley became one of the most ethnically diverse areas in the nation, will be the subject of Dr. Shirley Kolack of Waban, chairman of the department of behavioral sciences at Lowell State College, when she addresses the annual meeting of Merrimack Valley Dialogues, Inc. on March 22 at Merrimack College.

Last summer Dr. Kolack was asked by the Dialogues committee to prepare a preliminary study on the ethnic and religious groups of the Valley.

Through interviews with residents of Lowell, Lawrence, Haverhill, and the surrounding suburbs of those communities, as well as research into available sociological and historical data, she assembled a report which will be the basis of the Dialogue conference.

In her preliminary study, Dr. Kolack traces the great variety of ethnic groups that immigrated to the Merrimack Valley, beginning with the Irish who came before the Civil War because of famine in their homeland, and ending with Cubans and Puerto Ricans, the latest Valley settlers.

The report mentions also French-Canadians, English, Germans, Italians, Austrians, Syrians, Scots, Franco-Belgians, Chinese, Jews, Armenians, Portuguese, and Lithuanians.

Kr. Kolack received her doctoral degree in sociology-anthropology from Boston University in 1965. She studied at B.U. also for her undergraduate and masters degrees.

Previous to joining the faculty of Lowell State College, she was acting chairman of the department of sociology at Bridgewater State College.

At Bridgewater, also she coordinated a special education and race relations course in cooperation with the Massachusetts Department of Education and WGNH-TV, and was an assistant professor of sociology.

Other teaching experience was gained at Garland College, Boston University, and the University of Maine.

Dr. Kolack's published work has included articles in the Harvard Educational Review, the Massachusetts Parent-Teacher, Jewish Weekly Times, Social Problems, and other professional journals.

Dr. Kolack resides at 15 Southwick Rd., Waban.

Joe Beraldi Was 80 Years Old . . .

He Isn't Irish But Has A Gay St. Patrick's Day

Joseph Beraldi of 67 Webster Street, West Newton, whose forbears lived in Italy, rejoices on Ireland's popular St. Patrick's day annually . . . and for very good reason. This year, on St. Pat's Day, Joe was 80 years old and to mark the occasion a party was held for him at the Marriott Motor Hotel in Newton on Monday night.

Cub Scouts Of Pack 227 Bring Circus To Town

The Circus came to Newton a little early this year. On Thursday, March 12, the Cub Scouts and Webelos of Pack 227 put on a Circus Show for their parents, friends and all interested 2nd graders.

There were wild animals, animal trainers, magicians, clowns, tumblers and acrobats, as well as a tall man, a fat man, a strong man. There even was a Cub Scout shot out of a cannon. And we can't forget the juggler and the tightrope walkers. A good noisy time was had by all.

The following awards were presented by Jack Rubin:

Michael Clayton - Wolf Badge, Gold Arrow, Silver Arrow; Kenny Farnham - Wolf Badge; Michael Kanellas - Wolf Badge; Chucky Nally - Wolf Badge, Gold Arrow, 2 Silver Arrows; Eddie Levin - Wolf Badge, Gold Arrow;

Also Kenny Rubin - Wolf Badge, Gold Arrow, Silver Arrow; Nathan Berkovits - Wolf Badge, Gold Arrow, 2 Silver Arrows; Kenny Brecker - Wolf Badge, Gold Arrow, 2 Silver Arrows; Jay Broadnax - Wolf Badge, Gold Arrow, Silver Arrow;

Also Paul Butters - Gold Arrow, 2 Silver Arrows; Ricky Maier - Wolf Badge, Gold Arrow; Jay Silberman - Wolf Badge, Gold Arrow, Silver Arrow; Jim my Weinfield - Gold Arrow, Silver Arrow; Robby Abramson - Wolf Badge; Ronny Krasskin - Gold Arrow, Silver Arrow; Joel Goodfader - Bear Badge, Gold Arrow.

As a surprise ending to the evening, Cubmaster Bud Clayton announced that Pack 227 would be going to the Circus when it came to Boston in May.

Services For Holy Week At Lutheran Ch.

Services on Palm Sunday will take place at 9:30 a.m. and 10:30 a.m. with Holy Communion being celebrated at both services. The Rev. Robert L. Griesse, pastor of the Lutheran Church of the Newtons, will give the sermon.

On Maundy Thursday, the service will begin at 8 p.m. with the celebration of Holy Communion. The unique service will feature the choir singing the various chorales in a program entitled, "The Road to Calvary." After each chorale a portion of the passion history of our Lord will be read by the pastor.

Good Friday will begin with a Communion breakfast for the young people of the church and will close with a Tenebrae service, a service that begins in light and ends in total darkness. The young people of the congregation will lead the Good Friday worship service. Miss Jane Waehler will play the cello.

The feast of Easter will be observed with two special services, one at 8:30 a.m. and the other at 10:30 a.m. The early service will be a Communion service with no special music.

Registrations Open Monday For 'Y' Swimming Classes

The Newton Y.M.C.A. campaign will be held during the April school vacation on Tuesday, April 21, through Friday, April 24. Boys and girls between the ages of 7 and 14 years are eligible.

The only stipulation insisted upon is they be non-swimmers. This campaign serves no useful purpose for those who are swimmers. They will only take the spaces that rightfully should go to the non-swimmer. Parents are urged to cooperate and not send their child if the child can swim 25 feet.

The goal over the four days is to teach the children to swim 25 feet. This is very basic to be sure; however, it is a beginning and serves as an introduction to further swimming instruction for the children.

The lessons will be one half hour in length, beginning at 8:30 a.m. and continue each half hour until 12:30 p.m.

The following is a time schedule for boys and girls: 8:30-9 a.m., boys 7-8 years old; 9:30-10 a.m., boys 9-10 years old; 10:10-11 a.m., boys 11-12 years old; 11-11:30, girls 9-10; 11:30-12 noon, girls 11-12 years old; 12:15-1:30 p.m., girls 13-14 years old.

On Palm Sunday

Palm Sunday, March 22nd, will be celebrated in The Newton Highlands Congregational Church by the singing of Franz Schubert's Mass In G in place of the usual sermon on Sunday morning.

This choral work will be directed by Edward H. Hastings, organist and choirmaster, and will be performed by the Senior Choir; Marsha Veck, soprano; C. Ray Bryan, tenor; and Rodney Gisick, bass.

The devotional part of the morning worship will be led by the Reverend Meredith B. Handspicker, Associate Minister.

Elected To A.I.D.

Helene Levenson, Interior Designer of Newton, has recently been elected a corporate member of A.I.D., American Institute of Interior Designers.

Mrs. Levenson was educated in the Newton school system, attending Weeks Junior High and Newton High School. She is a graduate of Vesper George, where she majored in Interior Design.

Mrs. Levenson has been actively engaged in decorating for the past eight years, and has designed many residential interiors in Newton and surrounding areas.

She is also an artist, whose favorite media is intaglio printing. Her work has been shown in several exhibits in Greater Boston, including the Jordan Marsh exhibit, and can presently be seen at the Cambridge Art Association and the Newton Public Library.

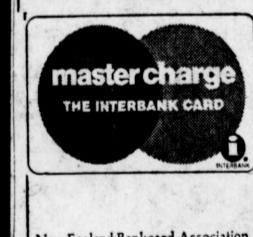

Mr. and Mrs. Edward C. Becherer of Newton have announced the engagement of their daughter, Miss Elizabeth Becherer, to Lt. Peter R. Minnar. He is the son of Mr. and Mrs. Peter L. Minnar of Quincy.

Lt. Minnar is an Army aviator, stationed at Fort Stewart in Georgia.

A spring wedding is planned.

Sunday Services

At 1st Church of Christ Scientist

"Matter" will be the subject of the lesson-sermon this Sunday at the First Church of Christ Scientist at 391 Walnut St., Newtonville. Services will begin at 10:45 and everyone is welcome.

A verse from Isaiah reads, "For as the earth bringeth forth her bud, and as the garden causeth the things that are sown in it to spring forth; so the Lord God will cause righteousness and praise to spring forth before all the nations."

Passages from Science and Health with Key to the Scriptures by Mary Baker Eddy included in the lesson are, "All nature teaches God's love to man, but man cannot love God supremely and set his whole affections on spiritual things, while loving the material or trusting in it more than in the spiritual" (p. 326).

THE NEWTON GRAPHIC

Graphic Readers Write On A Variety Of Subjects

Nets Impractical

(The following letter was received by Peter F. Harrington, Alderman of Ward 2, a number of affected city officials and forwarded to The Graphic by Mayor Basbas).

Dear Alderman Harrington:

I am quite concerned about several points in your proposed Ordinance Establishing

Ice Skating Safety Standards.

Section A.2 requires the installation of a safety net at a depth of one foot under all publicly-owned bodies of water designated as a

"Skating Area." Crystal Lake approaches 30 acres in size. It is 1700' long and 1200' wide at its widest. The section of the lake we maintain for skating is 850' long and 500' wide. Our Ware's Cove skating area is 1000' long and 300' wide.

Bulloughs Pond is approximately 600' by 300'.

To stretch a net taut across such expanses would be a formidable problem; the City

Engineer informs me. It may be that to comply with such a requirement would not be practicable, and therefore these areas, enjoyed by thousands for public skating for generations, would be off limits. Presently we post signs and have personnel on duty at these areas to regulate skating when it is safe, and to keep people off when it is unsafe. We have no knowledge of any tragedies ever occurring at these areas under our jurisdiction. Since the Metropolitan District

Commission controls the land bordering Hammond Pond we do not maintain patrols on this body of water, nor do we attempt to patrol the miles of Charles River Frontage.

Section B. We do establish safety standards concerning the thickness of ice required before skating will be allowed on skating areas under our jurisdiction. Although it's ice will hold a person, when we declare one of our areas safe for skating it must be safe for throngs. Therefore, we do not allow skating until we have 4-1/2" combined with a cold temperature forecast.

Section C. We do test the thickness of the ice on our skating areas regularly. We do this by chopping a hole in the ice and measuring the thickness with a special ruler having a hook to catch under the bottom of the ice. However, there may be days when we do not wish to weaken the ice by chopping holes in it. To require us to do so daily may not be in the public interest or may not be safe for our own personnel. It must be noted also that ice on natural bodies of water does not freeze uniformly. Some areas of ice may freeze while large sections may remain open due to the action of the wind or springs. We have to know the weak spots because we may be putting equipment on the ice to condition it weighing over 3 tons. The temperature is a vital factor in ice safety as well as whether the ice is pure

"black" ice or ice made from saturated snow. Thickness is not the only factor. Quick thaws and heavy rains and fog can quickly make it treacherous. For instance, at this writing we have a variation in the thickness of the ice at

down to 1/2".

Section E. As I have listed

of ice requires constant watching to check how the ice forms and considerable experience to make sound judgments. Final decisions about whether or not to open an area to skating is normally made by the most experienced man — the Recreation Foreman General, to whom the working foremen report. To spread this person's responsibility over numerous private ponds or delegate this responsibility over more personnel will dilute the safety factor on the public areas.

Dear Mr. Shea:

Today I read and reread your explanation of your vote in the House of Representatives regarding whether or not the voters of this Community would be allowed to decide for themselves on an extremely important issue.

Ninety-seven thousand voters, myself included, had requested

this right from the people, who were elected to represent them. In almost every issue brought before the legislature the voters are confident that the issue can be resolved by the legislators. This was the exception.

Nobody can question your motives for desiring, or judging, that the House remain at 240 members. Neither can anyone condemn you for changing the opinion, which you expressed during your campaign. The voters do not expect a legislator to stop thinking in order to keep a

School Financing

Editor of The Graphic:

In this legislative session, the Legislative Committee on Education has favorably reported three bills providing public financing of private schools. We would like to call attention to the consequences to the public school systems if such legislation is passed.

Recent reports cited in Henry Ehlers' Crucial Issues in Education, in Time, Jan. 12, 1970, and Nation (Dec. 15, 1969) reveal that such financial aid will lead to increased enrollment in private schools and to an increase in the number of private school systems (including special-interest and denominational systems). The proliferation of school systems competing for public funds, and each in turn competing with the public schools for money, students and staff, can lead only to the destruction of free universal education.

Look at Quebec, where public funds are used for sectarian education but where there are no public schools at all. As a parent you must choose between a Catholic or a Protestant school.

Look to Philadelphia, which after public aid legislation was passed in Pennsylvania, cut allotments to urban schools and is considering reducing the school year for lack of money. This has also happened in Ohio. (See Time reference.) One Massachusetts bill, S370, is patterned after the Pennsylvania legislation, which made public aid available to private schools, and watched as its public school enrollment declined from 75 percent to 30 percent. The only systems thriving are the Protestant and Roman Catholic. The public school system now comprises schools ranging from private schools and the ubiquitous poor. (It must be borne in mind that the private schools have the right to select or reject students. The public systems do not.)

If S370 becomes law, where will you send your child, once the full effects of public aid to private schools are felt? Moreover, the change in Holland has further polarized Dutch society. This educational divisiveness has strengthened separation in civic groups, labor unions, political parties, and trade associations, largely on religious grounds.

Is this the kind of divisive influence we want for our people? The public school system has been the one unifying force in our society. Why destroy it?

— Taxpayer's Lament

Editor of The Graphic:

I, like most of our double taxpayers, have accepted the increased taxes every year.

The $16 tax increase that we can look forward to this year, was a shocker. . . however, I no longer regard as inevitable the continuous increases in such sizeable amounts. It is inevitable, though, and understandably will continue to put "our foot down" like the taxpayers are doing in Franklin, Mass.

It is a shame that people

This Week's Best Buys

Courtesy Massachusetts Department of Agriculture

About 90 per cent of all native apples on produce counters now are tree-fresh "Crisp - Aire" McIntosh, released from controlled atmosphere storage, according to the Mass. Dept. of Agriculture.

Keep them well chilled in the refrigerator — and they'll taste like they were picked this morning! Baking and pie apples are in good supply, too. Greenhouse lettuce, Blue Hubbard squash, purple top turnips, and bananas and Sweetheart squash are coming in well from nearby farms. Greenhouse cucumbers are in heavy supply and should be lower in price.

Extra Large eggs are a Best Buy in most stores, only a few cents higher than donated are silver, furniture, dishes, pictures, and a few art objects. James Martin of Newton Upper Falls, who will be the auctioneer, will March 21, beginning at 11 a.m.

The proceeds will be used to help meet the church budget, which includes many community projects. Included in the articles there will be a drawing for a brand new Simca-Chrysler car. Tickets for this are now on sale.

There will be a chance to inspect the articles for sale on Friday evening, when the hall will be open for a wine-tasting party.

This Week's Sign of Spring: The 99th N.E. Spring Flower Show opened March 14 at Suffolk Downs, East Boston. The oldest show of its kind in the country, it reminds us of the great importance of the greenhouse industry to Massachusetts.

Peter Faneuil, the Boston merchant best remembered for the hall that bears his name, had the first greenhouse in America around 1735.

Today, the flower and plant industry in the state is tremendous. Some 38 million cut carnations and nearly 30 million cut roses are grown annually, along with millions of other plants and flowers with a total value to local growers of approximately $27,000,000.

The Auburndale woman is Mrs. Robert E. Kolkenbeck of Leslie road, better known as Marilyn Kolkenbeck, who has developed a hobby into a large-scale operation which brings her into contact with hundreds of people and helps to make new acquaintances and friends.

She is in frequent demand as a speaker to tell about her many fine pieces and to arrange exhibits of primitive American china and glass and antique jewelry. She participates also in many shows, probably an average of more than thirty each year.

Profile of an Athlete

His 9th Grade Coach Said: "You'll Never Be A Runner"

By LEWIS FREEMAN

With a last straining push he drove through the tape. Between gulps of air the smile came easily because even before the official time was announced he knew he had what he had sought and worked for four years.

Seconds later came the announcement. "The winner of the mile, Jim Ryan. His winning time of 3:51.3 establishes a new world record!"

Jim Ryan screamed a smile of happiness, a display of supreme exuberance for him equal to another person's jumping up and down and yelling at the top of his lungs.

Ryan did not always know that he was going to own the world's record in their mile, but in the few years before his record run he had "outrageously" entertained thoughts of it.

As a youngster he was a baseball nut, but somewhere along the line he became interested enough in track to go out for his 9th grade team. He got cut. The coach said he'd never be a runner.

Unfortunately for that coach, who will probably have that line inscribed on his tombstone, Jim Ryan did not discourage easily.

Ryan devoted himself to running with a super enthusiasm. He ran every day, regardless of weather. At 14 and 15 years of age he was running through ice and blizzards in winter and in 100 degree heat in summer.

He awoke at 4:30 a.m. and ran his paper route of five plus miles, ate his breakfast, went off to school, and then did the same in the late afternoon delivering the evening paper.

That was at 15. At 16, Ryan ran 4:07 for the mile, making the freshman coach appear ridiculous, to say the least.

As a 17-year-old junior, Ryan became the first schoolboy to break the 4:00 mile barrier. It came in an open race in Compton in 1964. Daryl Burleson was the winner in a time of 3:57.4. Ryan finished eighth and last in 3:59.

A year later he lowered the high school record to an amazing 3:55.3.

In 1965 at the Kansas Relays Ryan ran a mile race in 3:55.8. And on that day, he knew that the world record was in his grasp.

An inside observer in the Ryan camp made the following statement. "That mile race almost changed Jim's personality. It was like a test of his body, a test of himself. It was the first time in ages he had been able to rest before a race. He tapered off on Monday of the week before and did practically nothing until the race. There was no competition or pressure in the mile and still he ran 3:55.8, which was then an American record.

Ryan's world record mile came at Edwards Stadium in Berkeley, Calif., on July 17, 1966. He was aiming for the record from the start. The pack went out in 37.7 and Ryan was content to follow the leaders. They passed the half-mile in 1:55.4. After a slow third quarter and the clock reading 2:55.3 Ryan sputtered into the lead and kept right on gathering speed for the whole quarter. He just kept getting stronger and stronger. His 56.0 final 440 buried the excellent field of Tom Von Ruden, Wade Bell, and Carl Weisiger.

Ryan later went on to clip 2/10 of a second more off the mile mark and add a few more world marks to his collection. At present he is also the world standard bearer in the 880-yard run (1:44.9) and the 1500-meter run (3:33.1).

Somehow, despite all his astounding success, Ryan is almost as well remembered for his failures in the United States Olympic trials and at Mexico City.

At South Lake Tahoe Ryan failed to qualify for the United States team in the 800 meters, by his own admission running "a stupid race."

He stayed out in the third lane when he should have stayed inside with the pack. In this manner he probably ran an extra 30 yards. Ron Kutschinski and Mark Winzenreid began really moving 500 yards out, positively terrified of Ryan's finishing kick. Ryan went with them and died, slowing to a jog in the last 100 meters.

After the race he made his way to the showers and changed there alone, thinking it out.

"People build up this big image of Jim Ryan, that he is the superstar. I don't feel that way. I don't like to blow races, but to expect me to be the best half-miler is stupid. I am not a half-miler. I don't have the experience in the half-mile. Lately, I haven't had the speed work. At least now the pressure is off."

Four days later Ryan ran away from the other qualifiers in the 1500 meters.

At Mexico City Ryan was beaten. The heavy favorite in the 1500 meters, he was trounced by Kenya's Kip Keino.

The altitude clearly favored Keino and despite his inexperience in altitude Ryan won the silver medal. He was the only one satisfied. "Of course I would have liked to have won, but I am happy with my performance."

It is a shame that people have to make such a fuss over a man's one or two failures after consistently amazing performances over a number of seasons.

Ryan himself can't figure the public out (who can?). People are always coming up to him and asking him how can he push himself to such limits.

"Too much is made of the pain stuff. Running doesn't hurt that much. I've often tried to explain to people that there is more satisfaction than pain in a hard workout, but I guess too many of them just can't understand that work can be satisfying. Besides, if running a race hurt as much as people seem to think it does, I wouldn't get out on the track in the first place.

As a collegian Ryan captured the NCAA indoor mile three straight times in 1967, 1968 and 1969, in 1967 setting the meet record of 3:58.6. Twice he was outdoor mile champ losing to Marty Liquori his senior year and he was also one-time NCAA indoor 2-mile champ.

The second 2-mile he ever ran in major competition he recorded the time of 8:25.2, which was then an American record.

Four days later Ryan ran away from the other qualifiers in the 1500 meters.

At Mexico City Ryan was beaten. The heavy favorite in the 1500 meters, he was trounced by Kenya's Kip Keino.

The altitude clearly favored Keino and despite his inexperience in altitude Ryan won the silver medal. He was the only one satisfied. "Of course I would have liked to have won, but I am happy with my performance."

It is a shame that people have to make such a fuss over a man's one or two failures after consistently amazing performances over a number of seasons.

Ryan himself can't figure the public out (who can?). People are always coming up to him and asking him how can he push himself to such limits.

"Too much is made of the pain stuff. Running doesn't hurt that much. I've often tried to explain to people that there is more satisfaction than pain in a hard workout, but I guess too many of them just can't understand that work can be

Young Shepherd Is Visiting On Blue Hill Drive

Anyone missing a silver-grey young male Shepherd Dog? There is one visiting at the Michael Minot's at 28 Blue Hill drive in Westwood. The dog is wearing a brown leather collar, but no license tag. He is extremely friendly and well-behaved, and is getting lots of loving care from Michael Minot, Jr., a student at Westwood Junior High, who is acting as temporary dog sitter.

Someone surely must miss their pet, and they can get in touch with Michael or his parents by calling 329-0545.

100 Original Paintings To Be Auctioned On March 28

"ART FOR ART'S SAKE" is the theme in the Central Section - Eastern Mass. Region of Women's American ORT (Organization for Rehabilitation through Training) as they combine forces with the staff of National Art Auction Gallery, Inc. of New York, in presenting at auction a magnificent collection of over 100 original oil paintings and limited edition lithographs by the masters.

All will be offered at auction Saturday evening, March 28, at Temple Emmeth, 1000 West Roxbury Parkway, Chestnut Hill.

The collection will be on display at 7:30 p.m. at which time guests are invited to study the biographies of the artists and discuss the works of art with gallery personnel.

The auctioneer's gavel will start the sale promptly at 8:30 p.m.

The collection was selected for the event by Lawrence Shandell of National Art Auction Gallery, Inc. It will include an enriching array of oils, watercolors, drawings, etchings and lithographs. It will feature many well-known artists.

In all cases the opening bids will be scaled down below gallery prices. Collectors with an eye to art "finds" will have

Uses A Bullet As Substitute For Cigarette

Trying to quit the nicotine bit? Here's an off-beat idea.

The idea really worked for Dr. Roger O. Egeberg, HEW's Assistant Secretary for Health and Scientific Affairs. He decided to quit smoking and substitute another harmless habit instead. He still wanted to chew or finger something.

Dr. Egeberg, he says, remembered that some Middle Easterners carry amber beads which they finger from time to time. "But I couldn't afford amber, and cheap beads didn't feel right," he says.

"I cast about and finally found just the thing—a 45 bullet. I carried it in my jacket and when the urge to smoke a cigarette came, I'd finger the bullet. Of course, I wound up the day with black fingers."

So far, not too offbeat. But hang on. "If the urge to smoke got really strong," he says, "I'd put the bullet in my mouth. Then I'd realize that the damn thing might explode and blow my skull off." Not a very cool way to blow your mind.

"That was usually enough to keep down the urge for two or three hours. And in about three weeks I was cured."

Dr. Egeberg picked a hazardous way to quit. A way not recommended by anyone.

But sticking with cigarettes can be even more hazardous. Putting a cigarette — instead of a bullet — in your mouth can mean disability and slow death for millions of people.

To find out just how high the hazards of smoking really are, check with your local respiratory disease association.

They have the facts.

LETTER

Freepost Issue

Editor of The Graphic:

The following letter was sent by me to Mayor Basbas. I would appreciate it if you would publish it in Letters to the Editor column.

Mayor Monte G. Basbas

City Hall

Newton, Massachusetts

Dear Mr. Mayor:

It is with considerable dismay that I have been following the difficulties met by the students who are trying to acquire home for Freeport.

Here is a project which has been praised by the Community, and by you, Mr. Mayor. Then comes the anguished outcry: "but not in our neighborhood!" It is exactly the way we have often dealt with other issues: racial integration, for example: There too, we give lip-service to integration — until a black family wants to move into "our neighborhood! And, you Mr. Mayor, have backed this attitude by trying to exclude a wealthy neighborhood. Do you really feel that well-to-do families should be spared adjustments to social necessities and changes? (For surely, you can't feel that it would be bad for the youngsters!) Do you feel that rich families with "expensive" houses should not have to put up with possible adjustments necessitated by having some unhappy youngsters living near them — but that it would be alright for poor families to have to do so? And could you specify exactly how "expensive" a neighborhood could be without Freeport losing your support for a house?

How long are we going to continue to place our property values and the comforts of the privileged before the human values we so loudly advocate? Maybe some of the youngsters are confused by just this kind of double-talk from their elders and leaders?

Sincerely yours,
Kathleen M. Mogul, M.D.

Man's Best Friend and "Scientific" Torture

The experiments related below were conducted by two doctors, one connected with a Veterans Administration hospital and the other with the American Cancer Society. They were described in Associated Press and United Press International releases on February 6, 1970 and reproduced in the Boston Globe, Boston Herald Traveler, New York Times and many other papers throughout the country.

In cancer experiments about 80 healthy beagles were forced to inhale cigarette smoke through a plastic tube inserted in holes bored into their throats every day for two and a half years (875 days) at both morning and afternoon sessions. In a dog's life 2 1/2 years is stated to equal about 18 human years.

The dogs that didn't develop cancer did contract other diseases such as emphysema, fibrosis and often malignant lung tumors.

After all the research of the effects of cigarette smoking on humans, the enormous amount of money expended, the unlimited time devoted, and the results confidently disclosed from such an extensive study, what possible justification could there be for this unspeakable cruelty to dogs? In fact, one of the experimenters stated "We think we have already proved in the past years in man that smoking causes cancer in man."

charged that "in the third Congressional District, they do not have this opportunity."

Born in Newton in 1935, a graduate of Newton public schools and Bowdoin College, Rep. McGlenon is a moderate liberal Republican who is serving his second term in the House. He is a member of the Monday Club, a group of young Republicans on Beacon Hill who have been pushing liberal legislation.

"I believe that our money can be better used to provide decent housing, to alleviate hunger, and to improve education. It is time to clean our air, purify our water and effectively utilize our open spaces," he said.

Pinning the blame for inflation on the Democrats, McGlenon added: "I am not convinced that $1,000 in 1960 should be worth less than $800 today, because our Government spent nearly $60 billion it did not possess. Inflation must be curbed."

The Concord Republican believes that citizens today are demanding to share in the decision-making process of their government, and

Villages-

The village concept presumably would replace the present method of electing eight ward aldermen and 16 aldermen at-large.

Commission member Jerome Grossman, speaking in favor of more direct participation by the voters, said, "A large group of people with the same values are electing all the at-large aldermen."

Licarie added, "People here are basically interested in voting for the mayor and one or two individuals." Licarie said he believes that even if the number of aldermen were reduced, the same feeling would prevail.

Speaking in favor of electing all aldermen on a ward basis, Grossman said the voters would get to know the candidates and office holders and this would help reduce the number of blank votes.

Discussing the size of the Board of Aldermen, commission member H. James Shea, Jr., said, "This city is conditioned to having someone close to the voters."

It was noted that statistics revealed Newton aldermen represented less citizens than local representatives in many other communities.

Commission member Adelaide B. Ball, commenting on suggestions that the board should be relieved of many routine duties, said it wasn't a good idea because "paid employees are not in touch with the people."

The commission approved unanimously a proposal to fill vacancies by special election rather than by appointment. This would be the rule except where the vacancy was created within a few months of a municipal election.

Licarie informed the commission it takes from 1/2 to three months to set up a special election. The cost, he said, is $18,000 for a citywide office and about $2,000 for a ward vacancy.

A proposal was made to have a ward alderman step up to fill a vacancy in an at-large seat. A ward contest then would be held.

This met with little enthusiasm by the commission members who felt that ward aldermen were elected for that office and it would not be fair to the voters, or to the ward aldermen, who may not want to take the at-large job, to have them become at-large office holders.

The commission will vote on proposed charter changes later this year and will submit recommendations to the voters in 1971.

Mental Health Officials O.K. Freeport Plan

The top ranking officials of the Massachusetts Department of Mental Health are strongly endorsing the petition of Freeport Foundation for permission to use a house at 361 Commonwealth Avenue, Newton, as a therapeutic group home for teenagers who need a temporary separation from their own homes.

The petition will be heard at an open hearing of the Land Use Committee of the Board of Aldermen on Monday, April 13 at 8 p.m. at Newton City Hall.

Dr. Milton Greenblatt, commissioner of the Massachusetts Department of Mental Health, and Newton resident, said in support of the petition, "The group home concept is one of the major directions for modern psychiatry and community development. Unless citizens take care of their neighbors who have problems in this way, they will have to pay more taxes for chronic institutional care."

Group homes have proved to be a marvelous rehabilitation device for all sorts of persons with social problems such as running away from home, parent abandonment, and emotional disturbance.

"Many communities in Massachusetts already have embraced this idea, and there are now 50 functioning units of this type in Massachusetts."

"The therapeutic successes arise from the nature of group living, the sharing of problems, close supervision, and a family surrogate type arrangement," Dr. Greenblatt continued.

Urging favorable action by the Land Use Committee, Assistant Commissioner for Community Programs, Dr. Theodore I. Anderson, said "forward-looking communities, they no longer are calling on the state to set up large human warehouses for the containment of their neighbors and family members who exhibit human problems."

This met with little enthusiasm by the commission members who felt that ward aldermen were elected for that office and it would not be fair to the voters, or to the ward aldermen, who may not want to take the at-large job, to have them become at-large office holders.

GOP In Newton Set Busy Pace In City's 8 Wards

Election year activities of the Newton GOP are now under way with the eight ward committees meeting for the purpose of electing officers and to select delegates for the forthcoming State Convention. Republican City Committee Chairman Julius L. Masow this week advised all ward chairmen to convene their wards no later than the week of April 12 so as to be in full compliance with statutory requirements. In preparation, several wards have already held preliminary meetings, among these being Ward Two, under the Chairmanship of Douglas Howard, and Ward Six Chairmanned by Michael Lipo. These meetings were addressed by Representative John McGlennon.

Adult Course Tuition Here Gets $5 Hike

The Newton School Committee has hiked tuition fees for adult education courses $5 starting next fall. Newton residents 65 years of age and over will be admitted tuition free.

The action is expected to add $10,000 to the city's treasury and will cut city support to $40,000.

John E. Gilliland, assistant superintendent for business services, notes the new fees will be:

Home making and crafts courses, $10; general courses and business education, $15 and driver education, $50.

The income estimates are based on an enrollment of 2,000.

About 65 courses are offered, including English, algebra, and history for high school credit, and apprenticeship training in bricklaying, carpentry, electricity and plumbing.

The courses are given at Newton High School, Meadowbrook and Weeks Junior High Schools and Carr Elementary School.

Rev. Pulley Is Speaker For Y Lenten Luncheon

Newtonites will have the opportunity to meet the new minister of the Myrtle Baptist Church on Tuesday (March 24) during the Newton YMCA Lenten Luncheon. The Rev. Harold A. Pulley, who will be the speaker at the luncheon, will discuss "Christian Faith and Christian Culture."

The traditional Lenten Luncheon, which will be held for the 32nd time, was first held on March 16 in 1948 under the direction of Mr. Alex R. Miller immediate past executive and Mr. F. Sayford Bacon then President of the Newton Association.

Though past attendees received special invitations, the meeting is open to all interested persons in the community.

The Women's Auxiliary of the Association through its special hostess committee chaired by Mrs. John Rogan will prepare the luncheon and requests that all planning to attend either call in or mail a reservation. The telephone number of the Newton YMCA, located at 276 Church St. Newton is 244-6050.

Service Center Has Membership Drive Underway

The annual Newton Community Service Centers Sustaining Membership Drive is underway.

Heading the drive is Miss Mary Louise Eddy who resides at 54 Wyman Street in Waban. Other drive coordinators include Miss Margaret S. Ball and Mrs. Edward L. Landy.

This year the agency has set a goal of $15,000 to help defray the costs of the program. The funds are generally utilized to help meet scholarship expense, program materials, and a wide variety of needs necessitated in the operation of the Community Service Centers' activity.

In 1969 over 2,500 different individuals were registered for specific Center programs. Approximately 5,000 individuals through political, service, etc. groups and organizations availed themselves of the agencies facilities.

The Centers in addition to its regular programs is currently serving as the delegate administering agency for the Newton Headstart and Newton Youth Center Projects.

Last year over 2,750 individuals responded to the agencies' plea for support. Hopefully, the number shall be increased with the current drive. For additional information or literature relative to the drive contact the Centers at 969-5906.

Pierson Gets Russian View Of Life There And In U.S.

By WIGMORE A. PIERSON

Late Thursday evening, October 9, 1969 in Leningrad after seeing a Ballet, I along with three other members of the tour, interviewed Nellie who was our constant guide during our six day visit to the Soviet Union.

As our discussion got underway, Nellie was eager to inform us that she is a confirmed Marxist and active member in the Communist Party.

It must be kept in mind that out of the more than three hundred million population of the Soviet Union that only about thirteen million persons actually are members of the Communist Party.

Probably one of the most significant points which Nellie made during our two hour conversation was that the standard of living in the Soviet Union has improved tremendously since the days of the Czars. She seemed to be aware that for the most part the standard of living for most Russians was not absolutely perfect even though it was considerably higher than it was during the long reign of the Czars in Russia.

Realizing that one of the key motivating factors which encourages persons in the U.S. to get a better education and a higher type of job than is a professional job, as opposed to what might be considered in this country a more menial position is simply the economic rewards or monetary return which goes along with a professional career, I was most interested to determine or at least get Nellie's opinion as to what is the motivating factor for persons in Moscow and Russia to try to be something more than a taxi cab driver for instance.

Nellie responded by saying that the main incentive to become a doctor, for example, rather than a street sweeper is to be involved in some kind of creative work.

This means a doctor, a teacher, a lawyer or any one of many professions which she classified as creative. Nellie said that she herself earned one hundred and thirty dollars a month or about a hundred and forty dollars in U.S. currency.

Over fifty Democratic officials and celebrities have accepted invitations, including three of the four likely gubernatorial candidates, two lieutenant governors, two candidates, and the Secretary of State, John F. X. Davoren.

The committee planning the party include Maeve Finley, Constance Kantar, Myra Kraft, Juanita Scheff, Betsy Gesmer, Sonia Michelson, Mary Alice Price, Tillie Rubin, Olympia Pasquarosa, Frances Goldsmith, Anne Fitzpatrick, Ethel Sheehan, Irma Fishman, Louise Hauser, Lenore Asher, Muriel Visco, Anne Laredo, Hannah Morehouse, Doris Devaney, Amelia Yoffe, Anita Greenbaum, Betty Sabetti, Beverly Carmen and Jean Crosby.

When asked about the importance of liberty and freedom she scoffed at the concept suggesting in fact that it is a meaningless word which really refers to the fact that every person is free in any society within the limits of the law of a given society.

Certainly we see here an evading of the question and a significantly different interpretation of the word freedom and liberty than we understand the word to mean in the United States.

In talking about America and the United States Nellie believes that probably ninety-five percent of the Americans are poor - as poor as the Russians were before their own revolution in 1917. She believes firmly apparently that capitalists exploit the poor workers for their own ends and this explains the

“It is when you give of yourself that you truly give.”

“These words of Kahlil Gibran set a perennial goal which I hope will be fulfilled by my way of life. In Newton South High School activities, I have worked with many people of varying interests.

Learning to accept people for themselves and to recognize and respect their talents has served to strengthen each new relationship.

The influence of my upbringing at home as the oldest of five children and my religion classes has helped to determine my values in life. I have had instilled in me the unprejudiced ideals in relating to others. The young people in discussion groups I have participated in have helped me to understand better and to cope with the problems of my generation. Our CYO group has sponsored activities to build friendship and unity among the youth of the parish.

“Newton South High School offers diverse extracurricular activities in the hope of fulfilling the needs of its 1700 students. In my high school years, I have worked closely with teenagers and faculty in the areas of student government and sports.

“As a representative from my class to the governing bodies of the school and grade, I know the wishes of my classmates. I have had a tremendous amount of poverty which she believes exists in this country.

It appears certain here that she is spouting the Communist propaganda which, of course, is the only news that she gets in the Soviet Union on which she forms her own opinion.

Nellie believes in absolute equality apparently in terms of the income of individuals in the society. She asked the rhetorical question, "Why should the doctor earn more money than the cab driver", for example when the cab driver was working and a productive member of the society during the time that the doctor was studying and working for a degree in the University during these several years.

This would seem to indicate that at least in her case there is a continuing curiosity to learn more about the United States and what our country is thinking and writing about in the 1970s.

The observations recorded here of our tourist Guide to the Soviet Union, Nellie, were written down by your author during the course of the conversation in the Hotel in Leningrad.

I have not attempted in this particular article to refute or elaborate greatly because of space limitations all of the nuances of our discussion. It does appear that she was in fact truly committed as one would expect, to the Russian Communist society and way of life and that she was misinformed about many factors of American life.

I leave it to the reader to develop his own arguments, as he may care to, to refute some of the statements and suggestions made by our tourist Guide in Leningrad.

Mary-Louise Kiley Given DAR "Good Citizen" Honor

Miss Mary-Louise T. Kiley valuable experience working with those in school, sharing the common bond which is our school. My position as president of the Girls' Athletic Association provides a means for girls chosen from high schools all over the Commonwealth, she was honored at the March Conference of the Massachusetts Society, DAR, held Tuesday and Wednesday, March 10 and 11 at the Sheraton-Plaza, Boston.

Chosen on the basis of character, courtesy, and patriotism, Miss Kiley, daughter of Lydia Partridge Whitney Chapter, DAR.

With girls chosen from high schools all over the Commonwealth, she was honored at the March Conference of the Massachusetts Society, DAR, held Tuesday and Wednesday, March 10 and 11 at the Sheraton-Plaza, Boston.

“If a girl could carry the patience and enthusiasm which a team teaches to all aspects of her daily living, her life would have more personal meaning.

“By furthering my education in college, I hope to concentrate on the problems of humanity. A major in sociology will allow me to deal directly with people to teach them to respect themselves and then to be able to give of themselves to others.”

Miss Toby Kamens of Chelsea High School was the other “Good Citizen” honored by the local Chapter.

Mrs. Harry L. Walen, Regent of Lydia Partridge Whiting Chapter, and Mrs. W.A. Hurley, vice-Regent, were Chapter delegates at the March Conference.

Mrs. Walen is American History Month Chairman for the State. Also attending were Mrs. Leslie W. Irwin, who is State Hospitality Chairman, Mrs. Herbert Anderson, Mrs. Ross E. Langill, and Mrs. David Hamblen.

“Harvey Cast” Is Announced

Auburndale award winners D. J. Bailey and Tink Rogers have been chosen to play the lead roles in the upcoming performance of “Harvey”, directed by Peg Bailey, to be presented by the Auburndale Club.

This 1970 revival of the Broadway play is scheduled for 8:30 p.m. at the Melrose St. Club on Friday and Saturday (April 10, 11, 17 and 18).

The 1930 comedy about Elwood P. Dowd and his “62” invisible rabbit has recently won wowing reviews by New York critics. The principal characters will be played by D. J. Bailey and Tink Rogers, both award winners and very familiar to the Auburndale audiences. Last fall, D. J. played the leading role in the Club's presentation of “You Can't Take It With You,” which was superbly directed by Tink Rogers.

In the role of Dr. Chumley will be Herb Melly who is well-known not only to Auburndale Club's audiences but also to the M.I.T. Community Players. The roles of Dr. Sanderson and his nurse will be played by Paul Masse and Bonnie McCarthy. Other members of the cast include: John MacInnes, Jack Kavanagh, Barbara Burgess, Jackie Melly, Betty Ewers, John Malloy and Angie McNeil.

For tickets, call Mrs. Dodie Stone (332-3196), Mrs. Peg McKenzie (332-4605).

NATION'S AIR CONTROLLERS ON STRIKE; TRAFFIC SNAGGED

AIR CONTROLLERS demanding better working conditions and more bargaining power with the government called in sick across the country Wednesday, slowing commercial flight traffic at New York and other major air centers. The Federal Aviation Administration asked the Justice Department to seek an injunction against what it termed a strike. Air controllers, like mailmen and other federal employees, are forbidden by law to strike. The air controllers, who direct air traffic throughout the country, stayed away from work in substantial numbers in such areas as Pittsburgh, Philadelphia, Denver, Oakland, Kansas City, Cleveland and Miami, slowing down takeoffs and landings there and at other airports not otherwise affected. The FAA reported that of 1,577 air controllers assigned to the day shift nationwide, 1,220—or 77 per cent—reported for work at its 21 air traffic control centers. The Professional Air Traffic Controllers Organization, which called the work stoppage, said 2,000 of its 7,500 members had called in sick and that this was only the "first wave."

NIXON CALLS FOR DEATH PENALTY TO DEAL WITH BOMBINGS

PRESIDENT NIXON Wednesday called for tough, new laws, including a death penalty, to deal with criminal bombings—"The work of political fanatics, many young criminals posturing as romantic revolutionaries." Nixon said in a statement: "The anarchic and criminal elements who perpetuate such acts deserve no more patience or indulgence. They must be dealt with as the potential murderers they are." Nixon said he would ask Congress to generally toughen and expand existing federal laws regulating transportation of explosives across state lines to impose the death penalty in cases where a person was killed in a bomb blast. In recent weeks, Nixon said, "the situation has become particularly acute as telephone threats and actual bombings have sent fear through many American communities."

ADMINISTRATION OPENS NEGOTIATIONS WITH MAILMEN

THE NIXON ADMINISTRATION opened negotiations with postal workers Wednesday, hoping to reach a wage settlement and end a threat of another illegal strike—this one nationwide. The wage talks began at 2:10 p.m. shortly after House-Senate conferees opened discussions on a compromise pay increase bill for postal workers and other federal employees. But they planned to wait on an administration-union agreement before drafting a compromise bill. President James H. Rademacher of the letter carriers' union said the negotiations had five days to produce some progress or his men would strike nationwide, not just in key metropolitan areas as occurred in the nation's first postal strike last week.

PRICE OF MONEY EASED AS SOME BANKS CUT INTEREST RATES

THE PRICE OF MONEY got a little cheaper for some top-grade business borrowers Wednesday as commercial banks from New York to San Francisco cut their prime interest rates to 8 per cent from a record high of 8½ per cent in effect since June 1969. Not all big banks cut the prime. Many called a reduction premature and said they would hold the line at 8½ per cent. For a time, the stock market soared. There was no comment from the White House on the prime rate cuts, but a Treasury Department spokesman said they were "good news" that reflected "market forces at work and a real price decline."

COMMUNISTS ADVANCE TOWARD KEY LAOTIAN STRONGHOLDS

NORTH VIETNAMESE troops have advanced to within 20 miles of the royal capital of Luang Prabang in northern Laos and are pressing forward there as well as against the key government stronghold of Long Cheng, ranking military sources in Vientiane said Wednesday. The moves, west toward the royal capital and southeast toward Long Cheng, put the North Vietnamese in the position of striking simultaneously in two directions from their bases spread across the Plain of Jars. The sources said 12 royal Laotian troops were killed and 30 others wounded in fighting near Luang Prabang. In another casualty report, they also disclosed that more than 100 soldiers have been killed and 150 wounded in fighting around Long Cheng. They had no figures on Communist casualties.

U.S. BOMBERS FLY 'COMBAT SUPPORT' INSIDE LAOS

U.S. FIGHTER-BOMBERS flew "combat support missions" inside Laos Wednesday to help Laotian government forces fighting North Vietnamese troops there. In South Vietnam, two U.S. Marine helicopters collided over Da Nang, killing all four Americans aboard. Military spokesman said U.S. B52 bombers also flew extensive strikes against Communist supply lines inside Laos and in the far northern quarter of South Vietnam. The U.S. Command in Saigon said ground fire shot down a U.S. Army light observation helicopter in an area 66 miles northeast of Saigon, but the crewmen escaped in injury. No American planes were reported lost in the action over Laos.

KIDNAPERS THREATEN TO KILL U.S. ATTACHE CROWLEY

COMMUNIST TERRORIST kidnappers of U.S. Lt. Col. Donald J. Crowley threatened Wednesday to kill him unless the Dominican government removes its conditions for release of 21 political prisoners in exchange for his life. Crowley, 48, air attaché at the U.S. Embassy in Santo Domingo, "will be executed without hesitation" unless the government complies, the kidnappers said. They set a deadline for the release of the prisoners in a downtown park.

MAYOR WHITE DISCLOSES PROGRAM TO STABILIZE INDUSTRY

MAYOR KEVIN WHITE of Boston introduced a three-point program Wednesday to reverse a trend which has cost Boston 16,000 manufacturing jobs in the last decade. "The key to raising income levels is the creation of stable, high-paying jobs, which are best provided by the manufacturing sector," White told a luncheon meeting of the Greater Boston Chamber of Commerce and the Greater Boston Real Estate Board. Under the program, the city's new Economic Development and Industrial Commission will tackle the critical problem of space for business expansion, create a one-stop service to expedite business firms' transactions with city government, and will serve as the city's economic advisory unit. In a survey of 309 businesses, White said, the city learned the top five reasons a firm leaves Boston for the suburbs: lack of space for expansion, high cost of existing space, difficulty of consolidating facilities, scarcity of skilled labor and need for a one-story layout.

Bellotti Question Mark In Democratic Governor Fight

Francis X. Bellotti is a big question mark in the upcoming fight for the Democratic nomination for Governor.

Political writers, commentators and observers differ sharply in their opinions as to his potential strength and whether he will even be a contender in the Democratic primary next September.

Bellotti himself, appearing recently on a television news show, declared he is an unannounced candidate for Governor. After deliberating on a question, he said he is committed to running in a primary.

His statements apparently were not completely convincing because on a radio panel show the following night one State House reporter expressed the conviction that Bellotti will not be a candidate for Governor in the primary, and another said he was uncertain what Bellotti's status will be after the Democratic State Convention in June.

$2-Million Over Last Year

Aldermen Call School Budget Study Meeting

A special meeting of the Aldermanic Finance Committee, in remarks to his colleagues at their last session tonight (Thursday) to consider the $21-million school budget.

What the Aldermen will or can do about the school budget besides scrutinize it or request the School Committee to reduce it, is uncertain.

It is assumed that neither the Aldermanic Board nor the Mayor has any authority to cut any item in the school budget allowed for educational purposes.

On at least one occasion in the past the Aldermen did make minor reductions in proposed school expenditures, but those funds were restored to the school budget by court order.

The school operating budget is approximately $2.4 million greater than that of last year while the city budget for all municipal purposes is $370,759 higher than in 1969.

Several Aldermen have indicated they would seek to lower the school budget if they had the power to do so but that they lack this authority.

Alderman Edward C. Uehlein, chairman of the Aldermanic Finance Committee, in remarks to his colleagues at their last session tonight (Thursday) to consider the $21-million school budget.

Uehlein observed that the increase in the school budget will boost Newton's tax rate about $7.20 while the rise in the city budget will have a $1.69 impact on the tax rate.

"Outstanding Young Man"

Rep. Shea Winner Of JC Honors

The Newton Outstanding Young Man award for 1969 was presented to State Representative H. James Shea, Jr., of 53 Princess road, West Newton, at the 20th annual Distinguished Service Award banquet held Saturday night at Valle's Steak House.

Rep. Shea represents the 12th Middlesex District in the Legislature and he is a former two-term member of the Newton Board of Aldermen.

The Jaycees also cited three others for their contributions to the community:

Frederick M. Whitmeyer, a research associate at Harvard Business School; Robert M. Young, an advanced techniques engineer in electrophysics at Raytheon; and Frederick J. Dalicandro, partner of Marin's Saw and Lawnmower service in Newton.

Bids For New High School Indicate $20 Million Tag

Judging from the bids for school was predicated on an $10 million when it opened last September. The contractor for the construction costs higher and higher, until now the price is expected to reach at least $20 million.

Mayor Monte G. Basbas said he may call a special meeting of the Board of Aldermen to discuss the matter, because the aldermen set a ceiling of $15.4 million on the high school. The city must select the bidder within 30 days or the plans go back out to bid.

The lowest of the four bidders was the Harvey Construction Co. of Manchester, N.H., with a total contract bid of $16,286,000. Next lowest was the Franchi Construction Co. of Newton, at $16,585,000. Third was Perini Corp. of Framingham, $16,687,000; and fourth, Fontaine Brothers, Springfield, $17,072,000.

In addition to these figures there are such items as carpeting, $120,000; furniture and fixtures, $1.2 million; architects' fees, $675,000; supervisions and contingencies, $590,000. All together, the city's Building Department has projected a total figure for the new school of $19.7 million using the lowest of the four general bids.

A contract has been signed for the Day Junior High School in the amount of $5.2 million with the J. J. Welch Co. of Salem.

Warren Jr. High Students Awarded Prizes For Paper

Students from Warren Junior High School were recently awarded prizes in the 1969 Columbia Scholastic Press Association contest. Their school paper, The Warrener, the second year won a "first" or "A" rating in competition with other junior high papers from schools of 1,200 or more pupils.

Several students won prizes for individual writing. Warren students also spoke at workshops and discussions at the CSPA convention in New York City, March 12-14, breaking the precedent of having only adult speakers at the junior high school level.

Individual "firsts" went to: Jon Backer of Waban, Features (Parody of STEP test); Cammie Leone, Auburndale, Features ("Mimi and Amy Kravitz Give TV Talks"); and Michael Silton, Waban, Editorials ("Air Pollution — A Growing Threat"). Richard Backer, Waban, received a second prize in sports ("Variety on Top").

Participating in the convention program were: Jonathan Newman, Waban; Sean Lloyd, West Newton; David Perritz, West Newton, and Ira Yoffe, Newton Lower Falls ("Finding News In Interviews, Class Rooms and the Community"); Jon Backer and Mrs. Sharon Breakstone, Adviser ("Humor and Satire in School Publications").

Members of the staff of The Warrener, the Warren year book and Day Junior High School's seventh-grade newspaper were in New York to receive their awards and to attend journalism workshops and lectures during CSPA.

Tickets may be obtained by calling Mrs. Richard Barkin at 566-7750 or Mrs. Fred Clayton at 566-2955. Tickets will also be available at the door.

The TVA now controls an area of 80 square miles.

The Postal Strike

An understandable tendency exists to criticize sharply those postal employees who participated in the Wildcat Strike which interrupted the normal handling of mail and inconvenienced the public.

This is not intended to shield those post office workers who may be deserving of blame, but the hard fact is that the postal employees have not been treated fairly in the matter of compensation.

In order to support his family, the average letter-carrier or clerk finds it necessary to moonlight and hold a second job. It usually is not possible to make both ends meet on postal pay.

If the postal worker is to be denied the right to strike, as he should be, he is entitled to some method of appeal which would assure him of the fair treatment he has not received in recent years.

The postal employee has suffered because the Post Office Department has not been self-supporting. The crisis developed at least partly because of President Nixon's desire to have the postal functions taken over by a non-profit corporation, an objective of lofty motives but seemingly impossible of accomplishment.

There should be no stalling either in Congress or the White House in giving the postal workers fair treatment. They should be granted a reasonable salary increase, and they should receive it immediately. Any side problems involving postal reforms can be settled at a later time.

Dr. Leary And The Law

Dr. Timothy Leary, who was dropped as a psychology professor at Harvard after it was discovered he was using the assistance of students in experiments with a drug called LSD, is in a California jail while his counsel seeks cash to support a pending appeal.

The California judge who sentenced him to one to 10 years in prison on a charge of possession of marijuanna has refused Dr. Leary bail. He said Leary was a menace to society.

The doctor must be considered a pioneer in this modern era of drug abuses. Few outside the laboratories had ever heard of LSD, until Harvard invited him to sever his connection with its faculty. Since then, due in no small measure to the doctor's activities and frequent public discussion of his views, LSD has become a common subject for arousing instant fears and abhorrence.

Today, no doubt, Harvard would find itself courting picket lines and the denunciation of many ultraliberals, by even attempting to rid itself of a professor of Dr. Leary's dubious attainments.

Three or four years back, it appeared the public would be rid of its constant exposure to his strange and psychological philosophies. A Texas judge sentenced him to 30 years in prison for importing marijuanna from Mexico. He didn't go to jail. He didn't even drop out of the limelight.

In 1968 the U.S. Supreme Court in a unanimous decision threw out the Texas conviction on technicalities.

He was tried again. Again he was convicted. This time he was given a 10-year jail sentence. One of his lawyers expresses confidence both the California and Texas sentences, which are due to run consecutively, will again be overturned in the U.S. Supreme Court.

"After all," he said, "despite all the charges against him, Tim has never done any time."

No doubt, Dr. Leary must be chafing under the no-bail of the California judge. Perhaps, too, he will share the puzzlement of millions of Americans when the mills of justice turn ever so slowly. But he finally is where he belongs.

$9 Million Raid

Enough heroin and cocaine to provide 216,000 average-size doses to addicts was seized in New York recently. Queens District Attorney Thomas J. Mackell, handling prosecution of the case, added something unusual to the "largest ever" statement, often given out after larger-than-usual seizures.

He was able to convince the court that two alleged members of an international narcotics smuggling ring arrested in the raids faced possible life terms and were, therefore, poor bail risks. He asked for $250,000 bail. The judge went along with him. He granted the request.

Mr. Mackell in discussing the case with the news media sounded a warning — a warning probably unprecedented before this strange era in American history.

He said prices on the illicit drug market would probably go up. They did.

He said there might be more deaths as vicious traffickers tried to balance the loss with defective grades of heroin. Fatalities due to heroin did increase.

He said street crimes, already at or near record-breaking levels would increase. The crime rate did increase.

Altogether, that is a frightening price to pay to take $9 million worth of drugs off the market. However, the balance is still on the right side.

If the price goes high enough, maybe some addicts will be forced to seek out help and possibly the reclamation of their lives before it is too late. Maybe, too, some youngsters will find they can't pay the price needed to experiment.

Maybe, police and law agencies will finally begin to get the upper hand in the fight against crime.

It would be absurd to think that one raid or one big seizure will begin to deflate this horrendous traffic, even if it brings about the capture of alleged "big shots."

What is needed right now is a long succession of raids of major proportions and a steady climb in the arrests of the deadly entrepreneurs who have discovered fortunes can be made in the destruction of the minds and bodies of their victims.

Twenty-one President of The Circus World Museum of the United States were located in Bar-boo, Wis., military uniforms at some home of the Ringling Bros. time in their lives.

Brass Quartet For Services On Easter Morning

The Church of the Good Shepherd in Waban Square will proclaim the Resurrection from the Church steps with a red-robed brass quartet fifteen minutes before the 9 and the 11 a.m. services on Easter morning. "The Church needs the boldness of brass if it expects to be heard today," declared the Rev. William E. Foley, Rector.

"The old patterns must be disturbed. We can no longer afford to sit in our churches expecting the world to come to us. The Christian message must be trumpet outside, if people are to hear it at all."

"The Church itself must be resurrected," the Rev. Mr. Foley concluded. "It must rise again to present the real revolution — the proclamation of Christian values that have not as yet really been tried."

The combined choir of the Good Shepherd will sing compositions by Georg Philipp Telemann and Vivaldi, as well as those of modern composers. Instruments in the services include recorder, trumpet, cello, horn and timpani.

Sales Representative

John R. Ryan of Bellingham has been appointed sales representative for Aquapac Corporation, Foxboro, manufacturers of seamless aluminum rain-gutter systems.

Mr. Ryan, a veteran of more than 15 years' sales experience, is a native of Brookline. He and his wife, Barbara, have two children, Susan and John Jr., 5.

The weight of political opinion is that Boston Mayor Kevin H. White and State Senate President Maurice A. Donahue will be the two top contestants at the Democratic State Convention but that Bellotti will have enough delegate support to stalemate the White-Donahue fight on the first ballot and send it a second and possibly even a third ballot.

Opinion on what is likely to happen after the first ballot splits sharply. Well it might since the convention delegates have not yet been chosen, and appraisals are being made on the basis of educated guesses and who the delegates have been in the past.

It is generally agreed that Bellotti will not have the delegate strength to match Mayor White or Senate President Donahue and that he will be defeated on the second or third ballot.

A division of judgment develops as to what Bellotti will do at this point in his attempted political comeback. He could conceivably do one of three things.

1. He might throw his support to one of the two major contenders at the convention and try to make a deal for the endorsement for Lieutenant Governor. (Whether that would be even possible would depend on the convention rules. When Bellotti, then Lieutenant Governor, was defeated by the then Governor Endicott Peabody at the 1964 Democratic State Convention in West Springfield, the rules prevented Bellotti from seeking any office other than the one for which he had listed himself a candidate — that of Governor.)

2. Bellotti can carry his fight to the voters in the September primary.

3. He could retire to the sidelines and not run for any office. That would be unlikely, since it would be tantamount to Bellotti's withdrawal from politics.

While the political experts give Bellotti no chance at the convention, some of them assert that he should not be dismissed too lightly, in a primary. Under certain circumstances, Bellotti might be a candidate to be reckoned with in a four-way clash with White, Donahue and former White House Presidential Aide Kenneth O'Donnell.

In all his campaigns Bellotti has been able to muster an army of devoted followers who work fervently and, in many instances, almost fanatically in his behalf.

This could be his last big bid for high public office. He served as Lieutenant Governor back in 1963 and 1964. It is doubtful he would be interested in running again for that office, but of course, he might be in order to stay alive in politics.

Incidentally, some persons have telephoned or written to say that Bellotti remarked in a television interview that he had run against three Governors, and they asked what he meant by that.

We heard the same remark. What we think he meant is this: In the 1964 Democratic primary Bellotti ran against Endicott Peabody, then Governor, and defeated him. In the 1964 election Bellotti opposed John A. Volpe, then an ex-Governor, and lost to him. In the 1966 primary Bellotti opposed ex-Governor Foster Furcolo for the Democratic nomination for Attorney General and won.

Bellotti might hold the balance of power between White and Donahue at the convention. He might conceivably be offered the endorsement for Lieutenant Governor by one candidate in a trade. He will be an interesting candidate to watch if he does go into the primary.

GOP Politicos See Philbin Winner Over Father Drinan

State Representative John A. S. McGlennon of Concord is one politician who believes Congressman Philip J. Philbin will defeat Father Drinan in the Democratic primary next September. He expects to be the Republican nominee who will meet the Philbin-Drinan contest in the final election.

Mr. McGlennon will not be in a position to vote for either Congressman Philbin or Father Drinan in the Democratic primary next September. He expects to be the Republican nominee who will meet the Philbin-Drinan contest in the final election.

When a television newscaster, who was interviewing McGlennon, remarked that Father Drinan was the favorite and Philbin the underdog in their fight, Mc-

HE WILL RISE FOR US!

POLITICAL HIGHLIGHTS

Glennon replied that he believed just the reverse was true and that Congressman Philbin was the favorite.

This was not a case of wishful thinking because Republican politicians generally express the opinion that Philbin would be a tougher candidate to defeat in the final election than would Father Drinan.

They believe the stage might be set for the Republicans to pick up a seat in Congress if Father Drinan should stage an upset and defeat Congressman Philbin in the primary.

Representative McGlennon evidently shares that opinion because he has been directing his criticism at Philbin and ignoring Father Drinan. It would appear that he is doing whatever he can to cut down Philbin. How effective his efforts in that direction will be remains to be seen.

Father Drinan's candidacy so far has not caught fire in the manner his supporters had hoped.

Arthur Goldberg May Upset Gov. Nelson Rockefeller

Former Supreme Court Justice and UN Ambassador Arthur Goldberg has yielded to the arguments and pleas of Democratic leaders in New York State and will be a candidate for Governor there next fall, as predicted in this space a few weeks ago.

This could be bad news for Governor Nelson Rockefeller who is a candidate for reelection to a fourth term and up to now has been a favorite to achieve it.

Democratic chieftains in the Empire State believe that Goldberg will be an extremely strong candidate for Governor. They predict that he not only will defeat Nelson Rockefeller but that he may carry a Democratic U.S. Senator into office with him.

If Mr. Goldberg proves to be the great vote-getter in New York State that Democratic politicos expect, he just might be the man who will lead the Democrats back into the White House.

We have never had a Jewish President of the United States, but we didn't have a Catholic one either until less than 10 years ago.

Arthur Goldberg has suddenly created a highly interesting political situation in the great state of New York.

Nixon Said To Be Insulated From Hard Political Facts

Some astute professional Republican politicians express the conviction that one of President Nixon's great handicaps is that he, like many other men holding high public offices, is isolated and insulated from political reality.

They say that the men around the President, who supposedly have their finger on the public pulse, tell him what they think he wants to hear and spare him as much unpleasant news as they can.

GOP leaders, incidentally, are not as confident about next November's national election as they were six months ago. Things don't look quite as bright to them as they did.

They still expect to make some gains in the two branches of Congress, but only slim ones, possibly picking up three or four seats in the Senate and five or six in the House.

Any dream that control of Congress might shift from the Democrats to the Republicans has just about vanished. No swing of that proportion appears to be in the making.

Internal rows within the Republican party have hurt the GOP cause in some states where Republican chances appeared good a few months ago. Michigan, Ohio and Florida are placed in that category.

The failure of the Republicans to produce outstanding candidates is hurting the GOP in such states as Connecticut, Indiana, Maryland, Virginia, Wyoming and Utah, where it had been felt Republican gains would be made.

Reports from Washington, incidentally, indicate that George Wallace is far from certain of winning the Democratic nomination for Governor in Alabama. Poli-

LETTERS TO THE GRAPHIC

Pro Freeport

Editor of The Graphic:

As two of the many defenders of the "Freeport Foundation," we should like to express our profound support of this admirable group of young people. They and their adult advisors are a shining example of the benevolence that can come into being when thoughtful youths and compassionate adults pool their resources. They deserve the support of the entire community.

If those who are opposing the pending location of Freeport would acquaint themselves with all the facts, we feel certain that they would take great pride in their proximity to the chosen residence. We are very hopeful that misinformation and unfounded fears will not be instrumental in delaying this noble and urgent project.

Letters to The Graphic

Editor of The Graphic:

Permit me to congratulate you on the clear editorial statement contained in "Focus On Mid-East" which appeared in the March 12 issue of "The Newton Graphic."

Mrs. Heckler reveals a profound grasp of the Middle East situation when she emphasizes that "it is vital that Israel remain strong and capable of maintaining its security" and you do likewise when you conclude that keeping Israel strong is one of "The pivotal issues involved for the United States in the Middle East."

Let us all continue to work together for the day when Israel's neighbors will recognize her right to live within secure and defensible borders so that peace will finally prevail in that troubled area of the world.

Happy Winner

Editor of The Graphic:

I am happy to be writing this note to inform you that my Encyclopaedia Britannica arrived, in perfect condition, yesterday and are now sitting on our living room bookcase.

They make a handsome addition to the room and have already been put to excellent use.

My picture in The Graphic did nothing to convey how excited I was (am) over winning the contest, but I hope I can now with several words — thank you.

I think your paper is most informative and I always look forward to Thursday's mail as if a good friend was coming to visit with all kinds of good news.

Most sincerely,

About Idealism

Editor of The Graphic:

James Colbalt's flag-waving ceremony concerning American idealism and principles in Vietnam would look better if My Lai had never occurred.

U.S. troops sat women and children in a group and shot them. Idealism is of value only when all members of the team hold the same values.

Action contrary to James Colbalt's idealism about

European and Asian defenses stand on the record in Vietnam.

There are many, many My Lai's in Southeast Asia, I believe, hidden by the Army.

This is a war of diplomacy without diplomats. My Lai must call for a reevaluation.

8" Is Magic Number This Week at Murray Rd. School

Eight is the magic number Abraham Berger at 403 this week for Newton's Murray Rd. School, when eight families host eight small parent-teacher-student talk sessions.

Each group, selected at random, consists of 1/8 of the school's parents plus two faculty members, several students, and resource people. At these individual sessions it is hoped that through discussion and interchange of ideas the views of parents in five important areas may be brought out.

All parents in the school have received written invitations to participate in the talk groups, which are discussing parent involvement in the school; student-teacher decision making in the school; parents' reaction to students' school experiences; school involvement in drug education and sex education; and the general question of whether learning, Murray Road style, satisfied students, parents, teachers.

Four sessions have already taken place, with hosts Mr. and Mrs. James Timoney, Mr. and Mrs

Alderman Uehlein Issues Statement On '70 Budget

Following is the text of the statement made by Alderman Edward C. Uehlein, chairman of the Aldermanic Finance Committee, when he submitted his report on the city and school budgets for this year:

Your Finance Committee has recommended that I, as Chairman, make some comments to this Board relative to the Budget which we are about to present for the year 1970.

The Department Requests totalled $46,498,228.43. Prior to a review by the Finance Committee and other Committees, the Mayor reduced by $3,044,476.15. The Budget was then reviewed by the appropriate committees and submitted to the Finance Committee, and we made net reductions amounting to $433,842.41 leaving a Gross Budget being presented to you here today in the amount of $43,019,909.87.

The Budget approved by the Board in 1969 was $40,486,562.87, this year the request is for $43,019,909.87, an increase of $2,833,346.88. Of this increase $2,462,587.00 was an increase in the School Operating Budget, the balance of $370,759.88 covers all the other City Budgets.

Translated into the impact these increases have upon your tax rate it is found that the School Budget increases have an effect of $7.24 on the 1970 tax rate, all other City Departments increases has an impact of $1.69 on the Budget for 1970. This latter increase in the City Department Budget, it must be pointed out, will be greater after the salary increases to City Employees has been determined.

Your Finance Committee wishes to call to your attention and to the attention of the Citizens and Tax Payers of this City that there is obviously a disparity which appears to be inequitable as between a $7.24 increase in the tax rate due to the School Budget with a $1.09 increase in all other City Budgets. It is not suggested that there should not be a disparity; it is suggested that the time has come when there should be a closer correlation between these two Budgets. The School Department Budget is for the benefit of about one-third of the Citizens, the rest of the Budget covers services for all of the Citizens, two-thirds of whom have no children in school.

Based on the Budget we are presenting to you here today, the increase in the tax rate would be $14.07. The two increases I have discussed here-tofore total $8.33; I am about to tell you where the shocker is. This year, as a result of our loss in State Aid and increased State Assessments which amount to $1,773,555.27, we have added $5.22 to our tax rate, and this is on items over which we have no control. I shall discuss this matter further. In addition thereto, there was added to our tax rate, as it now stands, 52 cents, due to estimated decreases of receipts available and due from the State to offset our tax rate, and due mostly to the failure of the State to forward Excess Tax Bills to the City.

This year alone, it is estimated that we will receive

$1,773,555.27 less than last year from State distribution of local aid and agency funds.

The only small ray of hope we have for reduction of this estimated tax increase of $14.07 is the increase in assessed valuation for the City which as of date is estimated to be approximately Five and one-half million dollars which will equal approximately $1.80 on the taxes; for each million dollars in increased assessment, we have a reduction of 30 cents more or less on the tax rate.

Your Finance Committee with the assistance of other committee are presenting a Budget which we believe is reasonable and one within which the Department could operate. We felt very strongly that no new employees should be added to the payroll of the City. We struck out four additional employees in the Street Department which had been allowed by the Mayor, and we removed one position, a clerk in the Assessing Department and a clerk in the Street Department. However, we felt that the five additional police officers which had been allowed by the Mayor were necessary; the Department had requested fifteen. It is our opinion, and we are confident that the Department Heads will cooperate, that there are sufficient employees in the Departments and in these difficult times particularly, it is imperative that the productivity per employee must be increased. We are aware and look with favor upon salary increases within reasonable bounds for all City Employees, vail.

Your Committee pointed out to the School Committee that although we wish to have a fine School System, it is also the desire of the Board of Aldermen that other than the rich be able to afford to live in this City and to enjoy these Schools. With each heavy increase in our tax rate we make it more and more impossible for citizens of low and moderate incomes to remain within our City and enjoy the fruits of their many years of labor.

In reviewing the Budget of the Public Buildings Department, the Finance Committee and your Buildings Committee felt that the cuts made for necessary maintenance was somewhat too heavy; and, after discussion with the Mayor, he agreed with us and, therefore, approximately $100,000 was added to that Department by the Finance Committee. We feel it is a false economy for us to continue to allow excessive deterioration of our buildings.

Obviously, the School Budget was accepted as presented. I am sure you are aware the Board has no authority to cut this Budget; merely to pass it and raise necessary taxes to pay for it. The Citizens of this City demand a good School System; this we have and this we must pay for. We feel that the School Committee worked diligently in cutting their Budget. The only wish we have is that this Committee could find in their hearts some year a way to say NO to an increase in the number of employees needed for the School Department. Each year the numbers increase. We believe the time has come for more efficient use of existing employees and that Parkinson's Law should no longer be allowed to preserve us, we have no Home Rule.

Our Legislature has before it bills and programs for minimum wages for teachers and other abatements for elderly and veterans, increased retirement benefits for public employees, for collective bargaining, increased fringe benefits to public employees; the budgets of the county and metropolitan district commissions are passed by the Legislature, and we have nothing to say about them yet we pay the bill and many other matters which rightfully should belong to the Cities and Towns to determine. Real Estate Tax can no longer support these programs. We call upon the Legislators and the Governor not to pass any more bills which increase the cost to the Cities without making adequate provisions to offset these costs with additional revenue from the State.

Another innovation for this year is that your Finance Chairman has delegated to other members of the Committee the task of reporting to you some of the Department Budgets. In this way other members of the Finance Committee will be more involved in the duties of the Finance Committee and it feels that for one man to report all the Budgets is not only an excessive amount of work, but inefficient.

I wish to thank my committee, it worked long and diligently, it did their homework. I wish to thank the Mayor for his cooperation and the Comptroller, Mr. Maher, who was of particular great help to us on many occasions. At this time the Chairman also wishes to thank all the Department Heads who appeared before the Committee for their sincere cooperation and understanding of the problems of City, and their willingness to cooperate with your Finance Committee.

Other factors over which city officials have no control, including the drop in revenue from the state and a sharp increase in assessments upon the city, will combine to raise the city's tax rate about $16, sending it soaring to approximately the $115-mark.

Alderman Uehlein expressed the conviction that the time has arrived when there should be a closer correlation between the school and city budgets.

He told his colleagues that the school budget "is for the benefit of about one-third of the present School Budget will be $3.40 which means for next year we have a built-in tax increase as of this moment of $3.40."

"Although we wish to have a fine school system, it is also the desire of the Board of Aldermen that persons other than the rich should be able to afford to live in this city and enjoy those schools," Uehlein asserted.

"With each heavy increase in our tax rate, we make it more impossible for citizens of low and moderate incomes to remain within our city," the Alderman stated.

Only minor reductions totalling $433,842 were made by the Board of Aldermen in time the Chairman also wishes to thank all the Department Heads who appeared before the Committee for their sincere cooperation and understanding of the problems of City, and their willingness to cooperate with your Finance Committee.

Final Lecture In Series Set For March 29

The final session in a special lecture discussion series "Getting to Know Israel" will be held at the Brookline-Brighton-Newton Jewish Community Center, 50 Sutherland Rd., Brighton, Sunday (March 29) at 8:15 p.m.

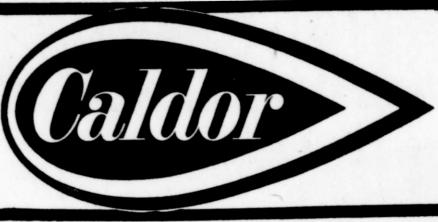

The program "a taste of milk and honey" will feature an evening of Israeli entertainment with audience participation. The program will include a performance by Ram Avni, professional actor and director of the Israeli Theatre and Aiala Goren, folk dance specialist. Israeli delicacies will be served.

The series of lectures and discussions are sponsored by the center in cooperation with the American Jewish Committee and Yechiel Yani of the Joint Israel Programs.

the municipal budget submitted to them by Mayor Monte G. Babas.

The Mayor actually had pared the budget to the bone before presenting it to the Aldermen, trimming about $4 million from the recommendations of his department heads.

A motion for a 5 per cent across-the-board reduction in the Mayor's budget, excluding the allowances for salaries, was made by Alderman Joseph M. McDonnell but was rejected by a 17-4 vote, with only Alderman Richard J. Bullwinkle, Peter F. Harrington and Eliot K. Cohen joining McDonnell in voting for his measure.

Pretty March Bridal Unites Miss McGrath-Mr. D'Ercole

A trip to Cape Cod followed the recent marriage of Miss Kathleen Ann McGrath to Bruce John D'Ercole.

Mr. and Mrs. James L. McGrath of Hingham and Mr. and Mrs. Victor D'Ercole of 10 at her wedding, and her flowers were orchids.

The Rev. George Joseph McDonough officiated at the 7:30 o'clock evening ceremony at which two rings were exchanged. A reception was held at the home of the bride's parents.

Given in marriage by her father, the bride wore a lace dress with a matching man-

Miss Sheila McGrath of Hingham was her sister's attendant.

Gary D'Ercole of Newton, brother of the groom, served as best man. Ushering were Robert Ellis, David Sherman, Gary Hunsfach and Neal Ochs, all of Newton, were the ushers.

The couple left for a honeymoon on Cape Cod.

The bride attended Jeannine d'Arc Academy and was graduated from Hingham High School. Having attended Trinity College, Dublin, Ireland, during the summer of 1969, she is now attending Suffolk University.

Mr. D'Ercole was graduated from Newton South High School and Suffolk University. A member of the National Guard, he is associated with the Microsonic Corporation and expects to attend the Massachusetts Institute of Technology Graduate School.

Weeks Clothing Exchange Stocks New Spring Lots

Mini, Midi, Maxi - see them all at the Weeks Junior High School Clothing Exchange! A fantastic assortment of new Spring goods can be purchased for reasonable prices. Clothing for men, women and children plus a unique boutique are featured.

The Exchange is a completely volunteer operation that has been successful for twenty years. All profits are donated to the Weeks PTA for their Scholarship Fund and the purchase of needed equipment at the school.

Neil printed the photo with dark room equipment donated this year by the PTA with Exchange money. A selection of other pictures taken by Neil will soon be on display at the Clothing Exchange.

Come and buy at the Clothing Exchange every Wednesday when school is in session from 10 am to 2:30 pm. They will also be open on the following Monday nights from 6 pm to 9:30 pm: April 13th, May 11th, May 25th and June 1st.

Appraisals of new merchandise are made on Wednesdays from 10 am to 12 pm ONLY. The consignee receives seventy-five per cent of the sale price and the PTA receives twenty-five per cent.

Follow Center Street in Newton to Alleton Road which leads to Hereward Fad and the Weeks Junior High School Clothing Exchange. All the devoted volunteers will be there to assist you.

Belmont Temple Setting For Stein-Lipsett Wedding

Temple Beth-El in Belmont was the setting recently for the marriage of Miss Marcia E. Lipsett to Norman R. Stein.

Mr. and Mrs. Harold L. Lipsett of 78 East Side (April 1) at the Workshop on Columbus Street, the Highlands, under the auspices of the American Home Committee.

Cantor Alex Zimmer officiated at the 6:30 o'clock nuptial service. A reception took place at the temples social hall.

Given away by her father, the bride wore an empire gown fashioned of ivory satin styled with a wedding band collar and long sleeves trimmed with jeweled re-embroidered Alencon lace, Sibellus.

A matching jeweled crown held in place her bouffant elbow length illusion veil. She carried a bouquet of white roses.

Miss Jean Dithmar of New York City was honor maid. Her royal blue velvet empire gown had a wedding band neckline and long sleeves accented with white Venice lace. She carried a yellow and white old fashioned bouquet.

Identically attired, the bridesmaids were Miss Linda Nourses.

The bride was graduated from Middlebury College and is now a computer programmer for IBM.

Handy Gals Need Home Repairs Kits and Tools

Get them young, is the motto of Dr. George Shepard who is a specialist in the education of handicapped children.

He thinks it isn't too early to start the formal education of some children when they are only one year old. He also thinks that children with physical, emotional or behavioral handicaps have long been among the neglected 15-25 per cent of the country's school age children.

Now, with the aid of a $200,000 federal grant which the 37-year-old Shepard was instrumental in obtaining, a national research center to study education for handicapped preschool children has been established at the University of Oregon. It will operate in a new clinical services building on the campus in Eugene, Ore.

Shepard, who worked for more than a year preparing the application which won the grant, is excited about the prospects. "There's just so much that needs to be done," he says with enthusiasm.

For several years Shepard has been coordinator of training programs for the physically handicapped at Oregon. In 1965 he and two others originated and directed the Northwest Regional Instructional Materials Center. He came to Oregon in 1965 from the University of Illinois where he worked with two of the foremost world experts in special education.

Early education in the United States has received increasing attention in recent years. The new center in Eugene is one of six in the country studying the need to educate children at the earliest possible age.

Even as elementary a matter of identifying children with a handicap, and classifying their educational needs, is not well documented. One of the major projects Shepard sees for the new center is to perfect a system of identifying the handicapped child.

There are many kinds of handicaps, some caused by physical problems and many produced by the environment. The researchers not only want to define the existing problems of the children, but also to learn a way they can forecast potential learning problems.

Another phase of the study will be to develop survival skills in an academic setting for the first- and second grader.

"To succeed in education," Shepard says, "it is basic that you have all of your senses."

If a child can't hear or see well, or has language difficulties, he is handicapped in fitting into the regular educational programs.

Overseas Kiddies Get Help By Efforts Of Girl Scouts

In an effort to promote world friendship, Auburndale's Junior Girl Scout Troop 614 (Burr School) of Bay Path Colonial Council, recently sent a shipment of stuffed animals which they made themselves, together with other toys and sweaters they collected, to the United Christian Hospital in Lahore, West Pakistan.

Troop 614 became aware of the need for the toys and sweaters through Dr. and Mrs. William Bussink, who spent three years in Lahore before coming to Auburndale. Mrs. Bussink had worked as a volunteer in the Maternity and Child Health Center of the United Christian Hospital, and she told the girls how desperately the sick children needed toys and warm sweaters.

Under the direction of their Leader, Mrs. Harold Mahon, the Junior Scouts made a large assortment of bunnies, ducks, cats, and bears.

Dr. Bussink, who returned to West Pakistan three weeks ago, wrote to tell Troop 614 that the toys have been very warmly received. Some are being given to post-operative

The sweaters are given to the children who come to the clinic and have no outer garments.

Mr. Lillie also wrote that Troop 614 will soon be receiving a letter from the Girl Scout Troop in Lahore.

petence in school subjects, then will look for new materials and methods to bring the handicapped child up to at least the minimum acceptable level.

At first research will be aimed at the 4-6 age group, but over the years it will be revised downward. Eventually the center will be dealing with one-year-olds.

Working with Shepard will be Dr. Barbara Bateman, a leading authority on learning disabilities, and Dr. Gerard Paterson. They now work in the Special Education Department of the university.

Top 'Scholar' Honors Given Sandra Mozden

Miss Sandra A. Mozden of Newton is one of 10 outstanding members of the Class of 1973 at Mount Holyoke College to be named Mount Holyoke Scholars by the Board of Admissions. This award is given annually to those freshmen who show excellence of entrance records and college work during the first semester.

The secondary schools which the students attended will each receive a gift of $100 to be used for books for the school library. William D. Geer, principal of Newton South High School, has received notification that Newton South High will receive additions to its library on behalf of the achievement of its graduate, Miss Mozden. Each new book will be inscribed with Miss Mozden's name.

Miss Mozden, who was the recipient of a National Merit Letter of Commendation, was also a member of the French National Honor Society. She is the daughter of Dr. and Mrs. Peter J. Mozden, 245 Wiswall road, Newton.

Mr. Earl Alban will be the president of the month and will lead the devotional service following a luncheon to be served at 12:30 under the direction of Mrs. Donald Frail. The dining room will be under the supervision of Miss Marie Sladen and Mrs. Winslow C. Auryansen will do the decorating.

Joint Good Friday Rites For Auburndale Churches

Good Friday services on churches from Auburndale, West Newton and Waban.

The traditional Good Friday service will be from 1:30 o'clock in the afternoon and evening at the Church of the Messiah, 1900 Commonwealth Avenue, Auburndale, which will be joined by neighboring Christian organ music, hymns, scripture readings, prayers and addresses.

The participating clergy and churches are: the Rev. Robert W. Golledge, Church of the Messiah; the Rev. Eugene W. Meyer, Auburndale Congregational Church; the Rev. Donald Troy, Corpus Christi Church; the Rev. Arthur Osgood, Centenary United Methodist Church, all in Auburndale; the Rev. Harold Pulley, Myrtle Baptist Church; and the Rev. Russell Gundlach, Lincoln Park Baptist Church of West Newton.

At eight o'clock in the evening, also at the Church of the Messiah, there will be a presentation of the Faure "Requiem." The choir from the Church of the Good Shepherd, Waban, will join the choirs of the Church of the Messiah, the Centenary Methodist Church and the Auburndale Congregational Church in this program of sacred music.

Peter T. Stapleton, organist-choirmaster, at the Church of the Messiah, will be the organist at both Good Friday services. All are welcome to attend.

'Y' Art Classes To Get Underway Saturday April 4

The Newton YMCA announces the formation of a new art class under the leadership of James Lochiatto of Vespa George School of Art. Classes beginning Saturday, April 4 at 9:30 A.M. will be for children ages nine and up, and will be limited to 10 students.

Students will begin with sketching in pencil and then proceed to poster paints and water colors. Sketching, both inside and out-of-doors, will stress shading and capturing correct proportion.

As students advance to work with the color ideas they will receive a basic understanding of the color wheel and value scales.

The course's final session will be devoted to a trip to the Boston Museum of Fine Arts. For further information contact the Newton YMCA at 244-6050.

GOP Women's Meeting Will Feature Police Technique

"Know Your Protectors" is the theme of the second in the "Concern" series of public interest programs sponsored by the Newton Women's Republican Club. It will be held at Newton Police Headquarters in West Newton on March 31, starting at 8 p.m.

It will include a tour of police facilities, showing the crime detection laboratories, displays of narcotic devices, dangerous weapons, traffic enforcement equipment, a short film, and discussion of the narcotic problem.

Police Chief William F. Quinn will welcome the group, and Sargent Thomas M. Dargan, of the Narcotics Squad, will lead the discussion of the drug problem, a topic of the utmost concern.

This meeting is open to the public, and provides an opportunity to observe at first hand the facilities employed for our protection, and to learn some of the problems

Dr. Yerushalmi Speaks March 31

Dr. Yosef Yerushalmi, will present the third of a four-part lecture in a series of six lectures at the Spring Session of the Combined Adult Jewish Education Program being held at Temple Mishkan Tefila, 300 Hammond Pond Parkway, Chestnut Hill, Tuesday evening March 31st, at 8:00 p.m. Dr. Yerushalmi will lecture on SOLOMON ibn GABIROL: YEARNING FOR THE ABSOLUTE. The title of his four-part lecture is PORTRAIT OF AN AGE: THE FLOWERING OF HEBREW POETRY IN MEDIEVAL SPAIN.

Dr. Yosef Yerushalmi is Assistant Professor of Hebrew and Jewish History at Harvard University. A native of New York, he was educated at Yeshiva University and the Jewish Theological Seminary of America, and holds both the M.A. and Ph.D. in Jewish History from Columbia University.

For those that have not registered as yet, registration may be made at the door. High School and College Students admitted free to all classes and lectures. Refreshments will be served following the lectures. Classes are from 8:00 p.m. to 9:00 p.m. and lectures from 9:15 p.m. to 10:15 p.m.

Participating Temples and Chairmen are: Emanuel Eric E. Ungar, Chairman, Temple Emet; Daniel C. Smolens, Chairman, Temple Mishkan Tefila; William B. Nathanson, Chairman, Temple Reiyim; Gerald Cohen, Chairman.

With regard to the nursing program Dudley stated that it produces a social benefit even though it may not be a direct benefit to Newton taxpayers.

Dudley said that options had been discussed by the college. They include:

- Programs of tuition differential based on program.
- External subsidy — the best source would probably be the federal government though such funds are currently frozen.
- Merger with other nursing programs — the most likely possibility would be Newton-Wellesley Hospital.
- Part time tuition rate increased by $3 per semester hour from $22 to $25 without distinction between Newton residents and non-residents.
- Fee for auditing a course would be changed from a flat $25 per course (usually 3 semester hours) to a fee of $12.50 per semester hour.

Newton Junior College President Charles Dudley pointed out that the recommendations carried the endorsement of the administration, Board of Directors and faculty. A basis has been set up, he explained, for including a broader segment of the college in decision making.

President Dudley also said a cost analysis study presented to the School Committee represents the first attempt at analyzing programs on a cost per student per program basis.

He noted that the study shows that career programs are more expensive to operate than transfer ones.

The average per student cost of transfer programs is

"Drownproofing" A Feature Of 'Y' Learn-to-Swim Test

The Newton Y.M.C.A. is enhancing its Learn To Swim Campaign for 1970 with the inclusion of drownproofing instruction to the swimming lessons.

Drownproofing is a water survival method developed by Fred Lanoue of Georgia Tech. It has been proven effective for both non-swimmers and those who have been injured in aquatic or boating mishaps.

The human body is naturally buoyant. With a very few exceptions everybody floats. However, the most advantageous position in which to float is face down with the entire body relaxed and supported by the water. Naturally, there is a need to breathe in order to hold this restful position.

Breathing is accomplished by a slight push downward with both hands in unison accompanied by a lifting of the head so that the nose or mouth is above the water long enough to get air. The head is then returned to the water and the person relaxes until another breath is needed.

Convalescent Center Notes

The Newton Convalescent Center residents expressed their thanks last week to the participants in their St. Patrick's Day celebration. Events included the Newton High Madrigal Singers, a film of Ireland projected by Mrs. O'Connor of the Newton Free Library and refreshments served by the Junior Red Cross Workers.

Also at the Newton Convalescent Center, Miss Sandra Haller, a graduate student in Art History at Boston University presented the Wednesday Cultural Club with information on Boston Art Museums. Plans to attend the Gardner Museum later this spring are being made. The Wednesday Cultural Club meets at 2 p.m. in the recreation room and an invitation to attend has been made to Newton senior citizens.

A painting class will be organized at the Center. Water colors will be the first medium studied. It is scheduled for 2 p.m. Thursday afternoons.

'Y' Swim Team Scores Well In Eastern Tests

Recently members of the Newton Y.M.C.A. Swim Team participated in the Eastern District Y.M.C.A. Swimming Championships which were held at the Cambridge War Memorial Pool.

For Newton, events started at 6:00 P.M. Friday, March 6.

Warren Cole, diving for Class D, placed seventh. Warren, who is coached by Lynne Coffey, had an undefeated season.

Saturday preliminary events were held for Classes E, C and D. Newton swam well and had eight boys in the finals which were held on the next day.

On Sunday, March 8, the finals for District Champs began. Newton boys placed as follows: Class D—in fourth place, Glenn Melanson, eight and under, 25-yard freestyle; in fifth place, Marc Melanson, 100 yard individual medley; in third place, Doug Jasset, 100 yard freestyle; in second place, 100 yard freestyle relay. P. Hawkins, J. Hawkins, H. Silverstein and D. Jasset. Class C—in fifth place, John Boyle, 100 yard individual medley.

Glen Melanson, Doug Jasset and the freestyle relay team will go to the New England Championships held in Waterbury, Conn., on March 21, 1970.

The Newton team was coached by Mike Saltzman and Lynne Coffey.

"Beautiful," said the cat and embraced the lady seter in an old-fashioned movie clinch as the beagle watched, squirming with envy.

The above is a brief moment in a new movie called "Pound," which Robert Downey of underground movie renown "Chafed Elbows" and "Putney Swope" is making in his first truly "legit" and therefore comfortably financed film for United Artists.

Has Downey "gone establishment?" Well, this is a movie about dogs, in a way, but it won't remind you of "Lassie Come Home" or even Rin-Tin-Tin.

His success can be measured in part by his husband's helpful construction of a dark room for her; and in part by three photo-stories on a poet, on poverty-bound teenagers, and on problems of a public school which she sold during the past year to a Boston Sunday newspaper.

"Color," she says, "is a whole new world of seeing."

"But seeing in color distracts me from seeing relationships between people. In black and white, the photographer can look for symbols, he doesn't need to manipulate as with color."

An the scene quoted here, as in most of the movie, the 15 dogs and single cat are allegorical characters played by human actors, although occasionally scenes are shot with real dogs to reinforce the allegory.

All the dogs in the pound are hopeful but doubtful of adoption. They expect to die, but they don't know when. Downey says the film shows it's a dog's life, and he uses dog characteristics to make a statement about people's relations, sexual and otherwise, to each other.

A visitor to the set of "Pound" gets the impression of a mongrel movie production at work — part purebred technical competence and part underground film improvisation.

"Pound" is being shot in New York, primarily in a building in the decaying lower West Side dock section of Manhattan — a building that knew former theatrical glory as the paint shop for all Schubert Broadway productions. Now it has heating problems and plumbing disasters.

"I have no taste," the cat replied.

"Take my laundry," the cat seter said as if she hadn't heard.

Lutheran Priest Just Reluctant Millionaire

By JIM WARD

This is the country of Hans Christian Andersen but even the master spinner of fairy tales could not have bettered the story of the poor parish priest who became a reluctant millionaire.

It all began, once upon a time of course, in this little village of Tjærborg in the far west of Denmark. There in 1934 a new priest took over the Lutheran parish of Tjærborg and Senn. He was the son of a bricklayer and he had become a priest because he wanted to live among simple country people. His name was Elif Krogager.

The seasons followed each other as peacefully as he had dreamed they would until the world went to war in 1939.

After that nothing could be the same. Perhaps it was his adventurous escape from German occupation troops. While on the run he impulsively married Gorma Haraldsted, an actress also sought by the Germans, and then escaped into Sweden.

Remitted After War

His wife was caught and interned, but they were safely reunited after the war. By 1950 he was eager to travel aboard.

The question was how? His pastoral salary was low, and holiday prices were high. One day he talked it over with a local schoolteacher, Svend Aage Mathiesen, and they decided to rent a bus and run their own holiday trip. They piedged $250 for the bus rental and sold out the seating space to 70 passengers with an advertisement in the local newspaper.

"Frankly," Krogager says now, "Svend Aage and I just wanted the free trip. We acted as guides and learned our way around."

He learned a good deal more than that on subsequent trips. Today "the Tjærborg priest," as he is now known all over Denmark, heads an organization of 2,500 workers with a turnover for 1969 of $70 million.

He controls 20 jet planes and half a dozen propeller driven aircraft, 63 modern buses, hotels and restaurants in Spain and Austria, branch offices in Sweden and Norway, an insurance company, a house-building firm and sundry other industrial ventures. More than 500,000 customers left Scandinavia on vacation last year with a Tjærborg ticket in their pockets.

And yet life has scarcely changed at the rebricked vicarage where Krogager and his attractive, good-humored wife work seven days a week.

"I am," he said in an interview, "the only vicar in the country who cannot ask for an assistant. Outsiders would immediately accuse me of being too busy making money."

Mrs. Krogager smiles at that. It was not until 1966-15 years after the start of the travel firm — that her husband's financial success made the slightest difference to her way of life.

Krogager said he founded his business on the formula of low cost tours as well organized as luxury tours. "We paid everything in cash and never risked more than we could afford," he went on. "Before each big decision I consulted Gorma and her feminine instinct saved us from many an embarrassing situation."

He has gained a reputation for being a hard bargainer who plays his cards close to the vest (or vestments). He smiled at that description.

Whatever competitors might think, Krogager's parishioners see no conflict in his two lives. As an old lady of Sneed put it:

"The priest has looked after me on many a fine holiday. I'm confident he'll do the same when I close my eyes for the long trip in to eternity."

Easter Week brings out almost the same as last week, profusion on potted plants, with Spring apples heading and this week is no exception, the list. About 95 per cent of according to the Mass. Dept. the native apples on produce of Agriculture. Easter lilies, counters now are from tulips, hyacinths, azaleas and lured atmosphere storage, jinglings from nearby growers tasting fresh as the day they were picked.

McIntosh are in good supply, with prices down as low as 39 cents for a three-pound bag. Red Delicious are coming in stronger, and Cortlands for baking are available.

Native greenhouse cucumbers—fresh and unwaxed — are in slightly lower supply than last year at this time, but still available. Greenhouse lettuce is a good buy at 19-25c.

MRS. J. ROBERT NELSON

Mrs. Nelson Is Speaker Apr. 1 At Church Hall

On Wednesday evening, April 1st, the Women's Society of the Newtonville United Methodist Church will sponsor an open meeting in the church's fellowship hall. The guest speaker will be Mrs. J. Robert Nelson of Newtonville.

Mrs. Nelson has attended the Assemblies of the World Council of Churches in Sweden and in Evanston, Illinois. Last year she was with her husband in Rome where he became the first Protestant to teach in the Pontifical Gregorian University.

Mrs. Nelson is a health education specialist, having received her masters degree in Public Health from the Yale University School of Medicine. While in Rome she worked with the Food and Agriculture Organization of the United Nations.

As a world traveler with many varied experiences she has become an enthusiastic supporter of the ecumenical movement.

Her topic will be "The Gates of Rome Are Open." Refreshments will be served at 7:30 and the program will begin at 8 o'clock. All interested persons are cordially invited.

CROSS TIES
 There are about 3,000 cross ties per mile of railroad track.

6 Newtonites Elected As Officers At Beth Israel

Six men from the Newton Harvard Medical School, will speak on the current drug problem among youth and the need for educational measures to meet it. The meeting will be held in the Riesman Lecture Hall, at 8:00 p.m.

Programs of the Men's Associates will range from the staging of large events for exposition of major problems, to special projects which will afford members the opportunity both of helping the public through a variety of informational and educational

Dr. Lewis is Chairman of the Drug Treatment and Drug Education Committee of Boston's United Community Services, Advisor to the study of the Rehabilitation of Drug Dependent Persons, for the New England Governors' Conference, and a member of the Massachusetts Attorney General's Advisory Committee on Drug Abuse.

Mr. Gorfinkle announced the start of an intensive membership drive, under the direction of Mr. Sharf. He pointed out that although the Hospital's Young Executives Group was responsible for the initial work surrounding the organization of the Associates, the group would now seek to expand its membership throughout all segments of the community.

Mr. Gorfinkle lauded the efforts of Mr. Leon Margolis, Chairman of the Hospital Public Relations Committee, in stimulating organization of the Associates, and thanked Mr. Irving W. Rabb, Hospital President, and Dr. Mitchell T. Rabkin, General Director, for their guidance in developing the program.

Conduct Final Workshop For Child Learning

The last meeting of the weekly series of workshops "Let's Look At Learning Disabilities", sponsored by the Newton Association for Children With Learning Disabilities, was held last Thursday, March 19, at the Second Church, 60 Highland street, West Newton.

"Learning To Move: Moving To Learn" will provide insight into how physical education may play a vital role in helping children learn. Roger Brown, Instructor of Physical Education at the Burr Elementary School, Auburndale, presented his program for working with youngsters with learning disabilities.

"It is estimated," said George Fortune, co-president of the Newton ACDL, "that the typical classroom teacher has one or two children in his class who are destined, quite needlessly, to become educational discards unless our schools come to recognize the child with a learning disability and takes the pains to teach him properly."

Mr. Fortune went on to report that in addition to its tutoring program, Newton has one of the few transition classes in the state of Massachusetts specifically designed to help these children at an early age.

Wilma Foye, transition class teacher at Burr, discussed "Other Spheres of Influence" at this last workshop of the current series and, with Mr. Brown, presented a view of a program designed to meet the needs of the "whole child."

Mr. and Mrs. George Fortune, co-presidents of the Newton Association wish to extend an invitation to all interested parents, teachers, and other concerned professionals to contact them at their home at 41 Orchard avenue, West Newton, for any further information about these workshops or the association.

ART AUCTION ON MARCH 28th — Charles River and Hancock Chapters of CORT, with other chapters in the Central Section, will sponsor an Art Auction, Saturday evening, March 28th at 7:30 at Temple Emeth, Chestnut Hill. Chapter officers working for the success of the affair are, Mrs. Saul Lourie, seated, Newton; standing, Mrs. Fred Traub, Needham, Mrs. Arnold Ziff and Mrs. Irwin Roblin, both of Newton, and Mrs. Fred Shapiro, Needham. ### Three Appointed Notaries Public

Two residents of the Newtons have been reappointed as Notaries Public by Governor Sargent and another has been newly named to that position.

The newly appointed Notary is Hyman M. Kovner of 34 Irving St., Newton. The two reappointees are Grace E. Watson of 21 Bemuth Rd., Newton Highlands and Sidney Krafchick of 24 Deborah Rd., Newton.

Philbrick, Westwood; Mr. Daniel McElwain, Canton; Mr. Edouard DuBaron, Director of the Brockton Art Center Fuller Memorial.

The Pennies for Art painting awards will be purchased by the Federation from this exhibition and will be chosen by the winning art chairman on Sunday (April 5). These awards will be made in May at the annual meeting.

After the awards are chosen, all paintings are for sale; a percentage will go to the Pennies for Art Fund for Massachusetts High School Senior Scholarships and the remaining will go to the artist.

Last year the Division of Art was able to give $1500 in scholarships. The judges for these Pennies for Art scholarships are: Mr. John Fulgoni, Dean Junior College, Franklin; Mr. J. Cox, New England School of Art; Mr. Fletcher Adams, Vesper George School of Art; and Mr. W. Willis, Jr., Art Institute of Boston.

Lee Loumos Says:

I was listening to "Feed-Back" on channel 4 and heard a young articulate MIT student deplore the disputes between rich and poor. — I could only agree with his criticism of the system, but I wish these intelligent young men who criticize would go one step further. I wish they would tell us how, specifically, they think we should make changes to improve our society so that we can examine them and join with them in any practical and workable plan. Civilization and social intercourse has improved very little since the Golden Age of Greece and it is about time we made a giant step forward, but I don't believe that we must destroy before we build or that we can solve the problem of people, merely by pointing at the defects of the system. My basic approach would be along the old adage — "to teach people to catch fish rather than merely give them a portion of the fish we have".

once the largest and most important city in Brazil. Now it's a bedroom satellite of Recife, housing 200,000 persons, most of them poor.

Olinda is the only city of its size in Brazil that doesn't have at least one skyscraper. There has, in fact, been no new building in Olinda for decades. Many of the structures date from the 18th, 17th and even 16th century.

Except for the glare of radios and television sets and the passing of the occasional car the city itself could have stood still in time.

Founded in 1535

Olinda was founded and named in 1535 by a Portuguese called Duarte Coelho, who looked at the rolling hill jutting out into the Atlantic and exclaimed, "Olinda posso para um vilão!" That is, "Oh what a nice spot for a village!"

But the city was vulnerable to attack.

The French invaded Olinda in 1561 and British buccaneer James Lancaster sacked it in 1595. Then the Dutch came along in 1630 and burned it.

Maurice of Nassau, the future prince of Orange, took up residence there in 1637 during the long Dutch occupation of northeastern Brazil.

Now the city's favorite son is Dom Helder Camara, the Archbishop of Olinda and Recife and the leading spokesman for the liberal wing of the Roman Catholic Church in Latin America. One of Dom Helder's gestures was to give away one of the church residences in Olinda for use as an art school.

Besides being home for some of the poorest laborers, Olinda is becoming a center for artists drawn by the cheap rents and picturesque scenes. Art works instead of Africans are now sold in the city's old slave market.

Joanne Grossman of 70 Judith Rd., Newton, was joined by her parents Mr. and Mrs. Bernard R. Grossman in Cambridge for Radcliffe College's Junior Parents Weekend recently. A full schedule of events was planned for the parents including student performances, dramatic readings, choral music programs, dinners, panel discussion and a closing Sunday morning brunch in Moore hall.

Evan R. Cohen, son of Dr. and Mrs. Herbert H. Cohen and Master Councilor of the local chapter, said that the 1970 theme was chosen because "it is indicative of the growth and activities of the Newton Chapter." He stated that in addition to providing worthwhile activities for a young man, "the Order builds

Headlights and Highlights From Newton South High

By JANICE E. KAPLAN

The Student Faculty Forum is currently discussing the issue of final exams. A proposal stands before the forum to replace the exams with a review week at the end of the school year.

The Department Heads were given a chance to justify finals for their department. Alternatives to the current policy were also presented. The SFF will vote on the proposal shortly.

The question has raised much discussion and interest throughout the school. Many students and teachers in favor of the proposal explain that finals are an unfair judge of ability and detrimental to learning. Opposition to eliminating final exams is justified by noting that finals are a way to sum up and review a course as well as being beneficial to the teacher in grading.

John Holt, the well known educator and author of How Children Fail discussed the problems of the present educational system recently at Newton South.

Over three hundred fifty students and faculty members filled the cafeteria for the hour and a half discussion. John Holt began by extolling his support to the review week and eliminating final exams.

He stated that finals judge the student's ability to take tests, and they encourage the wrong motives for learning. An exam causes a student to study to pass the exam rather than for the knowledge.

Mr. Holt endorsed reform in many phases of education. He urged the students to determine the course of their lives by what they want to do and not by what society wants.

Twelve Newton South seniors have been chosen as finalists by the National Merit Scholarship Corporation. The honor was extended to Joan Aron, Bruce Cohen, Andrew Gordon, Michael Hecht, Morris Keesan, John Long, Ann Mitchell, Andrew Rosser, Eric Schwam, David Siten, David Snyder, and Becky Taub.

Semi-finalists were selected in September on the basis of scores on the National Merit Qualifying Test. To pass to the next stage of the scholarship competition the students obtained secondary school endorsement, attained high SAT scores, and completed a questionnaire.

Scholarship winners will be announced in April.

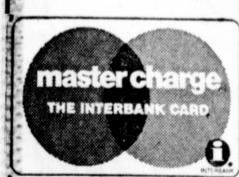

"Bye Bye Birdie" will appear on the Newton South stage on April 10. A large cast is working hard in preparation for the show. The curtain goes up at eight o'clock.

The show is a Theatre Arts undertaking. Debbie Goldberg and Bill Miller are directing the production. Leading the cast will be Kathy Faik and Paul Schaye.

"Mrs. Warren's Profession," another Theatre Arts production was a great success. The play, directed by Catherine Keller was a beautiful interpretation of the George Bernard Shaw script.

other communities have supported this activity with their sole feet, and more than 120,000 sponsors have supported the youthful hikers with their cash to an estimated total of nearly $1 million.

Participants obtain pledges from friends, neighbors, businesses and other sources, to pay the Foundation a specified amount of money for each of the 25 miles the hiker they sponsor completes. Accuracy of the mileage walked is assured through individual "Walk Cards" that are stamped and verified at three mile intervals.

The route through each community is cleared by local officials and coordinated with full support from local police departments.

The nationwide effort has received the support of President Nixon, who has said: "I congratulate you and all who work with the American Freedom From Hunger Foundation to eliminate hunger and malnutrition in this country and abroad."

Locally, the April 12 March has received endorsement from Mayor Monte G. Basbas, who will address the marchers at the opening ceremony.

In a letter seeking the support of officials of neighboring communities, Mayor Basbas said: "These young people should be commended for their concern of our fellow man and should be encouraged in their efforts to enlist the support of private agencies and local municipal and town officials."

The Hunker Hike is rapidly approaching as final plans are being formulated. The April 12 jaunt will be a twenty-five mile route beginning in Newton Centre, going through Wellesley, Weston, and back to Newton Centre.

Wall cards are being distributed so those who plan to walk can collect pledges immediately. Check points along the route will show those who pledge donations how far the person walked. Everybody is invited to walk in the Hike for the Hungry.

All of the money will be presented to four projects. They include community development projects in Kenya and India. Two United States projects will also be supported.

The Ecology Action Committee has become a very important force in Newton South. Miss Carol Bershad, the teacher advisor, has worked very actively with the group. A teach-in will be held in April. This will be followed by constructive action to help solve Newton's pollution problems.

Plans for the April symposiums are nearing completion.

Conclave-

PTAs, April 2, at Newton South High School.

"FREEDOM AND RESPONSIBILITY IN PUBLIC SCHOOLS" is the theme of the program.

Chairman of the Conference is Rev. Joseph O'Donnell, Director of Church and College Relations at Andover-Northwestern Theological, and Pres.

Day Jr. High PTA.

Panel members will be Daniel D. Levenson, general counsel of the Mass. American Civil Liberties Union; Dr. Graham B. Blaier, Jr., director, Harvard University Health Service, director in the Family Counseling Service of Cambridge and Big Brother Assoc. of Boston, and a trustee of the Hurricane Island Outward Bound School.

The third panelist will be Dr. Howard Niblock, first vice-president of the New England Association of Colleges and Secondary Schools, President of Mass. Council of Humanities, member of the Board of Overseers of Bowdoin College, where he is also a member of the Committee for Student Environment and Academic Policy.

Reactors to the three panelists will be a Newton South High School junior, Russell Phillips, honor student, president of the Sophomore class, and Coordinator of Walk for the Newton High School Chemistry teacher and assistant House Master, Stuart R. Rist will be a second Reactor. Mr. Rist is originally from Wilmington, Vermont, was a Fulbright Teaching Fellow at Izmir College in Turkey prior to assuming teaching position in Newton and has lectured in science teaching methods at Brandeis University.

The third Reactor to panel will speak as a member of the religious community in Newton - Rev. Robert L. Griess, president of the Newton Clergy Association and Minister at the Lutheran Church of Newton. Rev. Griess is originally from Alma, Missouri and has served with youth ministries in the Lutheran denomination and developed leadership training programs in that capacity.

The Conference will begin with dinner at 6:15 in the South High School dining room and the program will be held in the Auditorium commencing at 7:45. Mrs. Henry Lambert, 244-8236 or Mrs. Charles Levy, 322-3951 may be reached for further information and reservations for dinner. Dinner and registration for program and registration admissions payable at the door.

Hope-

DAY OF HOPE

Easter, 1970, comes to a stricken world where the flame of hope and promise flickers low at best and often appears to be on the verge of being extinguished at its worst.

Once again the Christian will look back to Him and to the glory of that day 2000 years ago, when — "Now on the first day of the week Mary Magdalene came to the tomb early, while it was still dark . . ."

They will sing their Hallelujahs in their small churches. They'll sing their psalms of joy in cathedrals as deep-throated organs lift the spirit of the day to the deepest reaches of those edifices.

Then there's the matter of traditional Easter feasts. For a long time ham appeared to be the main piece-de-resistance of the meal, but actually it shared its dominance with meat preferences inherited from the Old World with lamb and other standbys getting the attention. In more recent years the traditional turkey, once a roast limited mainly to Thanksgiving and Christmas, has become a big favorite.

Eggs, a prime Easter morning necessity for many more families hold a rich tradition dating back centuries. In an earlier era, this staple food was made part of the Lenten scene. They were forbidden to Christians through the entire period from Ash Wednesday to Holy Saturday. Their reappearance at the end of their ban period was another mark of the joyousness of the day.

In Catholic churches the door of an empty tabernacle will be open. Shrouds of mourning purple will cover statues. Masses will be said but with sacred hosts pre-sanctified on Holy Thursday. Sermons based on the Seven Last Words of Christ will be preached.

Holy Saturday in all churches mark the end of Lent, with the blessing of the holy water.

Among Westerners, Easter Sunday is the first Sunday after the full moon which happens upon or next after the vernal equinox; if the full moon occurs on a Sunday, Easter Day is the Sunday following.

EARLY THIS YEAR

Easter Sunday this year is "early." Under rules adopted in the 18th Century it can fall between March 22 and April 25th inclusive. It came on March in 1761 and 1818 but will not do so in any year of the 20th Century.

Many traditions are associated with the day.

One is the so-called Easter Parade which came into being only at the turn of the 20th Century when New York newspapermen hit upon the phrase to describe the wide range of fashions which made their appearance as churchgoers of wealth and importance moved homeward from their services in Fifth Avenue churches.

Today it is a feature of post-services in almost every large city and small hamlet in the United States. It even gained a measure of immortality when the great Jewish songwriter Irving Berlin produced the song which millions will be singing or humming next Sunday.

But the basis of the "parade" goes way back in the centuries to early Christians who observed the Resurrection in the finest, newest attire of their means permitted.

Stores have been crowded this week as shoppers completed the wardrobes from which they will choose their Easter clothing.

On Holy Thursday in both Catholic and Protestant Churches which term it Maundy Thursday, special services are held to observe the institution of the Eucharist. On Good Friday the concentration of many worshippers will be on the afternoon hours from noon to 3 o'clock, the traditional time of Christ's Crucifixion and death on the cross.

School Officials To Speak At Waban Women's Club

The Waban Woman's Club luncheon at the April 6th meeting.

The president, Mrs. Robert L. McWilliams, appointed a committee recently to consider a change in the time of the regular meetings for the next year due to the changes in school hours in Newton making it a hardship for mothers to attend on Monday afternoons.

John E. Gilletland, Assistant Superintendent for Business Services of the Newton Schools will talk on "Cultural Innovation-Change In and Cost of Education." He will answer the question of "why is more than 40% of the Newton tax dollar spent on education. He will also introduce some of the departmental Co-ordinators, who will discuss exciting new materials and philosophies in the education field.

The club president, Mrs. Robert L. McWilliams, will conduct the business meeting first at which Mrs. Herbert S. Morrison, chairman of the Scholarship committee, will announce the scholarship awards and introduce the recipients and their Mothers to the members.

The guest speaker, Mr. Gilletland and his Associates will be introduced by Mrs. Henry A. Lambert, Jr., chairman of the Education committee who is in charge of the afternoon's program.

The tea hour and the decorations are in the care of Mrs. Neil W. Swinton of the social committee assisted by the following pourers — Mrs. George N. Danforth, scholarship committee member, Mrs. Andrew J. Nesdale, treasurer, Mrs. Edwin L. Prien, and Mrs. Donald W. Nordbeck.

At the March 16th meeting, Mrs. Thomas S. Derr, nominating committee chairman for the year 1970-71, read the slate of officers of the club to be voted on at the Annual Luncheon Meeting on April 27th at 1 p.m. Mrs. Edward P. Boulter ticket chairman will have tickets available for the

New California Divorce Laws Get Slow Start

By JACK V. FOX

A torrent of new divorce actions forecast by some after passage of a California law authorizing dissolution of marriages simply because of "irreconcilable differences" has not come to pass.

The law went into effect Jan. 1 and there had been predictions courts would be swamped with couples to end marriages that had long been on the rocks because of the ease of doing so.

Superior Court Judge Lester E. Olsen, head of 11 Domestic Relations Courts in central Los Angeles County, says that he, for one, never expected any phenomenal rise.

Olsen says the number of petitions filed in the first two weeks of this year actually is slightly below that of the corresponding period in 1969.

He said the rate may increase once the public and attorneys become more familiar with the procedure, but he anticipates no great change even then.

Under the previous law, California divorces were granted on grounds ranging from adultery to mental cruelty. The vast majority fell in the latter category.

Now, not only are "irreconcilable differences" sufficient grounds but the only grounds for action except for incurable insanity.

Under the new "dissolution of marriage" — the word divorce is no longer used — a petitioner whose action is not contested can get a decree in a space of two minutes by answering four questions put by a judge:

1. In your petition you have asked that the court dissolve your marriage. Do you still desire to have your marriage dissolved?

2. At this time do there exist irreconcilable differences between you and your spouse?

3. Do you believe that those differences have caused an irreconcilable breakdown of your marriage?

4. Do you believe that marriage counseling, or the assistance of the Conciliation Court, or a waiting period before proceeding further could restore your marriage?

If the petition is seeking "spousal support" — no longer called alimony — a settlement also can be reached in another few minutes by answering three more questions:

Are you working at the present time? Have you worked in the past? Is there any reason why you cannot work, either part or full time?

If the court has before it an uncontested documentation of the couple's community property plus the facts on their income, their standard of living and other financial information, a speedy judgment can be made on support payment.

"What it really gets down to is the need of one party and the ability to pay of the other," Olsen said. "The other commonsense thing is the length of a marriage. If a woman is parting from her husband after putting 20 years into a marriage, she is entitled to greater consideration than one who is breaking up with a man after a year."

The only area in which personal behavior is considered is determining the custody of minor children.

The procedure is to set a separate hearing on that matter.

If a petition for dissolution of the marriage is contested, the judge may call for testimony as to the facts in dispute as to why the marriage has failed.

The judge has at his discretion to listen only so long as he feels the testimony can help him in making a decision. He need no longer listen to the parade of witnesses sputtering bitterness.

The new law does not provide any easy divorce route for couples from other states with stiff divorce laws.

It requires California residence for at least six months before filing a suit and the divorce does not become final for six months after a decree has been granted.

India has become an important movie feature producer.

Before 1860, the dry Martini had no place. Then a San Francisco bartender mixed the first Martini. A thirsty traveler, asked Jerry Thomas for something cool and refreshing, and this un-named mixture came forth: 1 dash of bitters, 2 dashes of Maraschino, 1 pony (an ounce) of Old Tom gin, 1 wineglass of vermouth, and 2 small lumps of ice, shaken thoroughly, strained into a cocktail glass and served with a quarter slice of lemon. The traveler satisfied himself, then announced he was leaving for a town called Martinez. Thomas tasted his invention and decided to name it after the traveler's destination. Thus—the Martini was born!

Major Artists, Sculptors To Show At Festival Here

The works of some 70 major New England painters and sculptures will be exhibited in the "Aries Art Festival", April 3-19, at the First Unitarian Society in West Newton.

The sponsoring committee is chaired by Arthur Hoener, who is professor of design at the Massachusetts College of Art and a former moderator of "Studio Talk" on WGBH-FM. He has organized two previous major exhibitions on New England contemporary art, both held at Northeastern University.

"The exhibition is a partial response to the need, strongly felt by many, for a significant annual exhibition on New England artists," Professor Hoener explained. "New England has an uncommonly large population of artists, but a shortage of exhibitions focusing on the works of regional artists. It has been six years, for instance, since the Boston Arts Festival was last held."

The Rev. G. Clyde Dodder, minister of the First Unitarian Society and also a member of the sponsoring committee, gives another reason for the exhibition:

"Somehow it seems appropriate that the church should return to its ancient role as facilitator to the arts. In a world experiencing as much turmoil as ours, we communicators should be drawing strength from one another."

Other members of the committee are Mrs. Arthur Hoener, Mrs. G. Clyde Dodder, Mr. and Mrs. John R. Friedman, Mr. and Mrs. Thomas G. Hagan, Mrs. Kenneth C. Matheson, Mr. and Mrs. Richard Mezger and Mr. and Mrs. Franklin M. Yoffe.

The committee is scheduling a series of musical and theatrical events to be held during the exhibition and also is arranging several gallery talks by the participating artists. Exhibition hours will be 1-8 p.m. on weekdays, and from 1-5 p.m. on Saturdays and Sundays. Admission is without charge and the exhibit will be open to the general public.

Tunnel Workers Find Secrets Of Old Aztec Nation

Subway construction workers and archeologists are in a dramatic race against time in Mexico City to unearth secrets of the proud Aztec nation, buried 459 years ago.

The clock will run out at the end of this year when excavation is expected to be completed on the last route of the Mexico City subway.

"We are in a hurry," admitted Prof. Jose Luis Lorenzo, director of the Mexican Pre - History Institute and head of the archeological operation. He explained that the reason for the rush was that archeologists are convinced this is the last opportunity for such a massive dig in this city of eight million people.

The gigantic search is attempting to shed new light on life in Tenochtitlan, the Aztec capital on which modern Mexico is built.

Tenochtitlan had 500,000 residents when it was demolished by Hernando Cortes and his conquistadores after a bloody battle on Aug. 15, 1521.

Day and night, some of Lorenzo's 20 archeologists follow the army of construction workers through the jagged subway tunnels that have been gouged across the city.

When a relic is spotted, work is halted until the experts have had a look.

A bizarre variety of objects has been recovered in the two - and a - half years since excavation started, including the 25-ton basement of a temple.

In one location, workers discovered a 12-foot mini-pyramid with pottery tucked into a compartment on top. Instead of removing the ornate rock pile, archeologists designed a station around it.

Most of the items fill storage rooms in six museums, where they are catalogued for further study. "We cannot spend time on analysis now since all our people are needed at the diggings," Lorenzo said.

At least 10 years will be needed to ascertain the significance of the finds, which also include artifacts of the Spanish colonial period and the 19th century, Lorenzo said. Research will cost about $40,000 annually.

Housing Authority Passes Several Vital Resolutions

The Newton Housing Authority has announced that, at its last regular monthly meeting, several resolutions were passed which could effect dramatically the low-income housing picture in the City of Newton.

One of the resolutions, number 362, will lower the residence requirement for eligibility under all of the Authority's housing programs to one year, that year being the one immediately prior to the time of application.

Another resolution, number 365, authorized and directed the Chairman of the Housing Authority to request that the Mayor and Board of Aldermen of the City sell to the Authority two parcels of land to be used for the construction of 20 three and four bedroom apartments.

Preliminary sketches showing these areas with the sites are original arrangements of Mrs. Seligman's.

Accompanists will be Mrs. Ralph Dephore and Mrs. Seligman. Mrs. Jack Cohen, Mrs. William Green, Mrs. Frank Greene, Mrs. Beatrice Paipert, Mrs. Theodore Nissen and Mrs. Joseph Zalcman are the soloists. Other members of the Chorale are Mrs. Samuel Adelman, Mrs. Milton Banner, Mrs. Sidney Cohen, Mrs. Irving Derdak, Mrs. Benjamin Fastov, Mrs. Aaron Golyinsky, Mrs. Myer Gootkin, Mrs. Matilda Marcus Lotow, Mrs. Sidney Saunders, Mrs. Bernard Thal, Mrs. Rose Waldman, Mrs. Henry Weisgold, Mrs. Sidney R. Yoffe.

The Chorale has sung for many men's, and women's organizations and numerous functions in Boston and surrounding communities. Funds raised are used primarily to further the musical education of musically talented children in the Youth Aliyah program in Israel. This year they have already contributed a full year's scholarship for a very talented budding musician in Israel as well as given a sizable donation to the Israel Emergency Fund.

He has performed extensively at colleges in the United States, and at many art and dance festivals. He is currently on the faculty of Boston University.

Mrs. Paul Rosenthal is chairman. The members of the committee are Mrs. Warren Wald, publicity; Mrs. Sheldon Kraut, tickets; Mrs. Marie Sliotnick, favors; Mrs. Harvey Fleischman and Mrs. Richard Steinberg, flyers; Mrs. Philip Nyman, ushers; Mrs. Gerald Michaels, entertainment; Mrs. Alan Michaelson, refreshments; and Mrs. Tom Klein, arrangements.

For reservations, please call the Temple office.

John Marold of Newton Highlands, a junior at Duke University, has been elected to membership in Tau Beta Pi, an honorary engineering fraternity. Juniors chosen for this society are considered on the basis of character, leadership, and campus service and must be in the top eighth of their class. John, who is a graduate of Rivers Country Day School, was also elected to Phi Eta Sigma honor society in his freshman year at Duke.

Murray Road School Is In Pollution Campaign

In the past five years the cars of Newton have generated enough carbon monoxide to outweigh the largest nuclear aircraft carrier ever built. Carbon monoxide is 1/800 the weight of water, and requires a concentration of only 10 parts per million to show toxic effects.

Other students plan to approach the problem on the political scene; and still others may conduct experiments with ecosystems which man has seriously upset, although his life depends on them.

One student in the course, Len Goldberg, with the cooperation of the Newton Free Library, is coordinating Newton's efforts for the Environmental Teach - In on April 22.

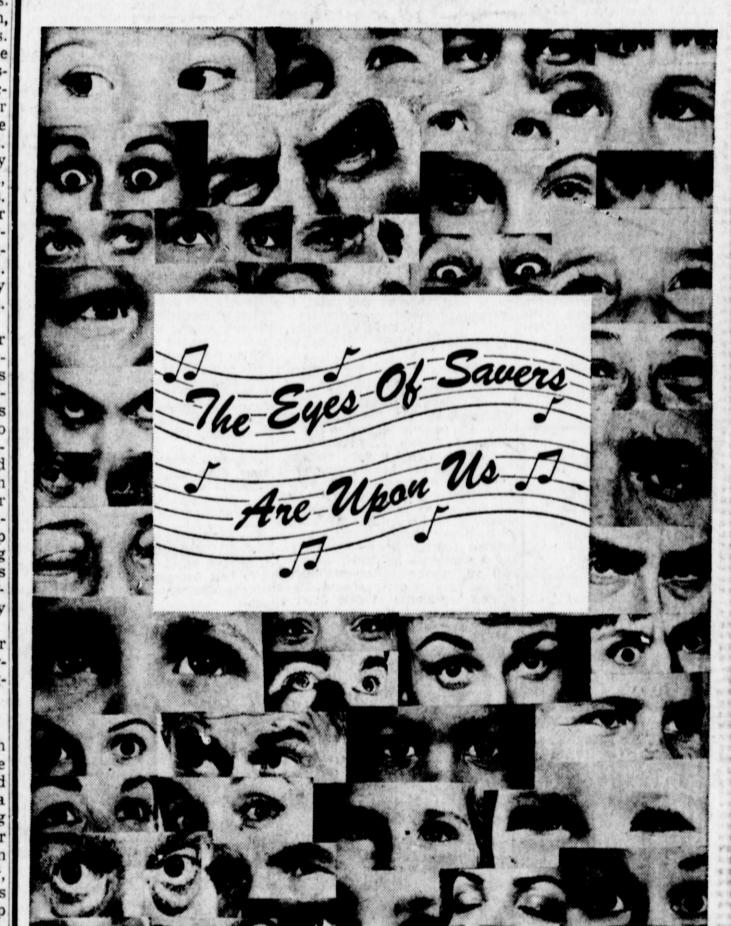

Goldberg and his committee will lead a variety of activities at library branches around the city for National Environmental Day, conceived and promoted by the American Library Association.

The course starts with pollution information gleaned from books and lectures, and continues with seminars, for instance, like the one with Dr. Albert Kooch, an audiologist and former vice president at Liberty Mutual Insurance Company in charge of noise pollution control.

Once students have accumulated the basic facts, they will move into individual projects related to the pollution problem. They may continue to study in greater depth one defined area of pollution that attracts them.

Three students from the Newton area have been named to the first semester Dean's List at Middlebury College, Middlebury, Vt. Senior Glenn A. Jarrett, son of Mrs. Julian E. Jarrett of 38 Boylston St., Chestnut Hill; junior Russell L. Platt, son of Mrs. Herbert J. Platt, 7 Larkspur Rd., Waban, and sophomore Jack D. Karte, son of Mr. and Mrs. Jack L. Karte of 410 Parker St., Newton Centre have earned this honor.

KENNETH L. WEYLER

Weyler Gets Air Officer Flight Wings

Kenneth Lewis Weyler, son of Mr. and Mrs. Michael C. Weyler, 44 Pembroke street, Newton, has been awarded the silver wings of an American Airlines flight officer after completing training at American's flight school in Fort Worth, Tex.

A native of Boston, Weyler graduated from Newton High School and in 1963 he received his B.S. degree in chemical engineering from the Massachusetts Institute of Technology.

Prior to joining American Airlines, Weyler served for six years with the United States Air Force, from 1963 to 1969, attaining the rank of captain. He was stationed with the Military Airlift Command at McChord AFB.

Weyler married, and he and his wife, Carol Ann, have two children, Elizabeth Ann, five, and Kenneth Michael, three.

The Weylers will now make their home in the New York City area where he has been based with American.

Nurses Alumnae Institute Meets Here April 4th

The annual Alumnae Institute of the Newton-Wellesley Hospital School of Nursing, to be held Saturday April 4 in Allen-Riddle Hall, will begin at 9 a.m. for registrations, and coffee will be served in the living room.

Alumnae President Miss Anne Helfer, R.N., will welcome the group at 9:30 a.m., followed by a business meeting.

Reports on the School of Nursing and Nursing Service will be given by Miss Shirley Knowland, R.N., Medical-Surgical Instructor, and Thomas Callahan, R.N., associate director of Nursing Service at NWH.

Speakers on the program include Mrs. J. R. Flather, NWH staff nurse; Professor F. Russell Sullivan, head of the Department of Philosophy at North Shore Community College in Beverly; Mr. Edwin J. Robinson, Assistant Director of NWH; and a member from Alcoholics Anonymous.

Luncheon reservations can be made with Miss Shirley Knowland. Chairman for the Alumnae Institute is Marie Zinkovich, R.N.

Discrimination To Be Subject Of Voter League

Equal opportunity in employment will be the focus of the discussion headed by Dr. Dorothy Sparrow, Chairman of the League of Women Voters of Newton Employment Committee and a Professor of Economics at Boston College to be held Thursday evening (April 2) at 8 p.m. at the home of Mrs. Bruce Fischberg, 10 Burnham road, in West Newton.

Of particular concern to the community is the impending construction of the new high school. Mayor Basbas has issued an Executive Order which would guarantee equal employment without discrimination because of race, creed, color or national origin in performance of city contracts.

The League of Women Voters supports equality of opportunity in employment and has urged Mayor Basbas in a letter last December to ensure fair employment practices. At the April 2 meeting, further developments concerning school construction will be described.

The discussion will also include government programs, the relationship of education and employment, minority workers and employment and what's happening in Boston. For further information please call Mrs. A. Arthur Lowenthal, 332-3008.

Post Changes At Newton's Blind Guild

Rev. Thomas J. Carroll, director of the Catholic Guild for All the Blind, has announced a change in the internal structure of the Newton-based agency.

Father Carroll assumed the title of director of professional policy and development, effective Monday, March 23. The Rev. Robert H. Carolan, assistant director of the Guild, has been given the temporary title of executive director.

In his announcement Father Carroll said the titles are intended "simply to reflect the internal division of duties."

Father Carroll will continue to handle his national commitments in work for blind people. The reorganization also will enable him to devote more time to professional development of the Guild.

Father Carroll joined the Guild staff in 1938 as assistant director and became director in 1946. He is active on numerous committees and is a consultant for various agencies in Massachusetts and the United States.

Father Carroll is the author of some 30 papers on blindness. He also is author of the book, Blindness - What It Is, What It Does and How to Live With It.

The Guild is located at 770 Centre St., Newton. It is engaged in rehabilitation of blind people, both young and old.

Solemn Rites For Easter At Local Church

On Maundy Thursday, a service of Holy Communion will take place at 8 p.m. The choir will sing selected chorales from a program entitled "The Road to Calvary." After each chorale a portion of the passion history of our Lord will be read by the Rev. Robert L. Griesse, pastor of the Lutheran Church of the Newtons.

Observance of Good Friday will begin with breakfast for the young at 8:00 a.m. Invitation has been extended to Resurrection Lutheran youth also. Holy Communion will be offered before the breakfast.

On Good Friday evening a Tenebrae service will be held, a service that begins in light and ends in total darkness. The service will begin at 8 p.m.

On Easter Sunday, the early service will be at 8:30 a.m., when Holy Communion will be celebrated. There will be no special music at this early service. The Easter Festival Service, with special music by the full choir, will take place at 10:30 a.m.

On the Wednesday after Easter, the elders of the church will begin the spring Religious Education Night, and the subject of study will be "Marriage Enrichment." The leader will be the Rev. Charles Mueller, marriage counselor from the Lutheran Association for Works of Mercy. He will discuss with those in attendance their program will begin at 8:00 p.m. on April 1.

Several cases of malicious damage occurred on Saturday night. The car of Angus MacLean, 116 Church street, Newton Corner, was damaged.

'Fancy That' In Larger Quarters On Anniversary

Expanding to three times their former size, Fancy That recently celebrated their 3rd Anniversary with a move to new headquarters in Newton Centre. The boutique, now located at 1207 Centre Street, specializes in modern, contemporary and traditional items in a series of attractive bathroom vignettes.

Taking advantage of increased floor space, the shop has instituted a number of customer convenience innovations, offering patrons the now-popular 'LOVE' theme and modern style.

Gunpoint Holdup Nets Jewelry, Money Loot

A Chestnut Hill home was burglarized at gunpoint Sunday (March 22) at 5:32 p.m. After tying up the owner and forcing two other occupants to lie on the floor, the burglar fled with 17 pieces of jewelry and $100 in cash.

Police reported a call from Mrs. Bess Cohen, 82 Beacon street, stating that the robbery occurred at 8:00 p.m. The occupants threw a bottle of beer through the windshield.

An Everett woman reported her car stolen from a parking lot in Auburndale. Attempts were made to steal two other cars and a camera and clothing were taken from one.

A Framingham man was due in court today on a charge of operating without a license and using a motor vehicle without authority. Driving on Washington street, Newton Lower Falls, he crashed into a parked car at number 2322 Washington street, and then struck a sign.

Police reported a large number of pocketbook thefts recently, particularly from supermarket shopping carts and from library tabletops. One was reported from the Boston College library. It contained $30.

Over the weekend, eight windows were broken at the Clafin School, 465 Lowell street, Newtonville.

Mark of Distinction To Get Books and Hisses on Campus

The telephone jangled, and the man on the other end of the line was a university official who wanted to know if we would be available to deliver a speech on politics.

The fee was satisfactory, but the date had already been committed.

"Could you arrange for me to be boohed and hissed?" we said in jest to the academician who was calling.

"I really don't think so," he replied seriously. "That sort of thing usually has to be spontaneous, you know."

"How can it be spontaneous?" we asked. "When the students begin to booh and hiss before a speaker has said anything? They shouted Hubert Humphrey out of the hall without knowing what he was going to say."

"Your request is very odd," he declared solemnly, "most unusual. I'm intrigued. Would you mind telling me why you want to be boohed and hissed?"

"I don't want to be placed in the same category with Senator Eugene McCarthy," I said. "He spoke at the University of Massachusetts at Amherst, and there wasn't a single booh or even a solitary hiss. I wouldn't want that to happen to me."

"He was talking on poetry," the professor pointed out. "You don't usually get boohed or hissed when you're making a speech on poetry."

"That's probably the only thing he's an expert on," we said, "and from what we've read he's not much of an expert on that. Besides, how did the students know that all he was going to do was recite poetry and talk about it?"

"He's a liberal," the professor countered. "Maybe that's why he didn't get boohed."

"He's such a liberal," we declared, "that he voted for Senator Russell Long when Long and Ted Kennedy were fighting it out for the position of Assistant Majority Leader in the Senate. Is that the action of a liberal who is the darling of the college student bodies?"

"Well, you certainly know," the educator said. "That McCarthy was angry with Robert Kennedy for getting into the fight for the Democratic Presidential nomination in 1968."

"That wasn't much of a reason for voting for Long," we asserted, "and many members of the Senate felt that McCarthy didn't have enough ability to be President of the United States. His actions have pretty much substantiated that opinion."

"What I really called for was to see if you could make the speech," the professor said.

"I'm sorry. I already have a commitment for that night. Some other time, perhaps."

The professor seemed displeased. "You really wouldn't have much trouble getting boohed and hissed," he said.

Probation For One Year . . .*Suspended Sentences For Newton Officers

Two Newton police officers $3,700 worth of equipment, including golf clubs, golf balls, shirts and other apparel, were stolen from the shop in an early morning break Feb. 25. Lee E. Uhler, a club employee, testified that he saw two men in police uniforms carrying articles from the shop. He said he called Thomas Kelty, the general manager.

Kelty testified that on his way to the club he saw an unoccupied police cruiser at a nearby doughnut shop and called police.

The defendants were represented by Atty. William E. Halliday and Joseph P. McParland.

The prosecution was conducted by John Mee, assistant district attorney, assisted by Newton Police Capt. John N. McMullen and Lt. William C. McNally.

Flanagan and Fitzsimmons were discharged from the police force Feb. 12 for four violations of police rules that were not directly related to the charges, according to City Solicitor Charles Morang.

Citizens For Education To Set Ward Meetings

Newton Citizens for Education invites all interested residents to attend upcoming combined ward meetings in order to participate in discussions of issues of concern to the community.

Educational questions being reviewed by the Charter Commission will be presented, and the combined ward groups will recommend positions to the General Council for NCE's stand.

Among those questions are election of School Committee members 'at-large' or by the individual Ward. Procedure for construction of public buildings and School Committee terms of office. Additional

Capt. Schell In NATO Exercise In North Europe

Captain Wayne V. Schell, son of Mr. and Mrs. Wayne Schell of 114 Elliot Ave., Newton, participated in a recent NATO training exercise in Norway.

Pilot of an F-100 Super Sabre fighter-bomber, Capt. Schell provided close air support for ground operations in the Tromsø area of Norway during the multi-national maneuver.

The cold weather exercise was primarily a testing of the air and sea deployment of NATO's Allied Command Europe mobile force and involved personnel of the United States, Canada, Britain, Italy and Norway.

Capt. Schell is a 1960 graduate of Newton High School and received his B.S. degree in 1964 from Lehigh University in Bethlehem, Pa.

He was commissioned there through the Air Force Reserve Officers Training Corps program and is a member of Lambda Chi Alpha.

Capt. Schell is married to the former Linda Karstefer of Bowie, Texas.

At these meetings, student and adult representatives of Freeport Foundation will explain the concept of Freeport and their attempts to make this a reality in Newton.

Boy Officials Take Posts In City For 'Day'

Over 40 Newton boys received a lesson in municipal government last Thursday when they "took over" the administrative functions of Newton City Hall on "National Boys Day in Government," a part of the observance of National Boys' Club Week.

Arriving at City Hall at 10:00 a.m., the boys assembled in the Aldermanic Chambers where they were extended the City's official welcome by Mayor Monte G. Basbas and "sworn in" to their respective offices by City Clerk Joseph Karlin.

Among the "officials for a day" were Thomas Forte, Mayor; William Cardarelli, President of the Board of Aldermen; Walter Gallo, Superintendent of Schools; James Gangi, City Clerk; and Michael Esposito, Chief of Police.

After the opening ceremonies, the boys were taken to City Hall's War Memorial where they were addressed by Patrolman Robert V. Braceland of the Newton Police Department on the Cadet Program, Crime Check, and other subjects dealing with Police Department activities.

A question and answer period followed. The next item on the itinerary was a tour of all the departments in the City's administration.

The head of each department addressed the youths and explained the activities and operations of his department. He also met personally with the young man who was holding his office for that day and fielded questions from the group.

The tour was followed by a mock Aldermanic meeting for the purpose of acquainting the boys with the responsibilities and powers of their legislative body.

Held in the Aldermanic Chambers, the meeting was conducted by City Clerk and Clerk of the Board of Aldermen Karlin. At noon, the meeting was adjourned and the young men left City Hall for a luncheon engagement with Boys' Club officials.

Executive Director of the

7 Churches Join In Lord's Supper Rite

The congregations of seven churches will be miss Felicia Newton, Liturgist at St. Eulalia's Church, Winchester; Brother Armand Lacourse of Weston Seminary; and Mrs. Elaine Sacco, a member of St. Jerome's Parish, Arlington. Mrs. Alice M. LeFleur will be the organist.

The service will be conducted by Bishop James K. Mathews of the Boston Area of the United Methodist Church, using the ritual of the Consultation on Church Union (COCU), of which he is chairman.

Participating in the service will be the following churches and their ministers: Church of the Messiah, Grace Episcopal, Trinity Episcopal, Centenary United Methodist, First United Methodist, United Methodist and the Newtonville United Methodist Church.

Leading the singing in some of the new hymns of the west of the Newton exit.

Meeting of GOP Executive Committee Due On April 9

The Executive Committee of thirty-seven delegates will represent Newton at the State Convention.

In announcing the Executive Meeting, Chairman Masow also reported that Donald P. Quinn of Auburndale has been appointed a member of the body as a representative from Ward Four.

All Republican City Committee Officers and Ward Chairmen are members of the Executive body.

Bacon House To Have 3 Bands At Dance On April 4

The Student Council of Bacon House will sponsor a dance to be held April 4th from 8 to 11:30 p.m. in the Newton High School gym.

Three well known bands will be featured in a battle of music between Trilogy, The London Fogge and The Regents.

Miss Terry Arsenault, council president, and John Fernandes, Norman Walker and Peter Capidilupo of the faculty, reported enthusiastic co-operation on the part of the students to make the party a success.

Arrangements will be made for the convening of all ward committees for the purpose of electing their own officers, representatives to the city-wide Nominating Committee, and for the election of delegates from each ward to attend the Republican State Convention in Boston, Saturday, June 27.

The Newton City Committee has been notified that a total
